Four Specific Reasons Why the Sales Prospect Should Buy a KERRY

1. NO SHEDDING—NO ODOR—First and foremost is the oft-told virtue of our "blue Irishman"—he does not shed a hair of his handsome coat and is completely without "doggy odors." This is a great factor when the prospect wants a house pet or companion because the kerry can lie on the best living room rug, sharing your fire with you on a cold night or accompany his master on a long trip and never a trace of hair or odor betrays his presence. Even those people allergic to dog hair can own a kerry without fear of wheezing and coughing!

2. LOVE OF LIFE AND MANKIND—Only slightly less in importance is reason No. 2—the kerry's sincere, wholehearted love of life and humanity. You cannot be around a kerry for very long without absorbing his enthusiasm for each new day—new friends to make, new fields to explore, new people to greet with the ever-wagging tail and roguish eye.

Someone once said that a kerry is dedicated to the proposition that all mankind was made to adore, and never have we owned one or been around one that refuted that statement.

3. OBEDIENT — SILENT — TRACTABLE—In spite of their vivaciousness the kerry is not a bundle of nerves, nor do they ever bark or yelp without good cause.

Their eagerness to please and high intelligence make them quick to learn and easily trained. We entered a 6 mos. male puppy in obedience work and he is outstanding in a class that contains many of the working group.

Onlookers and participants in the class ask repeatedly, "Does he ever bark?" Silence is a boon for apartment-dwellers and something that all buyers should consider—will your dog be a nuisance to your neighbors?

4. WATCHDOG — SHOWMAN — The kerry has an instinctive hunting and trailing ability and is without peer as a watchdog and destroyer of vermin, yet in the show ring he prances in such an aristocratic manner one would think he never growled at an intruder or chased a rat.—MRS. COMER D. CHRISTY, Rt. 11, Box 504, Jacksonville, Fla.

BluCOTE Kennel
'The Home of Champions'

The Redoubtable "Bemel" Kerry Blues

Owned by Mrs. P. LITTLEFIELD, Beggars Roost, Walsall Wood Road, Aldridge, Staffs.

IT is no easy task to point to the best in this ever-growing and progressive kennel, but in Bemel Calidore (now retired from shows owing to an accident to his eyes) is one of its stoutest pillars. In addition to his long list of wins, his stock reappear at the head of the prize list with consistency and include Ch. Bemel Pixies Allanagh; U.S.A. Ch. Bemel Embargo; Roxana Raincloud, C.C.; Peggy's Leg, res. C.C.; Queen of Kilkenny, C.C.; Bemel Blue Beetle, res. C.C.; Aquire Vega; Oscar Culma Musha; Dreenagh of Lisdhu; Man of Brefmar, and others. He now holds the honoured Orr Murr Stud Dog Cup.

CH. BEMEL LARRIKIN (left) and CH. BEMEL PIXIES ALLANAGH

CH. BEMEL LARRIKIN

Ch. Bemel Larrikin (two years old last March) is the other stud dog and there are those who say that he is the best Kerry ever bred. His astounding record (at time of writing) of eight consecutive challenge certificates, must be left to speak for itself. One can easily recall the bold light he put up at Birmingham City show in August, 1948, for best exhibit in show of all breeds out of some four thousand odd entries.

Naturally Mrs. Littlefield is very proud of this unbeaten dog and for which record prices have been turned down. His first two puppies shown are both first prizewinners, they are Bemel Batchelor Bean (now in France) and his litter brother, Blue Baron of Hertslet, a ch. show winner, now being tipped for high honours. Others that probably have now made an appearance are Bemel O'Flynn, B. O'Trigger and B. Osmond.

Bitches here are also a formidable lot. Ch. Bemel Pixies Allanagh (daughter of B. Calidore) must be well nigh invaluable. Winner of five C.Cs. under five judges; at Richmond in June, 1948, she went best of breed, beating her own son, B. Larrikin, the dog C.C. winner.

Bemel Blue-Beetle, another daughter of B. Calidore, holder of one res. C.C., now nursing 7 puppies by Ch. Bemel Larrikin, looks another with a certain future. Her dam is litter sister to Ch. Bemel Blithe Bandit and Cont. Ch. Bemel Boy Blue, again something to ponder over in breeding. Bemel Bridget Mavourneen is still to be shown, but few doubts exist as to her capabilities in the ring, and as dam of the aforementioned trio Bemel O'Trigger, Bemel O'Flynn and Bemel Osmond, Mrs. Littlefield owns yet another grand dual purpose bitch.

The stud fees (5 gns. and 6 gns.) are good business and any transaction with this sporting owner may be taken as bona fide.

THE above prefix which is comparatively new in the Kerry world, made its presence felt in 1947 and 1948 at members', sanction, open and championship shows both in Ireland and at home, the two outstanding members of the kennel are the bitch Ch. Lednura Bach by Tailteann Sonata ex Tailteann Merry Meeting, born 12th May 1944, and the stud dog Carrona Blue Prince ex Ch. Buncrana Benison, Ch. Carrona Expectation, born 21st August 1945. It is quite possible that this dog will have qualified by the time the ANNUAL is out. He has two Challenge Certificates and four reserve Challenge Certificates.

Another member of the kennel not so well known as the previous two mentioned is Roeside Relinda by Torka Hill Boy and Strangford Lady. This beautifully made bitch will without a doubt throw some wonderful puppies. 1949 will see a larger number of puppies by Carrona Blue Prince in the show ring, and those I have seen to date look like following in their sire's footsteps. He is at stud to approved bitches, fee £5 5s.

All inquiries to owner Mr. S. E. Bache, Mayfair Restaurant, Nevill Street, Southport, Lancs. Tel. Southport 25191.

THE review of this Terrier kennel must, owing to space, be confined to a commentary on the Kerry Blues, for it is in this very popular breed that the year's activities have been chiefly concerned. This modest establishment is restricted to just a few that can and do rank with the elite of the breed.

That this is no mere display of words is exemplified in that most recent of Champions, Ch. Grandee of Gandria owned by Miss H. Finch and Mr. F. F. Thomas, who, for real Kerry type, style, bone, body, and substance, must be very near the top. His final qualifying certificate at Leicester put the seal on one of the soundest quality dogs of his breed and generation, whilst his head, eye, ear, and expression make striking appeal. His fee is £5 5s.

Of the bitches, Downsview Dramatic (reserve C.C. winner) looks very attractive and this daughter of Underbridge United ex Ch. Downsview Drama, warrants a quiet confidence in her future.

Downsview Duchess by Kramwen King ex Downsview Delyse is another bitch well up to the grade, whilst another lovely brace of bitches in Finmere Merriebelle and Enchantress both by Bemel Calidore, and in the nomination of Mrs. Finch and Miss Irene respectively.

Certainly a grand team of bitches that can hardly fail to maintain and cement the strength of the Wulfredas.

—A.D.

A THUNDERBOLT

Bill Fox must have peered deeply into his crystal ball when he gave the name of Foxhill's Thunderbolt, to the young son of Ch. Deeds Show Off and Ch. Foxhill's Rackety Kilta, for this youngster has indeed precipitated no end of admiring comment from Coast to Coast as he rang up victory after victory.

His 1949 record thus far began with the Napa Sanction Match where he was Best Terrier. In quick succession came wins at Ventura, Los Angeles, Santa Cruz and Beverly-Riviera, totaling ten points and a group second.

Bill then took him East to Morris and Essex and Plainfield where he was Reserve at each show. At the Dedham, Mass. Show he was Best of Winners and added another three points. The following day, at the New England Kerry Blue Club Specialty he proved himself by going from Open Dogs to Best of Breed over an imposing group of Champions. This win carried three points. He also placed fourth in the Terrier Group. The following weekend found him Best of Winners at Greenwich, Conn., and the next day at the Long Shore Kennel Club he was Best of Breed and fourth in the Group. Thus in only two months we find him picking up eighteen points. This is a grand record for a youngster against the toughest competition.

Fanciers in the East have used Thunderbolt freely at stud and have told Bill they like him best of any Kerry since his granddam, the great Ch. Rackety Packety Killmenskeg. In Bill's opinion Thunderbolt is the best Kerry, Foxhill has ever owned—and they have owned many great ones. The new Champion is remaining in the East for the coming shows.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Fox!

Ch. Gulf Raider

H. H. Hardcastle, Dog Fancier, Dies

SCITUATE, Dec. 3—A funeral mass will be celebrated at 9 A.M. Monday in St. Anthony's Church, Cohasset for Harry H. Hardcastle, 67, well-known dog fancier who died today at Cohasset Hospital. His home was on Ann Vinal road in the Egypt section here.

Proprietor of the Birchwood Kennels for the past 10 years, he was an importer of terriers and other show dogs and breeder of many champions.

He was secretary-treasurer of the New England Fox Terrier Club and a member of the Professional Dog Handlers Association, the Framingham Kennel Club and the Scottish Terrier Club of New England. He was a board member of the South Shore Kennel Club.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary O'Brien Hardcastle, and a daughter, Miss Dorothy Newcastle.

[illegible] the Kerry Club gave a steak barbecue at the Glendale home of the James Smiths'. Dinner and dancing made 40 guests happy, with the $50 surplus overjoying the club treasury.

If when you are combing the whiskers of a two or three month old puppy it yelps as you hold its muzzle, you should check the position of the lower eyeteeth. Occasionally you will find the teeth point inward just enough to hit the jaw, making a sore place. Your veterinarian can file off about one-third of the tooth to relieve this. Filing is best, but some use a rounded claw cutter. When the permanent teeth start to come in, a few firm pulls toward the outside of the mouth, three times a day for a week, will bring in the new tooth in the right position.

Kennel-Owner Mr. Edward E. Loebe, Glencoe, Ill., says, "Armour and Company has solved all the problems for owners of new dogs with this one book. It tells just what they need to know to start young dogs off right. That's why I give a copy of it with each puppy I sell!"

Preparing the Kerry for the Show Ring

Preparation of the kerry should start well in advance of the show date from four to six weeks depending on the condition of the coat. Some coats condition more readily than others.

The kerry's coat should be well brushed and combed free of all snarls and mats. To do this, use a wire slicker, brushing the tips of the coat against the lay of the coat. This is done again and again penetrating, deeper each time to free the coat.

At the same time the leg hair is handled the same way, brushing against the lay of the leg coat. After this is done, a medium long tooth comb is used to comb their hair back into place. If the brushing has been done properly, the comb will go through the coat without effort.

In bathing the kerry, which should be done a day or two prior to the show, a spray should be used rather than just filling the tub so that the dirt is continuously washed out.

The secret of washing a kerry is in the rinsing.

Make sure that all soap has been rinsed out of the coat. A vinegar rinse assures that the soap will be cut out. When the kerry is almost dry, start combing again and keep combing until the coat is dry. This helps put the desired wave in the coat.

Now that the dog is thoroughly combed and dry, we are ready to start trimming. The end result is to have balance and symmetry and a mental picture of how you wish the dog to appear should be constantly kept in mind.

A clipper should be used on the head, ears, and throat. After the back skull has been done with the clippers, the whiskers should be combed forward.

The eye expression is now cut with a scissor from the outside corner of the eye to the tip of the nose.

Still using the scissors, the neck should be run well into the shoulders; the backline should be cut level and the body rounded to accentuate the spring of ribs and depth of brisket.

The quarters should be trimmed neatly to accentuate the bend of stifle and the freeness of movement. The front legs should be kept full but neat and smooth.

The tail should be trimmed leaving approximately ¼ to ½ inch of hair on it.

The kerry is now ready to be taken into the ring.—DOUG McCLAIN, professional handler, P. O. Box 136, Libertyville, Ill.

This noted breeder and exhibitor from Oakland, California, will judge the United States Kerry Blue Club specialty show, New York City, February 10th. "Bill" has been one of the governors of the club since its inception. Foxhills Kennels have been registered with the A.K.C. almost 16 years. Foxhills have bred 27 champion Kerries, 11 of which were sold and acquired their championships after sale. Foxhills have owned 29 champions, 16 of which were bred in their own kennels, and six champions made after purchase, a record never made before in the breed and identifies Mr. Fox as one of the worlds' leading breeders of Kerry Blues and a recognized authority.

Four Specific Reasons Why the Sales Prospect Should Buy a KERRY BLUE TERRIER

1. If anyone wishes to acquire a dog, and has the knowledge, temperament, time and facilities to care for him properly, I advise him to buy a kerry. For his high intelligence, and enthusiastic delight in any kind of training—obedience trials, herding, hunting. As an "Oldtimer" breeder of bird dogs wrote me, many years ago when he added kerry blues to his Kennel—"They love to learn. Give them a chance, and they can out-retrieve retrievers, out-point pointers, and out-set setters."

2. For his disposition. Always interesting. Firey, temperamental, and completely and eternally loyal.

3. For his beauty and style. He's always alert and proud of himself. The attractive color, texture and sheen of a top kerry's coat when he is in show shape is difficult to equal in any breed.

4. For his size and sturdiness. He's small enough to be a convenient companion in the house or in the car. He's healthy, and has a high resistance to many dog ailments. He's strong enough and big enough to be an adequate guard for your property, your children, or yourself.—MRS CYRUS B. MORE, Escondido K's, B1286, Santa Fe, N. M.

A VERY SMART POODLE!

Incidentally, we have a poodle that will when necessary, reach behind old copies of DW to get her ball, when it is thrown behind magazines in the bookcase—whether by intent or design. She has been known in fact to stare intently at the dogs on the DW cover for a moment and then gently lift the magazines out of the bookcase, to make room for removing the ball.—MRS. JOHN A. KALBACH, c/o Ruthrauff & Ryan, 1505 Northern Life Tower, Seattle 1, W'n.

MAKE IT "NATURAL"

The pedagogical idea in all this is to permit nature to be the teacher; therefore, regularity—regular feedings, regular walks at regular times over regular courses are the best aids to your teaching efforts. Dogs really should associate outdoors and walks with a pleasurable doing of their duty.

If he has committed the crime, perhaps upon your best rug, and he stands there with no remorse in his soul and only a grin on his face, save your temper unless the evidence of the deed is fresh, for a puppy has a memory about thirty seconds long.

It is always preferable to catch him just the moment before he thinks he is going to relieve himself in the house. That instant of detective work on your part must be taken advantage of, a horrible shout emitted, and the culprit hurried outdoors.

THE THREE KERRIES I MOST WOULD LIKE TO OWN

CH. MICHAEL OF SOMERSET because of his typical Kerry outlook, showmanship, coat and color and his ability to pass on to his sons and daughters these fine qualities. . . .

CH. ERINBLU'S BREEZY LADY who is winning best of breeds and group placings for Wa-Kerry because of her superb style and personality.

TOPPER OF BELCREST (sire of both my No. 1 and No. 2 kerries) because he has proven himself to be a great stud dog and what more reason would one want?

It is very difficult to pick just three kerries. There are a great many fine dogs and bitches being shown today that any one should be proud to have bred or own, and justly so. My choice tho, for the above, is that I have been able to observe several generations of the "get". The younger dogs have still to prove themselves as consistent as these but time may show them to be even greater.—MRS. W. G. ALLEN, Wa-Kerry, Paoli, Pa.

CH. KERRY PROVES HERO

The Committee on Awards has issued Dog World's Award of Merit to Ch. Puddyachack Pinafore, Kerry owned by Miss Thelma L. Taylor, 326 W. 7th St., Owensboro, Ky. for the following outstanding act:

One early morning in Jan. '49, Miss Taylor was aroused from her sleep by Paddy's restless behavior. The dog led her to another bedroom where three members of the family were soundly sleeping. Upon opening the door, Miss Taylor found the air thick with smoke —a fire having originated in a bed, burning thru the mattress, the rugs, and nearly reaching the draperies. It would have been but a few minutes until the fire would have been out of control.

Miss Taylor states—"I believe Paddy prevented a real catastrophe and shall always feel that her loyalty and intelligence deserve our eternal gratitude."

Owing to the death of Mr. Baker, it is necessary to close out our Orr-Murr Kerry Kennels after these many years.

5 Greater Boston Women High Place in Insurance

doors to brilliant success. They know that top-notch women in the game, right here in Boston, have garnered as much as $40,000 a year.

This article is a glance at five insurance women—two high executives, one super-sales agent and two junior executives. Each has competed with men and come off with flying colors. Each proves that she has no place on a classic frieze when it comes to running a marathon in the business world.

One of the most remarkable executives in the whole field has often been referred to as "the fabulous Corinne Loomis." Now chief of the women's division sales force of John Hancock's Boston General Agency, and associate general agent as well, Miss Loomis has influenced all kinds of people to buy as much as $800,000 worth of life insurance in a single year. She has a wonderful knack of selling, coupled with enormous energy, vision and love for her work.

DESIRE TO ACHIEVE

You can easily imagine Corinne Loomis as the charming hostess of some vast estate where notables are entertained all the time. Perhaps in England. She is tweedy, with a county family complexion indicating outdoor life, wears expensive costume jewelry and rare rings, likes dogs and has an easy humorous manner which can, however, become as taut as an anchor line in a business deal.

"The desire to achieve is all-important in this business, and that includes the joy of service," says Miss Loomis." "You must have the courage to go in on your own in the life insurance branch—there is no salary, only commission. You finance yourself. I got into this because I wanted to earn money and I knew that in life insurance there is no ceiling on the compensation. If you have a feeling for it, it's up to you."

Actually, Miss Loomis started work as a teacher of physics after having graduated from Mt. Holyoke. She's the sort who could turn her hand at anything. Then she sold textbooks. Then she turned logically to insurance. Now, busy training other saleswomen, directing their work, editing a company magazine and writing for a Western trade publication, she still finds time to sell. Her clients number more men than women. Because of lack of time, her average policy is a large one.

With a sigh composed of relief and satisfaction over a job well done, Miss Loomis recently relinquished presidency of Altrusa International, a woman's service club with 9000 members in various countries. She revised eligibility classifications, organized a new directory, visited hosts of clubs which hailed her as a great inspiration and, through her love of detail, watched a club in a small Washington town put through some mammoth youth projects. She is on the membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce in Boston. She will make things hum.

"I don't like to say I'm a success, because that indicates a person on the skids," she says humorously. "I was brought up to pull my own weight in the world and I've tried to do so. Insurance is the most fascinating thing that ever was."

For the past few weeks four enthusiastic Kerry fanciers have been busy organizing the Southeastern Kerry Blue Terrier Club. Already they have lined up prospective members in Georgia, Florida, and Alabama. Never were any men more anxious to further a breed than Messrs. E. B. Elliot, Jr., George Less, Pem Taylor, Sr. and myself.

Mr. Elliot of Birmingham, Ala., is the proud owner of Sun Hill Blutopper (Ch. Sun Hill Skipper ex Ch. Sun Hill Irish Lady). Last spring Blutopper went B.B. in Columbus and Chattanooga and B. of Opp. Sex over stiff competition in Birmingham.

Sun Hill Kennels, which bred Blutopper, has been owned and operated by George Less since the death of his father, Alfred. George is the father and leading breeder of Kerries in the Southeast. His Columbus, Ga., kennels have seen an array of champions including Blue Baron II, Kenmare Marney, Sun Hill Skipper and Sun Hill Irish Lady. Less' pride and joy, Skipper (W. M. Kerry Spec. '47), has already sired some excellent pups including Sun Hill Honey and Sun Hill Tornado.

TRIMMING THE KERRY

Mr. Creaney first went over the body coat with a regular thinning shears, the same kind that the barbers use.

He then trimmed the entire dog with hair-cutting scissors, being careful not to cut deeply into the coat.

The head, neck and ears were trimmed with coarse hair clippers. The neck and shoulders were worked in with a trimming knife.

The long setter-like furnishings on forelegs were shortened, which made the legs round in appearance.

The results of these effects were wonderful and after the trimming was finished, the dogs were very easy to comb. Since the show I have followed the same method personally with equally satisfactory results. — T. J. Chapman.

"EVEN" KERRIES

When I was in England I was told by Miss Toft of the Chevin K's that, over a period of years she had eliminated from her bloodlines all bad-doers, all unreasonably snappish dogs, and all that showed, in any form, nervous instability. Having owned several Kerries imported from her kennels I can certify to the soundness of temperament of the Chevin stock.

I hope her example will be repeated by most responsible breeders in the United States. Certainly we do not wish to eliminate true gameness—indispensable to any good terrier—but certainly, too, we want Kerry Blues that can and do adjust themselves creditably to the various kinds of life an average dog must live.—William L. Day.

6,000 FOR $1

That is the cost of advertising in Dog World—the lowest cost in any dog magazine even tho you pay only $2 an inch in some other dog publication. No other dog publication anywhere gives you as much paid circulation per dollar for advertising.

One inch breed advertising on yearly contract in Dog World costs $8 per inch. Thus the advertiser pays only $1 for approximately 6,000 readers per inch per issue.

Presenting herewith an unusual list of new and renewed yearly contracts, signed in advance, beginning this issue.

Duckwing Cocker K's of Pa. start their 217th consecutive issue of advertising, namely, the 19th year. Thanks, Mr. Miller.

But the Caswell wires of Toledo are only 4 years behind—15 years.

Lucky 13 includes 2 cocker kennels—Rocky Point K's in Okla. and that of Carl Littlejohn in Ill. Another 13 year advertiser is the Irter Club of Am. (its pres. Marcus Boyd, died recently).

Zeckendorf airedales in Conn. begin the 11th year followed by Jack Cooper's Aragon setters for the 10th year, and out Calif. way the White Gables dachs also.

We are overlooking some of our food advertisers. Vitality Mills of Chicago begins its 12th year and Valley City Milling Co. up in Mich., its 9th year.

Kettles Boxers (remember their Warlord taking BiS at Westminster?) are starting their 8th year.

"Lucky 7" is a large class—the Clifford Jackson cockers in Tex.; Gipsy Barn longhaired dachs in Ill.; Dr. & Mrs. McInnes scotties in S. Car.; Mrs. Nathan Wise' pekes in Ohio; plus Gladys Titcomb's kerries in R. I.

Beginning their 61st consecutive issue are—the Black Beauty K's, Belgian sheepdogs in Ind.; Tom Freeman's boxers in Mo.; more boxers—Mrs. G. W. Russell of N. Y. and Mrs. H. C. Stewart of Tex. The Sharp cockers in Ohio and Mac R scotties of N. H.

5 years—Langdon L. Skarda's shepherds in N. M. and Carcrest bostons in Kans.

THANKS TO ALL you folks and to the 31 starting their 1st to 4th year, as listed hereinafter. We will work "with" you in the changing year ahead to give you the sales you anticipate. We join with National Dog Week in keeping dogs and their merits before the public. We will keep you and all our readers advised on the latest developments in care, handling, selling of dogs.

Advertising in Dog World is a "two-way street" and therefore we will help you in every way we can to make the coming 12 months your best year in business.—O. DAKAN, Advertising Manager.

Foxhill's Reveler with Johnny Long has completed his Canadian championship and taken two groups at Vancouver and Eugene. In California Ch. Foxhill's Marauder with Ben Brown won the group at San Mateo, while in the East Ch. Foxhill's Thunderbolt with Ed Sayres won the group at Fitchburg and Providence. Ben Watson, breeder of Ch. Packety Kilmenskeg, foundation bitch of Foxhills, and famous Best-in-Show winner, is re-establishing his kennel with the purchase of Foxhill's Valerie, whose breeding carries "Pidge" four times in recent generations.

Suspect Man Peeping Tom, Victim Beating

Three Taunton young men took justice into their own hands and administered a beating with monkey-wrenches to John Sullivan, 33 Coburn street, who they thought was a Peeping Tom, in D. W. Field Park early this morning.

Sullivan had 12 stitches taken in six lacerations about the head and was treated also for numerous bruises at the Brockton Hospital following the alleged beating.

After lengthy questioning at police headquarters by Sgt. Cronin, the trio was booked by Special Officer Charles Blakeney on charges of assault and battery. Included were: John Muniz, 105 Plain street; Raymond D. Rose, 179 School street; Joseph Silvia, 33 Wilber street, all of Taunton.

Sullivan, a special police officer and a former salesman for the Quigley Shoe Co., told Sgt. Cronin that he was looking for his girl friend. He said he thought he saw her in a car in Field Park and followed in his auto until it parked, then got out and looked in the windows of the other vehicle to make sure.

NEW ADDRESS for famous monthly

THE KENNEL CRIER September, 1949

CH. DEIDRE O'KER-WEL-AIRE, Kerry Blue bred by Blucote Kennels and owned by Dr. L. de la Carrera of Santiago, Chile, South America.

Great Day.

Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb of the Blucote Kennels has shipped Champion Bluecote Deidre, a Kerry blue terrier of her breeding, to Dr. L. de la Carrera of Santiago, Chile.
The annual show of the Somerset Hills Kennel Club for the

I hear from the east that several top Kerries passed on this summer. Kilroy, Topper, Bemel Embargo, and Hilarious were on the list. The heat was a contributing factor in most cases.

Bill Fox's Ch. Fox Hill's Thunderbolt was best of breed at the Westchester, New York specialty of the national Kerry Club with 51 Kerries entered.

Gladys Titcomb's Blucote Kennel has shipped Ch. Blucote Deirdre, a Topper-Hilarious daughter, to Dr. L. de la Carrera, founder of the Chilian Kennel Club, in Santiago.
Labor Day weekend the K

Mrs. Gladys Titcomb of South Easton, Mass., has shipped a good Kerry to Chile. Her Ch. Blucote Deidre of Ker-Wel-Aire went by plane to Dr. L. de la Carrera, of Santiago, Chile. Dr. de la Carrera is founder of the Chilean Kennel Club and plans to show Deidre in Chile, Peru and Argentina. She will be used as a foundation bitch in introducing the breed to Chileans.

Champion Kerry Blue Terrier Bound For South America

The twice Best in Show bitch, Champion Deirdre O'Ker-Wel-Aire, Kerry Blue Terrier owned by Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb, has just been shipped to Chile, South America. She is going to Dr. L. de la Carrera Huerfanos, 930 Santiago, Chile, formerly of Boston and now a very well-known and popular medical man in Chile. Dr. Huerfanos is also founder of the Chilean Kennel Club, and is going to start the breed in South America.

Deirdre will be interviewed by the newspapers when she arrives, and there will be representatives from Chile, Argentina and Peru. The doctor will show her in each of these countries and wherever other shows are held.

Derry is out of Ch. Hilarious of Gayterry, and is a litter sister to Ch. Blucote Crest of the Wave, both of which are also owned by Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb. She was brought out last June, and won the New England Kerry Blue Show and placed second in the Group to Ch. Deephaven Redseal, under A. A. le Pine, who predicted great things for her. She finished her title at Montgomery with a Best in Show under Stanley J. Halle, defeating Ch. Deephaven Redseal, who was runner up to her. Mrs. Titcomb has bred seven champions to date in her small kennel. This is a very fine record.

The New England Dog

We read that Gladys Titcomb has sold her Ch. Blucote Deirdre o' Ker-wel-aire to a fancier in Santiago, Chile, and she will be shown throughout South America. Ch. Deirdre was Mrs. Titcomb's first best in show winner (we're sure there will be others); an excellent specimen herself, her bloodlines should be very useful in producing good Kerries for our good neighbors to the south.

Champion Blucote Deirdre Kerry blue terrier owned by Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb of the Blucote Kennels, has been loaned to Dr. M. de la Carrera, founder of the Chili Kennel Club, one of the leading clubs in South America.

I also wish to record that Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb has loaned a bitch for breeding purposes in Chile. A Dr. Carerra has obtained the bitch from her temporarily and he hopes to start a Kerry kennel in Chile. This is the first Kerry to be exported to Chile that I know of.

Noticing the preachment in last month's GAZETTE about exporting dogs I might add that Kerry folk have recently sent to South America with conspicuous success. Mrs. Titcomb's Ch. Bluecote Deidre went second best in show (whatever that is) in Chile for which a silver medal was forwarded to Mrs. Titcomb by Dr. de la Correna. Both the Lilienthals and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cypress (Ditton Priors Kennels) have also sent dogs to South America with marked success. One good thing about the Kerry is that the breed thrives anywhere from the equator to the Arctic.

KERRY BLUE

KERRY EARS

The commonest fault right now is too high an ear-set. Owners and handlers should be more careful about this. The standard reads:

"Ears—Small to medium size, of moderate thickness, carried forward close to cheeks."

Ears that comply with the "close to cheek" qualification are set not more than a fraction of an inch above the top-line of the head. Sticking-up ears are really wrong, and should not be encouraged.

Other common faults are the "dead meat" or hound ear, the "rose" or Greyhound ear, tulip ears and, even worse prick ears.—GEO. D. PROCTOR.

A COMPARISON OF THE OLD AND NEW KERRY STANDARDS

The new kerry standard was published p. 116, Mar. DW. At the time the Editor of DW made some comparisons between the old and new standards. Several readers have askt about such changes and so we reprint the article:

The new standard is about twice as long as the old one.

Snipey Muzzles Not Wanted

The new head must not be exaggerated. The implication is that heads, particularly muzzles, have been getting too long. The standard implies a heavier and shorter muzzle.

If anything, preference is to be given to narrow rather than extra-wide skulls.

Beware of Big Coarse Ears

The standard now specifically states that the ears must be V-shaped and small. In short, the standard reads: "ears small and of medium size." Presumably the preference is for small ears, carried high and forward.

The standard is a bit wobbly in the matter of fore-face. It wants a full fore-face, falling away below the eyes and yet it wants a fore-face moderately chiseled out to avoid wedginess.

In brief, the jaws, which make up much of the fore-face, should not run flush with the eyes but should fall away noticeably before the eyes.

Getting Away from Big Eyes

In eyes as in ears, the new standard definitely implies that smallness is to be preferred. The old standard reads: "eyes small to medium size." The new standard states: "eyes small, not prominent."

The darker the eye the better; any eye showing a tinge of yellow is a fault.

Bullneck Kerries are Penalized

The new standard gives a little better statement on the neck than did the old one. It should be "moderately long;" this puts a penalty on the short-necked kerries now seen in the show ring.

No more wide-chested kerries for the new standard especially asks for a deep chest "of but moderate breadth."

More Daylite Under Kerries

There is nothing particularly changed in the matter of legs except that the new standard states that they should be of goodly length—more than just long enuf to reach the ground. They remain heavy boned.

However, there is a tendency toward foxterrier fronts for the new standard asks for short pasterns hardly noticeable.

Round and Thick Feet

Feet now must not be big altho they must be round; they must be thick, "good depth of pad." Toe nails remain black.

The new standard definitely eliminates a sloping backline as it calls for a level back.

Further, it carries the implication concerning narrower chests for our kerries of the future will be flat-chested rather than barrel chested. The new standard calls for ribs fairly well sprung, deep rather than round.

Demand a Short, Cobby Dog—
Rangy Kerries Taboo

Evidently the entire dog is to be very compact for the back is to be short, there is to be no suggestion of slackness, the loin is to be short, and the tuck-up slight.

The new requirements on hindquarters is a bit compromising. A superficial reading of the new standard would call almost for a straight hindquarter. It seeks for freedom from "droop or crouch." However, it also demands long thighs and well-bent stifles whereas the old standard called for stifles moderately bent.

Here is where not a few kerries will be found failing. There has been a tendency toward light stifles and little curve of stifles.

The new standard wants heavy hindquarters, the dog standing well up on them and plenty of arc or curvature insofar as the side toward the loin is concerned.

"Saddled" the Color Question

The old standard had about 6 lines

on color; the new standard, 22 lines. It can be said that the framers of the standard straddled the color question.

Solid black is an absolute disqualification except that the old standard did not make it a disqualification until after eighteen months. This is a desirable change.

However, black (and that means jet black) is allowable on the muzzle, head, ears and feet AT ANY AGE.

Shades of brown and shades of blue darker than deep slate are permissible without any penalty up to 18 months. After 18 months, any substantial markings of these are not a disqualification but bring a severe penalty.

In other words, the new standard will permit us to have brown-spotted kerries at any age.

The new standard specifically calls for a severe penalty for a hard or wire coat.

Short-legged kerries are looked upon with disfavor. The new standard in several places definitely infers that it wants kerries well up in the leg. The new standard states: "a low-slung kerry is not typical."

Bigger Kerries are Required

The proper size of the kerry gets considerable attention. Keeping up the trend for longer legs, the new standard raises the height from 18 inches to 18½ inches.

In fact the standard makes mention of good kerries up to 20 inches. Extreme height or above 20 in. is a fault. The variance is from 17½ inches to 20 inches with 18½ inches the ideal. Bitches ½ inch less. Minimum limits, of course, do not apply to puppies.

Weight Increased 2 Lbs.

The clear conclusion is that the trend in height is up in kerries. Further, the desirable maximum weight in males has been increased from 38 to 40 lbs.

Heavier, cobbier, higher, shorter-coupled kerries, without wide bodies, appears to be the basic idea in the new standard.—WILL JUDY, Editor of Dog World.

"Deirdre"

Deirdre came back home may 21-1953, with career-dad June 1953

El perro más caro llegado a Chile

Por el "Maipo", de la Sud Americana, llegó ayer a Valparaíso un hermoso ejemplar canino de la raza Kerry Blue, enviado por Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb, de la ciudad de South Easton, Mass, al doctor Luis de la Carrera, de Santiago, fundador del Kennel Club de Chile, y como un reconocimiento a la labor de este caballero por el fomento de los perros de raza.

El criadero de Mrs. Titcomb, Bincote, es uno de los más famosos del mundo.

La perra enviada al doctor de la Carrera se llama T. Deirdre of ker-Wel-air y fué adquirida como cachorro por unos millonarios de Chicago en la suma de 1.000 dólares, para ser readquirida por Mrs. Titcomb para enviarla a Chile y fomentar esta raza. Deirdre tiene tres años de edad y ha sido seis veces "campeón" y el "mejor perro" de varias exposiciones en Madison Square, Essex, Los Angeles, Chicago, Montgomery, etc.

Es de hacer notar que este ejemplar canino venía asegurado en la suma de 20.000 dólares, y tanto la tripulación como oficialidad del "Maipo" la designaron "mascota" del buque. Deirdre dormía en la cámara del primer oficial, capitán don Guillermo Brown Izaguirre, quien se manifestó muy contento de las buenas condiciones marineras de su pasajera.

En estos tiempos, cuando una epidemia de hidrofobia azota Valparaíso, es de notar que los perros en EE. UU. llevan, por ley, una placa con el número de la vacunación antirrábica y también del distemper. Hemos visto estas placas en Deirdre, y creemos que sería tiempo de hacer lo mismo en Chile para evitar mayores males.

En febrero será exhibida en la exposición anual del Kennel Club de Viña, y también en Buenos Aires en octubre próximo.

a comerlas. No sufrió ni un rasguño. Es posible que el Zoológico de Santiago adquiera este animalito, de color canela y que se alimenta de verduras y almendras. Los visitantes extranjeros siempre se asombran que el Jardín Zoológico no tenga un huemul, animal característico de Chile, pese a su escasez.

LLEGO UN GRAN SEÑOR PERRO: VALE 160 MIL PESOS

EN LA AVENIDA Las Violetas 2155 fijó su residencia "Deirdre of Kel.wel-aire-Blucote", nacido en Dublín, 3 años, soltero, perteneciente a la linajuda familia irlandesa de Cannes "Kerry Blue", cuyo origen se remonta a los tiempos del Rey Erin, y que simboliza la recia personalidad de Irlanda. Hace una semana, el doctor Luis de la Carrera (fundador del Kennel Club, Club de la Unión perruno que agrupa a 200 dueños de perros), recibió en el vapor "Maipo", a este singular huésped, que le envió de obsequio la multimillonaria norteamericana Gladys Titcomb (de la aristocrática Boston). El perro viajó con una póliza de seguro de 2 mil dólares (160 mil pesos), su valor real, y, para guardarle las atenciones necesarias a su rango, alojó a bordo en el camarote del primer oficial, capitán Guillermo Brown Eyzaguirre.

De la Carrera (48, santiaguino casado, 2 hijos, graduado de médico y cirujano dentist en la Universidad de Pennsylvania), dice muy contento:

—Conocí en Harvard a la señora Titcomb, quien durante la guerra se dedicó a amaestrar y reunir los mejores perros para la defensa de costa. Ella mantiene en su granja de Brockton un criadero con más de 100 perros finos. El perro que me envió tiene un nombre muy largo y deberé acortárselo.

Orgulloso muestra el libro de oro del perro, enviado adjunto. Allí está su árbol genealógico y los hechos más notables de sus 3 años de vida: fué comprado a los 3 meses por su obsequianta en mil dólares, tiene 10 medallas de concursos caninos de ciudades de Estados Unidos e Inglaterra, ostenta el "best dog in show" de Plymouth, que es la máxima distinción a que puede aspirar un perro en su vida.

—Es una lástima— manifiesta De la Carrera— que este perro no encuentre en Chile una cultura canina semejante a la de los países que conocí. En Estados Unidos los perros tienen obligación de ser vacunados contra la rabia-distemper y otras enfermedades. Es obligatorio que lleven en su collar el número de la vacuna, y el Estado en que fué hecha, como también la fecha. Se evitan así los perros vagos y la transmisión de enfermedades, contribuyéndose a la mejor higiene de los habitantes y evitando las trágicas consecuencias de la hidrofobia.

El perrito irlandés no es regodeón; no exige comida especial, y se saborea con un grasoso hueso. Su grave problema será, seguramente, el sentimental. Pero el doctor De la Carrera no se preocupa. Dice:

—La señora Titcomb ha prometido que el próximo año, en su cuarto cumpleaños, le enviará una novia irlandesa, de su linaje.

Es de esperar que mientras llega su novia, "Deirdre..." no se enamorará de ninguna criolla quiltra.

PERRO ASEGURADO EN 2,000 DOLARES LLEGO A VALPSO.

VALPARAISO, (Corresponsal).— En el vapor "Maipo", que arribó anteayer a este puerto, llegó un hermoso ejemplar canino de la raza Kerry Blue, enviado por Mrs. Gladys S. Titcom, de la ciudad de South Easton, al doctor Luis de la Carrera, de Santiago de Chile, fundador del Kennel Club de nuestro país, en reconocimiento a su labor en pro del fomento de los perros de raza.

Este perro, que vino asegurado en dos mil dólares, o sea, unos ciento sesenta mil pesos de los nuestros, dormía en la cámara del primer oficial, capitán Guillermo Brown Izaguirre, quien lo tuvo a su cuidado.

Valuable Kerry Blue Arrives in Chile

On Wednesday August 24th, Deirdre, a valuable Kerry Blue dog bred by Mrs. Gladys Titcomb, owner of the wellknown Blucote Kennels in the United States, arrived in Chile in the "Maipo" from the United States.

The dog was sent as a gift to Dr. Luis de la Carrera of Santiago, founder of the Kennel Club of Chile.

Dr. de la Carrera spent one year in the U.S.A. during the war working at various war hospitals and it was there that he met [illegible] mistress Mrs. Titcomb, a well known figure in the show rings.

Deirdre of Kel-Wel-Aire is 3 years old, 6 times champion in U. S. and Best Dog in show at Montgomery County - Chicago, Morris and Essex etc., etc.

Mrs. Titcomb is very anxious to visit Chile for the coming Viña del Mar Dog Show and see there the performance of Deirdre.

Suerte a Viña!

Estudiantes Secundarios Repudian Reparto de Panfletos Subversivos

Una declaración de protesta nos entregó ayer la directiva de la Federación.

Con relación a ciertos manifiestos que se hicieron circular profusamente por parte de elementos comunistas en los diversos liceos de Valparaíso, la directiva de la Federación Secundaria, nos hizo entrega de la siguiente declaración:

La directiva de la Federación de Estudiantes Secundarios de Valparaíso, desea expresar su más enérgica protesta por los panfletos de carácter subversivo que se hicieron circular tanto en los liceos femeninos como masculinos de nuestra ciudad, en los cuales se incitaba a los alumnos a plegarse a un movimiento huelguístico.

La directiva de la Federación repudia enérgicamente esta clase de manifestaciones, pues nuestra institución no ha tomado aun ninguna determinación sobre los sucesos acaecidos en Santiago, no necesitando tampoco influencias exteriores para pronunciarse sobre ellos.

Por la directiva de la Federación Secundaria de Valparaíso.— Osvaldo Droppelmann Bahner, presidente; Luis Aravena Asensy, secretario general.

En Dos Mil Dólares Está Asegurada Una Perrita que Llegó en el "Maipo"

Viene dedicada a don Luis de la Carrera, fundador del Kennel Club de Chile.—Es un ejemplar de perro, raza Kerry Blue.—Su "pequeña historia".

En el "Maipo" llegó desde EE. UU. un ejemplar de perro, raza Kerry Blue, que la señora Gladys Titcomb, propietaria del Criadero Blucate de Brockton Mass, envió al Dr. Luis de la Carrera, fundador del Kennel Club de Chile, como estímulo por su labor de fomento de los perros de raza en nuestro país

PERRA VALIOSA

La perra Deirdre of Kel-Uscair, fue adquirida por un millonario de Chicago en 1948, en mil dólares y readquirido por Mr. Titcomb para enviarla a Chile.

Es de notar en estos días tantos casos de hidrofobia, ocurridos en nuestro país, que esta perrita ostenta las fichas de vacunas antirrábicas del año 1949 del Estado de Masschussets, para evitar que sea portadora de epidemia, fatales para la humanidad.

La perrita mereció solícitos cuidados del capitán del barco, y era la mascota a bordo. Es interesante hacer notar, que Deirdre está asegurada en la suma de dos mil dólares.

PERROS DE PEDIGREE

WHAT is in a name?..., dijo Shakespeare. Y ese mismo aforismo podemos aplicarlo al perro o al caballo, y muchas veces a la especie humana... Porque el "pedigree" o registro de antecesores o de sangre es importante para el futuro de cualquier raza. Selección, mejoramiento, elección de formas, carácter y cualidades. Las leyes darwinianas de origen y selección de la especie se ven más imperativas a medida que el mundo avanza.

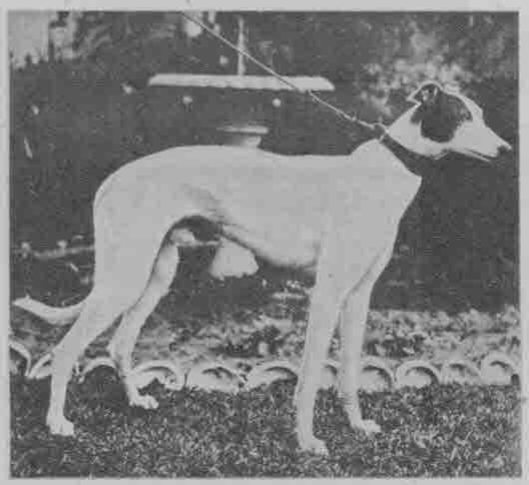
Pero no es éste un artículo sobre biología. Queremos solamente escribir una pequeña crónica sobre perros. Queremos explicar a muchos por qué son necesarias estas exposiciones de perros que organizan los "kennel clubs". Se quiere llegar al control y mejoramiento de la raza canina. Se pretende evitar y chequear enfermedades y epidemias como la hidrofobia y el "distemper", muy peligrosas para el hombre. Se insiste en criar perros bien seleccionados y propiamente alimentados, que sean un agrado y no una incomodidad.

La perrera ha sido muy combatida, y, sin embargo, en todos los países los perros vagos forman legión, y constituyen un problema para el aseo de las calles, para la conservación de parques públicos y, lo que es peor, para la higiene del hogar del obrero. Existen conventillos donde se agrupan ocho o más perros que, sumados a los cinco chiquillos que habitan una pieza mal aireada y sin sol, constituyen un serio peligro para la salubridad.

El perro puede constituir una enseñanza para el niño, por su lealtad y por su sacrificio por su amo. Pero ese niño debe aprender a cuidarlo, a escobillarlo cada día, a bañarlo, a prevenirlo de enfermedades y, antes que nada, a educarlo. Entonces el "perrito" es agradable. Pero líbreme Dios del "quiltro", del perrillo pulguento, que lo único que sabe es aullar y ladrar y despertar al vecino a cualquiera hora de la noche, destruir jardines o matar gallinas, y destrozar alfombras. Es naturalmente el perro de nadie... De ahí que preconicemos el perro de "pedigree". Cuanto cuestas, cuanto vales.

A mediados de diciembre se celebrará en el Stade Français de Santiago la 21.ª exposición de perros de "pedigree". Vendrán de todo el país. Y también del extranjero. En estas columnas publicamos el retrato de un Champion Kerry Blue, el mejor perro de exposición en varios torneos de los EE. UU. Nos referimos a un kerry blue que lleva el nombre de DEIRDRE of KEL WEL AIRE, del famoso criadero de Blucote, en el Estado de Massachusetts, y enviado a Chile por Mrs. Gladys Titcomb al doctor Luis de la Carrera, como una prueba de ese magnánimo espíritu de solidaridad panamericana de que hacen gala nuestros hermanos del Norte. ¡Snobismo!, dirán los enemigos de los perros... Salud pública. El American Kennel Club, en la persona de Mrs. Titcomb, quiso, al enviarnos este ejemplar, hacer una campaña en Chile para instaurar la ley Pitman-Moore, de los EE. UU., que combate la hidrofobia, y que ha dado óptimos resultados en EE. UU., Canadá e Inglaterra, como también la vacuna contra el "distemper". Este kerry blue recién llegado al país trae esa misión, para bien de la especie canina, y para preservar a la humanidad de tan terribles flagelos.

Hay regios ejemplares de perros en Chile. Zorreros, como los de Luis Lavín Valdés, originarios del Estado de Virginia, Baxers Sealyham airedale, bull-dogs, cockers, pointers, fox-terriers, collies, ovejeros alemanes, daneses, dobermans, etc. Cada perro, en su especialidad: zorreadura, caza de escopeta, lebreros, etc. Otros, adorno del hogar, regalones, único consuelo de viudas o solteronas, procuran afecto, entretención, compañía. ¿Por qué criticarlos?



¿El amor por el perro, flaqueza humana? Puede ser; pero Rómulo y Remo fueron amamantados por una perra; Napoleón confiaba más en su perro que en sus amigos, y Churchill, con su cocker, y Roosevelt con su escocés Fala, tuvieron en la pasada guerra acaso un consuelo para derivar energías en las pocas horas de meditación y de soledad.

¿Y quién no recuerda al Tony, del Presidente Alessandri, y a Ulk, su gran danés?... No estamos entonces tan errados al pronosticar un gran éxito para nuestra próxima exposición... Love Me, Love My Dog... Los chilenos aman a sus perros y a sus caballos.

De La C., 48, from Chile, married with 2 children, graduate of a medical school and a dentist at the Un. of Pa. says very happily:

- I knew Mrs. Tetcomb in Harvard, who during the war devoted herself to the teaching and grouping of the best dogs for coastal defense. She keeps on her ranch at Brockton a nursery with more than 100 excellent dogs. the dog that she sent me have a very long name and I shall have to shorten it. —

Proudly he shows the dog's "libro de oro" sent along with him. there is written in this his family tree and the most notable deeds of his three years of life; he was bought at the age of 3 months by his giver for $1,000; he has 10 medals for canine showings in cities in the U-S. and England, and he showed as the "best dog in show" at Plymouth, which is the greatest distinction towards which a dog can aspire in his lifetime.

It is a shame — manifests Dr. de la C. — that this dog doesn't find in this country (Chile) a canine culture similar to that of the countries he has known. In the U.S. the dogs must be vaccinated against rabies, distemper and other illnesses. It is obligatory that he wear on his collar the number of the vaccination and the state in which it was given, also the date. In this way are avoided stray dogs and the transmission of illnesses, contributing to better hygiene for the (residents) natives and eliminating the tragic consequences of hydrophobia.

The little Irish dog is not difficult to please (not the type that need be pampered); he doesn't need special food and he delights himself with a greasy bone. His big problem will be, most assuredly, a sentimental one. But Dr. de la C. is not worrying. He says:

— Mrs. Tolcott has promised that

Why I Prefer the Kerry Blue Terrier

Ever since I saw my first kerry and ran my hand through his soft silky coat, I wanted to own one and I knew then I would never be happy with any other kind of a dog. They will really grow on you and I believe I can safely say that anyone who has owned a good kerry will never change to another breed.

In his native home in Ireland, the kerry is used for hunting small game and birds. He is a good retriever on both land and water and is useful as a farm dog for herding sheep and cattle.

The kerry makes a good watch dog and is a grand companion. He is without an equal as a playmate for children.

He does not shed his hair, which makes him ideal as a house dog. With combing and grooming he can go for months without a bath and will not have an unpleasant doggy odor.

With his high spirits, his wonderful love and devotion for his home, the kerry represents to me everything that an ideal dog should be.

At one of my first shows I will never forget what one breeder told me—"We do not always get the exact conformation we are striving to attain but we always seem to get good temperaments. You can breed kerries with many faults, but you never seem to breed out what is in their heart."—V. H. GILBERT.

TO THE KERRY!

As a side-kick, a kerry is delightful because he will climb the highest mountain and swim the longest river with you if you go in for that sort of thing.

On the other hand, if you are keen on good old-fashioned indoor sports, such as eating yourself out of shape, a kerry is the dog for you every time. He will guzzle his own food and most of yours, too, and even chew up your food-ration book, just for good measure, and to show you that he's with you all the way.

If there's any trouble going, you will find that your kerry has either started it or is all wrapped up in the middle of it.

Don't let that worry you, because your kerry, like "them thar Russians," is a tough customer, plenty tough and can meet and outsmart all comers and knows how to handle himself in any schemozelle.

There's never a dull moment with a kerry about to keep you on your toes and to keep you practically dizzy with his antics and goings on.—Olga Nethersole.

● KERRY DAM OF FOUR CHS.
The Dog World Award of Canine Distinction has been awarded to Ch. Hilarious of Gayterry, kerry owned by Blucote K's, Mrs. Gladys Titcomb, Old Foundry Road, R106, South Easton, Mass.

Gayterry is the dam of four champions: Blucote Brocade CD, Blucote Bawcock, Blucote Crest of the Wave and Blucote Deirdre.

● HORTON MEMORIAL TROPHY OFFERED TO KERRY EXHIBITORS AT SYRACUSE SHOW
At the Oct. 30 show Syracuse, N. Y. the Lucy Horton Memorial trophy valued at $50, will be awarded outright in the breeder-exhibitor class at this show.

Many kerry breeders will remember the late Lucy E. Horton. The trophy is in her honor.

(The Editor of DW will attend this show and be happy to meet DW readers there.)

● LOOSE PURCHASES GOB
Mrs. Alyce A. Loose, Charock Ks., 4415 W. Good Hope Rd., Milwaukee, Wisc. has purchased Int. Ch. The Gob of Orr-Mur, altho at ks of T. G. Lenfestey, Canonsburg, Pa.

● WHAT IS THE OFFICIAL OR CORRECT TRIM
A. V. Howell, investment broker, 105 So. La Salle St., Chicago 3, writes: "There is such a variance between trimmers of kerries, that I am wondering if some time, a top man can outline the correct way in DW. I am all at sea."

DEPLORES "FLUFF" AT BOTH ENDS OF THE KERRY

This issue presents a report of delegates' action on faking in the show ring. See exact wording of new rule.

Chas. G. Hopton, veteran allrounder judge, 250 Garfield Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes a general article on "furnishings," and this is appropriate indeed in connection with our report of what transpired at the N. Y. meeting of the delegates.

Mr. Hopton writes also on excessive furnishings on the cocker—see that breed section.

The Editor of DW several times has stated that the "cowboy chaps" era in the kerry is not benefiting the breed. It can stymie growth of the breed in popularity. He is pleased to note that America's colorful allrounder Mr. Hopton supports this statement.

As to the kerry blue, he has put on a few pounds, and an inch or two at the withers since Esmond O'Brien of New York City brought over the famous Kenmore champions.

Color is more even and they have improved in ears, both in size and placement, but the fulsome "fluff" at both ends mars balance.

I recall the faux pas I made at the 1898 Dublin show, where I drew a good entry of Irish terriers. Evidently "the American judge" aroused curiosity; however, I had two of the oldest breed authorities, Dr. Simpson and T. Y. Yarr, as stewards, they were quite perturbed when I reversed my awards in the Maie Puppies and Novice classes.

The former were judged in the beautiful grounds of the Rotunda and I was much impressed with a smart puppy, somewhat on foxterrier lines perhaps but he was so well balanced, and excelled in feet. (In those days corn pads were much in evidence; and heavy ears too.)

Just as I was about to place him in first position it commenced to rain and he promptly dropped his tail and refused to show; so I placed him second to a rather large wheaten dog, on the coarse order but a rare shower.

As the rain continued we were ordered into the Rotunda ballroom and as we proceeded up the stairway the owner of the small dog approached me. I sympathized with him and asked: "Are you in more classes?" He said, "Yes, in the Novice." My reply was: "Well give him plenty of leash and let him scrap."

This he did and immediately picked on the Puppy winner. Although giving away at least an inch at the withers and a few pounds in weight, he grabbed the big wheaten dog and posed perfectly whereas the big dog "jibbed" and refused to show; consequently I reversed the former class award.

Before doing so I informed my stewards and drew their attention to the change of deportment. To this they agreed but Dr. Simpson quietly remarked: "It will raise a holy war; the puppy winner is a Black Rock dog (that is a nearby suburb), whereas the small dog is from Belfast." However, I reversed the placings and the majority seemed to agree that I was justified.

The faux pas came when I espied a big bluish dog, with a rather curly coat in the Limit class. So I asked the steward: "What was the half-bred bedlington doing in the class?"

He placed his finger to his lips and said "Hush, that is one of our most ancient Hibernian breeds; 'tis a kerry blue, and a wonderfully game dog on all vermin and a farm worker."

Yes, there is no questioning the gameness of a kerry blue and I would acclaim the breed as one of the most improved of all the terriers, but please exhibitors of same, modify the absurb "fluff" at both ends so that one can see the feet and extra sound quarters with hock action quite on a par with any of the terriers.

DEATH OF MRS. McKINNEY

The entire kerry fancy is shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. Roessle McKinney on Sep. 8, after a very short illness. She judged the breed at Westminster in '45 and judged twice in Eng.

Her activities included a wide range of community work in addition to her intense interest in the blue terrier.

I am sorry to report the death of Mrs. Roessle McKinney after an illness of a few days. Mrs. McKinney, with her husband, owned the Gloca Mora Kennels of New Canaan, Conn., and was one of New England's leading breeders and exhibitors of Kerries. Mrs. McKinney held a license to judge and had officiated in the Kerry ring at Westminster and other top shows. Our sincere sympathy is extended to her family.

We understand that Ch. Hilarious of Gayterry has died. She was a very fine show and brood bitch and the apple of the eye of her owner, Mrs. Gladys Titcomb of Blucote fame. Also hear that Ch. Bemel Embargo of Gloca Mora is gone. He was imported from England after the war by the McKinneys and made his championship here without trouble. Two fine New England Kerries have left us.

We read that Gladys Titcomb has sold her Ch. Blucote Deirdre o' Ker-wel-aire to a fancier in Santiago, Chile, and she will be shown throughout South America. Ch. Deirdre was Mrs. Titcomb's first best in show winner (we're sure there will be others); an excellent specimen herself, her bloodlines should be very useful in producing good Kerries for our good neighbors to the south.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Whittall, 2nd, of Worcester, lead off the new arrival department with a litter of six by Ch. Erinblu's Typhoon out of their Erinblu's May Queen. May we hear from these babies later on in the win columns. . . One day younger than these is a litter of six, which our Ch. Erinblu's Brighid presented us with. Ch. Hot Enuf of Delwin is their sire. It will be interesting to watch this dozen grow up. Arthur M. Hillery

MRS. JACKSON'S Blue Leader Kennels pioneered importing and breeding of the Kerry Blue Terrier here on the West Coast. Ben Brown, who was her kennel manager, knows the breed from its earliest history up to the present time probably better than any person on the West Coast. To him we are indebted for this splendid interview on the breed.

Ben, you have been familiar with the Kerry Breed for a long time. What do you consider the first outstanding Kerries of the past twenty years here on the Pacific Coast?

Ben: Well, let's start with the male Kerry. I consider Ch. Lienster Leader of Blue Leader Kennels the number one choice. Why? Because he was the first Kerry Blue that brought the other Terrier Breeder's attention toward the breed.

Writer: In what respect?

Ben: No one knew much about the breed, but he was a dog that any dog man, regardless of what breed he sponsored knew at a glance that Lienster was an outstanding dog.

Writer: What were his qualifications?

Ben: He had beautiful legs and feet, sound as a bell, either end, good conformation, a real Terrier eye and ear placement with tail well set. His color at that time was matchless, a good shower with plenty of Terrier spirit. He was the first Kerry Blue to ever win a BIS in the U. S. A. He was also the first to win BIS in Canada, and by the way that show was judged by Mrs. Helen Rosemont of San Francisco. She mentioned just the other day, after 20 years, that the only blemish she could find on him was a small wart on his left side. She thought he was an almost perfect specimen.

Writer: I think this is a remarkable incident to remember the judging of this dog so vividly. It shows how well she must have inspected the dog on that occasion.

Ben: The next great male was Int. Ch. The Black Prince of the Chevin who was a different type than Ch. Lienster Leader, probably the first of the modern type Terrier. He had a longer and leaner head with a long reachy neck, coal black eyes. His ears were not as nice as Ch. Lienster's for size or placement, but he had good color, a shade lighter than Lienster, and a perfect gentleman in showing. I could show him on a piece of thread, standing a perfect stance without any propping. He would give the other dogs the eye and a growl. He had class written all over him. He died through an accident while still a very young dog. It was a great loss to the breed, but his name, as you well know, is in 90% of all the great Kerries in the history of the Breed.

Writer: Ben, what about the most outstanding all around bitch of the breed?

Ben: Taking it all over, you would have to hand the plum to triple Int. Ch. The Grand Duchess.

Writer: What do you mean by triple, Ben?

Ben: Triple because she was an Irish Ch., an Eng. Ch., and an American Ch. Gus Hill took her up to Canada one season and put her through to her Canadian Championship, so I might say a quadruple champion!

Writer: What made her so great?

Ben: She was a great Terrier from head to tail, a perfect showman, beautiful color, a grand coat of true Kerry texture. She had no outstanding faults: By the way your Ch. Perfect Peach reminds me of her immensely.

Writer: If you could ever have been able to make a composite Kerry from all of the greatest of them, what dogs would you have used?

Ben: Give me the head, neck and tail set of Ch. The Black Prince, the body of Ch. Lienster Leader, the eye of Ch. Helen Skelter, the fire and personality of Ch. Bumble Bee, the coat and color of Ch. Michael of Som-sett, the front of Ch. Kilroy and the hindquarters of Ch. The Grand Duchess. FLOYDE PIERCE

KERRY PUPPY'S COAT IS WIRY IN SPOTS

To M—Just what is the exact situation with the coat of your kerry we do not know based upon your short letter. The standard calls for a coat "soft and wavy."

You state that the hair along the top of your eight months puppy is quite coarse and wiry—this also at the base of the tail.

Your puppy is beginning to lose his puppy coat and acquire his permanent adult coat. If the skin in these areas is healthy, we think the situation will clear up by the time the puppy is a year old. If the skin is irritated, rub it well every day with lanolin or mineral oil for about three weeks.

We do not think there is anything to worry about greatly.

IMPORTED KERRIES IN 1924

It was gratifying to be present at the Syracuse show on the occasion of the awarding of the Lucy E. Horton Memorial Trophy in her home town.

Cerella K. Kiefer gives us this note about the late Mrs. Horton:

"Imported Mountain Breeze and Water Beauty in 1924. The second litter produced Blue Maid who, in turn, was the dam of Roxy and Ch. Sylvia. Roxy was dam of Ch. Terry Out of the Inkwell and Ko Ko the Blue Girl—dam of Int. Ch. Rackety Packety of Kelmenskeg. Ch. Sylvia was the dam of Int. Ch. Blue King II and Ch. Sir Livingston.

"The winner of the Lucy Horton Memorial trophy was William F. Fox's Ch. Fox Hills Thunderbolt, in the special breeder-exhibitor class."

KERRY DAM IS MOTHER OF FOUR CHAMPIONS

V. H. Gilbert, kerry breeder, 299—49th St., Des Moines 12, Ia. writes:

"Our foundation b. Ch. Lady Daphne of Rob-Ett is the mother of four champions, all from the same litter. This litter was sired by Ch. Ker-Rea's Head Man, whelped Mar. 3, '47. They are m. Ch. Gilbert's Sir Robert; m. Gilbert's Regent Prince; b. Ch. Lady Daphne's Judy; b. Ch. Gilbert's Tena.

Another b. from this litter, Daphne's Lady has 7 pts."

KERRIES AS FIGHTERS

Naturally a kerry, if attacked, will fight back, but he is not naturally quarrelsome. Their reputation as a fighting breed was gained in the early days, partly because the owners in Ireland did, in some cases, encourage them to fight; partly because owners of other terrier breeds did not welcome the incursion of another breed which might diminish their popularity, and consequently disparaged the kerry blue wherever possible, and partly, it must be admitted, because the manners of some of the early exhibits in the ring certainly gave the impression that the breed was aggressive.

The public did not realize that the dogs, which tried to fight each other when attached to a lead in the ring, were quite peaceable at home.—J. H. F. B. in Our Dogs.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Deal, North Scituate, Mass., have the distinction of owning two Weimaraner champions . . . and Imports, (the American titles made by the owners) Ch. Bert v.d. Harrasburg and Ch Aspa v.d. Murwitz will be field trained. Another hopeful Grey Ghost the Deals expect to start showing is a fine young sister of Ch. Aspa.

VOLUME I, NUMBER 7 NOVEMBER, 1949 35¢ PER COPY

The fourth puppy futurity of the Kerry Club saw fifteen entries parading for judge Rudolph Engle of New York. Mr. Engle was for several years next door neighbor of young Ed Sayres, and really knows his Kerries. Over $100 in cash, beside the rosettes, ceramic Kerries by Jane Callender, and huge trophies donated by Joseph Urmston and Harry Sangster, was awarded.

Best junior male and winner of the futurity was Maylew's Rattley Bang, owned by Eugene Sheridan, and bred by Lew Wallace. Dam was Townshend's Maylew Kate, sire Ch. Maylew Talus. Best junior female and second in futurity was Imperial Blue Wave, bred and owned by Dr. George Tolton, sired by Ch. Conrad's Challenge. She also won the Ch. Conrad's Challenge Trophy for best puppy sired by him. Second junior male and third in futurity to Townshend's Blue Blaze, bred and owned by Edith Izant. Second junior female and fourth in futurity to the Ralph Thorpe's Miss Casy O'Tamarac, bred by Virginia Sanders, sired by Ch. K Blu T's Irish Brogue.

The next futurity, to be judged in July, 1950, has twenty-two eligible dams. Breeders already entered include Stafford Park of Long Beach, Elise Redmond of Phoenix, Joseph Urmston of San Marino, Bill Fox, C. W. Brown and Ralph Keene from the North, and Kris Ursin and Lew Wallace in the Valley.

Gladys Titcomb writes in her Dog World ad that Ch. Fairhaven Blue Bonnet sired by her Blucote Disturber finished in three five-point shows, within 38 days. Owned by Althea Conners, of Texas, I had the pleasure of judging her at Sacramento, where she went best of winners and best opposite sex. Art Creaney brought her west.

Several of us at Orange Empire

Talking to Art Creaney about conditioning a Kerry's coat, I asked him what he thought about taking the coat down to the skin with clippers. Art is against this for several reasons —first, because you then just sit back and do nothing, letting it grow long. He felt it was more stimulating to the coat to be trimmed a quarter of an inch every week or two. Also, he is afraid of the effect on texture and color.

"EQUIPMENT" FOR MATING

Rough material such as carpet for footing for both sire and matron is suggested.

For extra large breeds, a gunny sack or similar material padded around the body of the bitch at the loins enables the stud to maintain his position. Specially manufactured breeding platforms are not needed.

If the male is greatly smaller than the bitch, some elevation or holding up by attendant is required. The author's book Handling the Mating sets forth details concerning the handling of both dogs for the actual mating and the care and handling before and after.

● IT'S NOT A NEW RULE

L. S. Kay, Beacon St., Athol, Mass. writes, when he started in dogs in 1904, the AKC already had a strong rule against faking. He says: 'What good or value is there in a rule that is not enforced?'

Also he thinks that the AKC is 'passing the buck' in enforcement to the judge.

KERRY BLUE TERRIER

A blue dog varying from slate blue to lilac, originating in Kerry County, Ireland.

This quiet but useful terrier breed is an all-around dog in its native Ireland, being used for hunting, herding cattle, and general watchdog purposes.

The silky, wavy coat, the profuse hair down over the eyes, the stocky body give it an appearance of strength and usefulness.

Size varies from 17" to 20" for males, in general this dog is an able warrior in the fight, limits his affections to just a few and is a sober gentleman, but all-dog in every way.—Grolier.

BENEFIT FROM OTHER'S INVESTMENT

The male certainly will not have many services for there will not be many bitches in the kennel for some time. Further, the novice who purchases a male for stud use, is not purchasing a good type usually as he is not expending enuf money to obtain a first-rate male. He is merely increasing the number of ordinary studs.

In what does the value of a stud dog consist? In his string. This value he imparts alike; surely it is not conditioned upon ownership of the dam. The stud gives his full blood value to every bitch he serves. What cares he whether the object of his romance is owned by this or that person? Hence, the owner of the dam gets the same return on the investment value of a stud which may be perhaps a thousand dollars, as does the owner of the stud when breeding one of his own bitches to his own stud. It is more economical to pay $40 stud fee than a $1,000 purchase, fee, when the stud dog, likely of far better type than the novice can hope to breed or own in a long time is available at public stud.

THE DANDIE

This long-bodied, short-legged, large-headed, full-eyed breed originated in Scotland, was publicized greatly by the novelist Sir Walter Scott, and today is finding favor as a quiet, companionable terrier. Color is either pepper or mustard and the weight can vary from 14 to 24 lbs., with 18 lbs. preferable.—Grolier.

OLDEST and most beautiful of the smooth-coated sporting terriers, the Standard MANCHESTER TERRIER is a hardy, extremely courageous small game hunter, a delightfully affectionate home companion. Average weight: 12-25 pounds. Height at withers: 16 inches.
Color: Black & Tan.

BAY STATE POODLE BEST OF 210 DOGS AT SANCTION SHOW

Entry From Wellesley Hills Scores at Elks Auditorium

Woonsocket German Shepherd Leads Obedience Classes With 199 Points

By LOU NAJAC

Calge Tonnerre, a black poodle owned and handled by Miss Cecil Ray of Wellesley Hills, was adjudged best in match over 210 entries by Willard Walcott of Greenville, the club's president, at the 44th all-breed sanction match of the Providence County Kennel Club yesterday at Elks Auditorium.

The six finalists were Autumn Red Widgen, an Irish setter owned and handled by Mrs. William B. Long Jr. of Cambridge, Ringtime Rascal, a 15-inch beagle owned by Mrs. L. Lundine of Hough's Neck, Quincy, Elbac's Halsey, a Doberman pinscher owned and handled by Leonard Lee Schumann of Boston, Sally Blue, a Kerry Blue terrier owned and handled by Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb of South Easton and Blue Jacket II, Italian greyhound owned and handled by Mrs. Ernest Thompson of Hoxsie.

Princess Amor, a German shepherd owned by Arthur Bourre of Woonsocket, was best obedience dog with a score of 199 points out of a possible 200.

A dog is loved by old and young; He wags his tail, And not his tongue.

The SEEING EYE

According to that certain saying, let's hope March ends up on schedule by moving out like a lamb! It sure came in like a lion! Wow! The poor old buggy had one bad time of it in the North country during the freezing up solid and battery going weak every so often! The mad snow storm didn't help matters any, either—but I gave one large sigh of relief that Buffalo show wasn't on the agenda. It was the usual free-for-all on Washington's birthday at Boston, with millions of hotdog-eating Bostonian chi-ldren running like insane ones all over the place! The second day again per usual, settled down to a steady hysterical roar. Saw Warren Blaisdell at Westminster and again at the Boston show. The laugh of the show was the disqualification of Rudy Valee's Toy Poodle because, as I heard it, of parti-color and wrong clip. Gladys Titcomb stopping by at the display to say hello . . . Mrs. Schuyler Owen giving us two excellent pictures of Pulik, which we'll run with a story by her in the April issue . . . After spending the

• DON'T GO RUSSIAN; SEND AN AD TO DW

First, we got Czarowitz, then Vera Sam's Natrusha. Now if you look in our yard you would think you were in Russia. They had a family of 9—6 sold before arriving.

It really was a good thing or they would all be here growing and thriving, so get your ad in DW before they do arrive.

Or you will be like the Bromleys—keep them all and watch them thrive.

You see—if you raise a borzoi, you will never want to let them go.

PASSES DOG WORLD AROUND

Inclosed please find check for $3 to renew Dog World for 1950. As you no doubt know, this coming year will make me a subscriber for 16 yrs. and I can assure you that each year makes me enjoy it much more.

I'm sure you will be pleased to know that I pass each issue along to a very good friend of mine in England—a Mr. H. S. Lloyd, and he enjoys it very much and he in turn passes it along to other friends. He informed me that he gets quite a lot of good tips from it, which help him in his write-ups.

When I was in the old country I sold him some cockers. The last two I sold him were two liter brothers.

You see, I came from No Ireland and was glad to read about your wonderful time in Ireland.—J. B. TENER, 398 Ridgewood Ave., Brooklyn 8, N. Y.

• DW SELLS DOGS LOCALLY AT GOOD PRICES

Today I received a letter from which I would like to quote: 'He says that different people he talks to estimate 90% of their worthwhile inquiries come from ads in DW. Local city paper adv. is disappointing—his experience has been like yours—in that local city people aren't ready to pay for a special breed of dogs. What he tries to do is get local people to see his ads in DW—then they seem to mean business.—Kansas Breeder.'

Beauty Bath — It's a Dog's Life

Shaggy dogs will be passe in Minneapolis if operators of the Canine Beauty shop, 1313 Nicollet avenue, have their way. Mr. and Mrs. Amos Moseman offer a bath, trim, rinse, trim and nail polish for Fido. Below, Mrs. E. E. Lindstedt, wife of the president of the Anoka County Dog Breeders association, brings Majorette Gay Parader in for pre-show treatment. Nita Mae Moseman, 13, daughter of the proprietors, is the receptionist.

First order of business is a shampoo for the Kerry Blue terrier. Mrs. Ruth Moseman wields the suds.

Trimming "Peg" is Frederick L. Schweppe of New York, N. Y., a visiting theatrical producer whose hobby is breeding Kerry Blue terriers (above). Helping him is Amos Moseman (left, below), former machinist whose love of dogs led to opening of the shop.

A Charmine rinse (left) brings out the natural coat beauty and the dog is ready to show (below). A daughter of a champion Majorette Gay Parader (Peg) won first place in the sanction match of terriers held by the Anoka County Dog Breeders association.

Mrs. Campbell Dixon's
BELLDORA KENNELS

"Belldora" · Acton Trussell · Stafford

Mrs. D. Campbell Dixon leading DOOCLOONE SPITFIRE
(1st prize winner at Leicester Ch. Show)

THE Belldora kennels have during the past few months again taken awards at all the leading championship and open shows in the country. Mrs. Campbell Dixon's puppy Cairn puppy has indeed been hitting the high spots. He was awarded 2nd prize (twenty-seven entries) in puppy dog class at Cheltenham championship show; 3rd prize (seventeen entries) in puppy dog, Bath championship show; 3rd prize in puppy dog, Richmond championship show; three reserve prizes at Bournemouth championship show; best Cairn puppy at two open shows, and many local prizes. Why not? Joe of Twobees, and will be placed at stud to a few approved bitches only in the litter by. Why is expected shortly.

Another ex inmate of the kennel has also been in the news. Lady Harrowby's young Cairn, Chio of Bellflora was photographed recently offering his congratulations to Sindon's contestant, Mr. John Wright.

Apart from the Cairns, the Kerry Blue Terriers have been well to the fore and although mentioned last they are by no means least. Mrs. Campbell Dixon is very keenly interested in the Kerry Blues and was recently appointed President of the Kerry Blue Association.

At Birmingham championship show, Bemel Blue Bootee was 2nd in novice bitch and was also 2nd at Richmond championship show, while another inmate—that grand young dog Doocloone Spitfire has added further laurels to the kennel. At Manchester Northern Kerry Blue Club show, Spitfire was 1st in novice and 2nd post graduate and was one of three unbeaten dogs for best dog in show award. At London Kerry Blue Club show, he took three 2nds, one 3rd and cup for best conformation and movement in show. At Leicester championship show he was 1st in novice and 2nd post graduate, also winner of Bagatelle cup. The latest critique of this young dog is very promising —"Splendid head, clean front neck and shoulders, compact body, good legs and feet, very sound, well balanced, when in full coat should take some stopping." Spitfire is Scylla (Bemel breeding).

Breeding is also going quietly on. At the moment there are some beautiful Cairn puppies and a lovely litter of Kerry Blues. The latter dogs make ideal guards and are almost human in their companionship with in the house they are cleanliness itself. There are no hairs as they never cast their coats which is a great asset as all doggy lovers know. The old lady of the kennel, Campbell Grey of Belldora (reserve Challenge Certificate at 9 years) (illustration above), now nearly 10 years old, wanders quietly about settling a squabble here and catching a rat there, having earned her well deserved retirement.

KERRY BLUE

WE CHANCED upon a wonderful story for you Kerry lovers which really carries with it a touch of the "old sod." We're going to tell it to you and hope you will appreciate its sincereness as we did. "Casey," who is owned by two grand people, Elsie and Mat Friedberg, who are of long standing in the Kerry clan, is the star. The setting, the shady and secluded courtyard of one of our old restored California missions, where Elsie and Casey had taken refuge to rest and wait for Nat during a business trip on a very hot mid-July day.

Casey explored the garden to his heart's content, but the "piece de resistance" was the large lily padded pool with its fountain of cool and sparkling water. This is for me, thought Casey, and with no thought as to repercussions or the embarrassment of his mistress, promptly splashed right in with keen enjoyment. At this point from out the doorway of the buildings beyond came the elderly priest of the mission. He squinted in the hot sunlight as he came forward towards the commotion, the pool, and Elsie, who couldn't make up her mind whether to act as though she'd never seen this drenched little dog before, or to apologize in behalf of herself and poor-mannered Casey. Suddenly the silence was broken as the keen blue eyes of this little old gentleman came to rest upon Casey. "Glory, glory be and may the Saints preserve us, can me old eyes be deceivin' me me or is it a breath of the old country, and right in me own church pool"—down on his knees and coaxing the dog towards him he continued—"Sure, sure 'tis a Kerry, and I haven't set eyes on one of these many long years since leavin' the old country. Come, come, me lad, and its a drippin' wet ye are." Slowly, but surely, Casey was lifted into a pair of loving arms and carried on into the mission. Truly he had found a friend. Soon the Priest had a towel, petting and drying as he visited with Elsie who was now enjoying to the fullest the happiness Casey had brought into this garden.

We think it best not to call this Priest by name, but when he was but a lad he and his father had raised and hunted with Kerries in the County of Kerry on the Emerald Isle. As the owners slipped away and it was time to leave, the old Father, with misty eyes, and full of memories, fondly sprinkled a bit of Holy Water on Casey's head and gave him his blessing. You see to a staunch old Irish heart this was a bit of home—for the Kerry is the national dog of Ireland. . . .

It's been wonderful to see so much activity among the Kerry people lately. Our hats are off to the Santa Ana Kennel Club for the successful sanction match they put over a few weeks back. Some 623 dogs were entered, and in case any of you don't know it's teamwork that puts a thing like that over. Taking the honors for Best of Breed in the Kerries was a little aristocratic newcomer, Fox Hill's Vixen, recently purchased by Lynn and Lou Gardella from Bill Fox. (See November Leash and Collar cover.) Jimmy Boyeen of Rovin and O'Kelly Boyeen of Rovin, owned by Lola and Paul Edmonds, also took home a bit of loot. Picnic baskets were shared and lunch time under the trees was a hilarious affair. Orchids are in order for several Kerries who recently finished and officially acquired the title of Champion. K-Blu-T's Irish Broque, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Baxter, and K-Blu-T Kennels, also Blue Star of Park-Crest owned by Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Park. Mr. and Mrs. Park should be exceptionally proud being the breeder as well as owner.

At its last meeting the Kerry Blue Terrier Club had a report from Edith Izant on the 1950 Futurity prospects. Believe it or not, there are about a hundred pups eligible to make their debut next year. As futurity chairman Mrs. Izant has put in long hours planning and work not only to get these youngsters entered, but for the trophies and money awards. Something new has been added this year and we think it a fine gesture. The owners of the stud dogs are each offering a trophy for the best puppy chosen from all the entered litters that their particular dog has sired. A successful Futurity should really have its place in the sun, for who knows what future "great ones" will be there. It is just a personal wish that with this new year we will all get behind these puppies. Our Kerries are sportsmen—may we owners all come up to the standard as well.

Nov. 6, 1949, saw a new and different show and we hope it will set a precedent and make it an annual affair—An All Terrier Point Show. This was really pioneering, the pick and shovel work being done by Steve Brodie and Pat McConville, etc., officers of the All Terrier Club. Bill Fox did an excellent bit of judging with a Kerry entry of some 27. Winner's Dog, K-Blu-T's Irish Brogue, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Baxter and K-Blu-T Kennels, Reserve going to Paddy Boy Blue II, owned by Mrs. Isabel D. Higgins. Winners Bitch, Ballerine of Park Crest, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Park, who really lived up to her name and gave a beautiful performance. Reserve went to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Redmond's Townsend's Susie Q. Top Honor Best of Breed went to Ch. Michael of Som'set Jr., owned by Mr. and Mrs. John R. O'Neal, who are new to Kerries, and I would like to add, two very fine sports. Best Opposite honors went to Ballerina of Park-Crest. We had a new class this time which, in our minds, should carry a lot of praise—Bred by Exhibitor—and a nice class it was. Floyde Pierce showed and received the top award with his very lovely Ch. Kerryland Perfection.

We would like at this time to extend our congratulations to all the exhibitors who are coming out for the shows, particularly to those who are just beginning. Showing your dog is a lot of fun and a lot of hard work. We wish you all the luck in the world, and as this is the holiday issue of Leash and Collar, a top magazine for our money, to its Editors and Staff, and to you all, a Merry, Merry Christmas and a Successful New Year.

KERRY BLUE

MRS. JACKSON'S Blue Leader Kennels pioneered importing and breeding of the Kerry Blue Terrier here on the West Coast. Ben Brown, who was her kennel manager, knows the breed from its earliest history up to the present time probably better than any person on the West Coast. To him we are indebted for this splendid interview on the breed.

Ben, you have been familiar with the Kerry Breed for a long time. What do you consider the first outstanding Kerries of the past twenty years here on the Pacific Coast?

Ben: Well, let's start with the male Kerry. I consider Ch. Lienster Leader of Blue Leader Kennels the number one choice. Why? Because he was the first Kerry Blue that brought the other Terrier Breeder's attention toward the breed.

Writer: In what respect?

Ben: No one knew much about the breed, but he was a dog that any dog man, regardless of what breed he sponsored knew at a glance that Lienster was an outstanding dog.

Writer: What were his qualifications?

Ben: He had beautiful legs and feet, sound as a bell, either end, good conformation, a real Terrier eye and ear placement with tail well set. His color at that time was matchless, a good shower with plenty of Terrier spirit. He was the first Kerry Blue to ever win a BIS in the U. S. A. He was also the first to win BIS in Canada, and by the way that show was judged by Mrs. Helen Rosemont of San Francisco. She mentioned just the other day, after 20 years, that the only blemish she could find on him was a small wart on his left side. She thought he was an almost perfect specimen.

Writer: I think this is a remarkable incident to remember the judging of this dog so vividly. It shows how well she must have inspected the dog on that occasion.

Ben: The next great male was Int. Ch. The Black Prince of the Chevin who was a different type than Ch. Lienster Leader, probably the first of the modern type Terrier. He had a longer and leaner head with a long reachy neck, coal black eyes. His ears were not as nice as Ch. Lienster's for size or placement, but he had good color, a shade lighter than Lienster, and a perfect gentleman in showing. I could show him on a piece of thread, standing a perfect stance without any propping. He would give the other dogs the eye and a growl. He had class written all over him. He died through an accident while still a very young dog. It was a great loss to the breed, but his name, as you well know, is in 90% of all the great Kerries in the history of the Breed.

Writer: Ben, what about the most outstanding all around bitch of the breed?

Ben: Taking it all over, you would have to hand the plum to triple Int. Ch. The Grand Duchess.

Writer: What do you mean by triple, Ben?

Ben: Triple because she was an Irish Ch., an Eng. Ch., and an American Ch. Gus Hill took her up to Canada one season and put her through to her Canadian Championship, so I might say a quadruple champion!

Writer: What made her so great?

Ben: She was a great Terrier from head to tail, a percet showman, beautiful color, a grand coat of true Kerry texture. She had no outstanding faults. By the way your Ch. Perfect Peach reminds me of her immensely.

Writer: If you could ever have been able to make a composite Kerry from all of the greatest of them, what dogs would you have used?

Ben: Give me the head, neck and tail set of Ch. The Black Prince, the body of Ch. Lienster Leader, the eye of Ch. Helen Skelter, the fire and personality of Ch. Bumble Bee, the coat and color of Ch. Michael of Som-sett, the front of Ch. Kilroy and the hindquarters of Ch. The Grand Duchess. FLOYDE PIERCE

PA. FANCIER LOSES A FAMOUS WINNING KERRY

Carl E. Geis, Johnstown, Pa. reports that his Ch. Kenmare Brian Baru bred by Mrs. Sada Spiker, died Dec. 12, nine yrs. old. He writes:

Brian Baru was retired from the show ring quite early. Nevertheless, he had established a show record never equalled in the U. S. before or since. He was campaigned intensively for only one year and during that year he won every kerry specialty show held in the U. S. There were four specialties held that year by the U. S. Kerry Blue Ter. Club in every one of which Brian Baru was placed BB. He also won BiS in No. Westchester, the second largest show held in the U. S. that year '44.

WHY I PREFER THE KERRY BLUE

By HORACE J. PERRY

In answer to your request relative to why I chose the kerry, I sum up the following points.

Although my folks had always owned shepherds and collies, I always admired the terriers but it took a kerry blue to crystallize the desire to own one.

The outstanding eye appeal which they possess lies in their gorgeous coat and coloring, their cocky and graceful air of self assurance, the sturdy construction of their body and the discerning look with which they regard the world.

After owning one for a short time, I became completely won over to them. They are fierce in a fight but gentle in fun. They are stable in temperament and rather quiet as a terrier yet they rouse the household when anything is amiss, without tearing the house down.

Extremely sensitive to the moods of their masters, they are readily trained.

The fact that they have no appreciable dog odor and do not shed endears them to Milady.

● ALL AT ONCE OR INCH BY INCH—KERRY COAT??
Talking to Art Creaney about conditioning a kerry's coat, I asked him what he thought about taking the coat down to the skin with clippers.

Art is against this for several reasons—first, because you then just sit back and do nothing, letting it grow long. He felt it was more stimulating to the coat to be trimmed a quarter of an inch every week or two. Also, he is afraid of the effect on texture and color.—EDITH IZANT in Kennel Review.

WHY I PREFER THE KERRY

HAVE YOU ever seen a bounding, bouncing ball of blue lightning? Then you will understand why I prefer the kerry!

HAVE YOU ever seen a kerry puppy's expression or the greeting in his tail when he is first introduced to a child?

HAVE YOU ever noticed his spontaneous love for people, or his delight when he is allowed to be with them?

HAVE YOU found out that he is an ideal pet for home or country? He is equally adept outdoors, hunting on land or water; or in the home, where he leaves no doggy odor nor telltale hairs on the floor and furniture.

HAVE YOU ever seen how quick he is to learn, how anxious he is to please his master?

HAVE YOU ever noticed his courage? He will not look for a fight but once drawn into one, he will not hold back, and you can lay long odds on him to win.

HAVE YOU ever enjoyed the privilege of his undying loyalty and devotion? Brother, if you have, you KNOW why I prefer the kerry!—MRS. ROBERT CUMMING, Ve Bob K's, McGregor, Tex.

—Ellen Christy.

KERRIES AND RATS

Ed O'Keefe of the famous Shannon View Irish Terrier K's, 7924 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, should be tried for 'treason to the breed.'

Ed tells us that he owned a kerry in 1909 back in the Emerald Isle and that his father said to him: 'Ed, m' boy, that's the kind of terrier for the rats. None of these red terriers for me.'

Ed tells of his kerry diving under water to kill muskrats. He thinks that kerry breeders should emphasize the useful qualities of the kerry, really an allround dog in Ireland.

KEEN KERRY DEMAND

The demand for kerries is very keen and many new owners have been delighted to find what intelligent allround dogs kerries are.

They are ideal companions, both out-of-doors, because of their sporting proclivities, and indoors, as guards; while the fact that they do not shed their coats makes them popular in the house.

By the way, I noticed in a local advertisement—an appeal for war dogs—that kerries were amongst the eight breeds specially required to act as watchdogs. Their color, which renders them almost invisible at night, makes them particularly useful for this purpose.—J. H. Barlow in Our Dogs (Eng.)—written in 1946.

Blucote Kennels, owned by Mrs. Gladys S. Titcomb, is rated as one of the three greatest producers of top stock in the country. In the past few years eight champions have been produced at this Kerry blue terrier kennel.

LUDWIG PHOTO

Judge Alex Stewart awarded Best in Show to Ch. Kerrypatch Dare of Dandy and presented trophy to owner Mrs. F. L. Pierce at the Silver Bay K.C. Show in San Diego. Ben Brown handled.

LEASH AND COLLAR AWARD

"DOG OF THE MONTH" FOR FEBRUARY

DOG OF THE MONTH for February, 1950, has been chosen, not for an outstanding show win record in 1949, as might be expected, because this Kerry Blue Terrier has been retired for the past two years. But perhaps this honor is due for other important reasons. Many breeders will tell you that the prize in their kennels they think the most of is not their latest champion, but their outstanding brood bitch, the producer of their champion.

Champion Kerrypatch Dare of Dandy from the Kerryland Kennels in North Hollywood, Calif., has proven herself to be one of the outstanding Kerry brood bitches in the country. "Bee Bee," as she is known to her many friends and admirers, has had her share of sensational wins in the show rings. The noted Chicago judge, Alex Stewart, selected her as Best in Show material at the Silver Bay Kennel Club event in San Diego. She had also picked up nine groups and 17 Best of Breeds out of 21 times shown in West, Midwest and Eastern competition.

We think this is a successful record for any career girl. But now she is at home playing a more domestic role, creating marvelous puppies, thereby rewarding the judges who had faith in her. The judges' job is to select the correct dog or bitch as to standard for stud or matron. Then, providing proper bloodlines or genetic principles are followed, perfection toward the betterment of the breed is bound to be obtained.

Ch. Kerrypatch Dare of Dandy is doing her bit toward improving the breed as is upheld by the record of her get. She was sent to the court of Ch. Michael of Som-ser, considered by Kerry fanciers to be one of the greatest sires of Kerry Blue Terriers in the world today. From this mating six pups were whelped, and at the age of six months, at the Los Angeles K.C. Show in April of 1948, four little sisters went one, two, three, four in a class of nine in the 6 to 9 months puppy class. They were Kerryland's Perfection, (see July L & C cover) Perfect Peach, Miss Personality and Perfect Lady. Kerryland's Perfection became a champion 18 days later. Resting for a year for a new blue coat, Perfection returned this spring to win the Terrier Group at the Beverly-Riviera K. C. Show in Santa Monica. Sent to the east, George Ward took her on a winning spree which included 7 out of 9 Best of Breeds.

Kerryland's Perfect Peach has finished and is admired for her fire in the ring and beautiful color. She recently won Best of Breed at Reno, Nev., over a former Best in Show dog. Her sister, Kerryland's Perfect Lady, is owned by Margot Jacobs of Emjay Kennels in Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Jacobs reports that Lady is headed for her championship. Miss Personality has 8 points and is well on her way to finish. The two males, Pride and Playboy, have finished and have been sold into distant territories where they are carrying on their site's bloodlines.

Ch. Conrad's Gentleman Jim Jr., Ch. Kerrypatch Dare of Dandy, Ch. Talk of the Town, popular Kerries of their day, shown with their owners Mr. and Mrs. Floyde Pierce of North Hollywood, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyde L. Pierce, owners of Ch. Kerrypatch Dare of Dandy, can rightfully be proud of this outstanding brood bitch, which has produced pups noted for their refined heads, long necks, well balanced bodies, short and level top lines and beautiful coats.

Leash and Collar magazine awards Ch. Kerrypatch Dare of Dandy, outstanding brood bitch, the Dog of the Month honor for February, 1950.

Do you have a Dog of the Month candidate in your kennel? Write us giving your reasons why you think your dog should be chosen Dog of the Month. Both male and female Dogs of Distinction are eligible as long as they are living and registered with the American Kennel Club. If your dog has saved a life, aroused the family in an emergency, produced outstanding get, or in any way stands out in his breed, nominate your dog for Dog of the Month!

BEST IN BACK MOUNTAIN DOG SHOW

working, terriers, and nspg. Working tops went to a boxer m. that came up from the classes to win the breed and the group and finish his championship—John J. Lyon's Mazelaine's Blarney, handled by Vandeventer.

Starkey picked another class dog, which was one of the surprises of the show — the kerry m. Kearnach K's Kearnach Faltha who of course won the breed first, and over the famous Ch. Gered's Candy Lamb, a BIS winner. This dog handled by the owner, later had another top win.

In nspg., Mr. Starkey motioned the kees to the center of the ring, also handled by Washington.

Mrs. H. H. Neaf from N. Y. City found best toy in the pekingese, another class dog (three dogs came from the classes at this show to win groups) — Mrs. Ethel Taylor's Jai Son's Tu of Pekestone.

• THIRD IN NONSPTG. COMES INTO RING FOR BAMB

Thus, for the six finals as Mr. Shuttleworth stept into the ring, there were two Calif. dogs, both of whom had won their groups for the previous three shows, both handled by Washington. Ake again handled the dog he formerly owned—the wirehd dachs.

• KEES MAKES BREED HISTORY

The final nod went to the kees—Mrs. Nevin's imp. Eng. Ch. Waarborg of Wistonia, but as the bulldog m. Mrs. Raymond L. Dickens' Ch. Moroyian He's A Mainstay (remember him on the front cover of DW?) was also an import, Mrs. Spence brot in third in the group—her black minpood Bomersyde Black Bottom to compete for best AMERBRED. This went to the class dog shown by owner—the m. kerry.

The win gave the kees his 4th BIS as stated elsewhere—a record for his breed for all time. There were some hurried goodbyes, and Ft. Worth ended at 11pm its la- dog show of all time—387.

Mostly about DOGS by Bob Becker

Champion Blucote Blazon of Northway, a three-year-old Kerry blue terrier, and owned jointly by James E. Northway, Hamilton, Ohio, and Blucote Kennels, South Easton, Mass., is pictured. Blazon completed her championship with a four-point Best of Winners victory at the Boston show February 23. She had Best of Breed awards at Fort Wayne, Ind.; Canton, Chagrin Valley, Warren and Lorain, Ohio; Louisville, Ky.; Orlando, Clearwater and St. Petersburg, Fla. Blazon was bred by Blucote Kennels and during her Middlewest showings she was handled by Jack Terhune. Her Eastern showings were handled by Tom Gately.

THE KERRY BLUE terrier does not get a chance in this country to do much of anything except serve as an interesting companion dog in homes and look like a true aristocrat in bench shows. However, that's pretty much the story of other useful working terriers that like to be active outdoors.

The Kerry has the brains and the desire to do some herding if he gets the chance and the schooling for this chore. Compared to most of the terrier breeds, this terrier with the beautiful blue coat is a husky member of the "earth dog" group. He's quite able to take care of himself at any time and look after his home.

Shortly after the formation of the Irish Free State, the Kerry was picked as the national dog of that country. We call him the Kerry blue here, but over there they label him the Irish blue terrier.

If a family wants a fairly large, strong and intelligent terrier as a companion and guard, this dog from Ireland deserves consideration. When he gets a neat hair trim and has his whiskers combed straight out past his muzzle, he makes most pedestrians take a second look at him.

P. 108—MAY '50 DOG WORLD—Housing Issue

Four Specific Reasons Why the Sales Prospect Should Buy a KERRY

1. NO SHEDDING—NO ODOR—First and foremost in the oft-told virtue of our 'blue Irishman'—he does not shed a hair of his handsome coat and is completely without 'doggy odors.' This is a great factor when the prospect wants a house pet or companion because the kerry can lie on the best living room rug, sharing your fire with you on a cold night or accompany his master on a long trip and never a trace of hair or odor betrays his presence. Even those people allergic to dog hair can own a kerry without fear of wheezing and coughing!

2. LOVE OF LIFE AND MANKIND—Only slightly less in importance is reason No. 2—the kerry's sincere, wholehearted love of life and humanity. You cannot be around a kerry for very long without absorbing his enthusiasm for each new day—new friends to make, new fields to explore, new people to greet with the ever-wagging tail and roguish eye.

Someone once said that a kerry is dedicated to the proposition that all mankind was made to adore, and never have we owned one or been around one that refuted that statement.

3. OBEDIENT — SILENT — TRACTABLE—In spite of their vivaciousness the kerry is not a bundle of nerves, nor do they ever bark or yelp without good cause.

Their eagerness to please and high intelligence make them quick to learn and easily trained. We entered a 6 mos. male puppy in obedience work and he is outstanding in a class that contains many of the working group.

Onlookers and participants in the class ask repeatedly, 'Does he ever bark?' Silence is a boon for apartment-dwellers and something that all buyers should consider—will your dog be a nuisance to your neighbors?

4. WATCHDOG — SHOWMAN — The kerry has an instinctive hunting and trailing ability and is without peer as a watchdog and destroyer of vermin, yet in the show ring he prances in such an aristocratic manner one would think he never growled at an intruder or chased a rat.—MRS. COMER D. CHRISTY, Rt. 11, Box 504, Jacksonville, Fla.

HOPTON ON THE KERRY OF YESTERDAY AND TODAY

A newcomer, that is to the oldtimer, is the game kerry blue, at last coming into its own as a really blue color, a vast improvement on the small early winners brought over by Desmond O'Brien.

His Kenmare champions were much smaller than the present-day winners, which show marked improvement in type, size, color, and texture of coat; but do we need such fulsome length of whisker on muzzle, or 'furnishings' on body and quarters???—Especially written for DW by Chas. G. Hopton.

● CALIF. REMONSTRATES AGAINST EASTERN JUDGE OF KERRIES
There have been exceptions, however, and only last month the Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Southern California was obliged by unanimous vote of its members to protest to the AKC and the U. S. Kerry Blue Terrier Club on the unnecessarily rude comments of an eastern judge at a recent show and his comments on judging kerries which indicated that he was paying little attention to certain important parts of the standard.—EDITH IZANT in Kennel Review.

● KERRIES MUST EARN WORKING CERTIFICATE
The Irish KC reaffirms its requirement that a kerry must be the holder of a field trial certificate before the championship award becomes official.

▲ Your club's SHOW AD in DW will bring national publicity, a bigger gate and many additional entries not gotten otherwise.

● ● Summertime is puppy time and whelping time. Advertise your good studs now—June and July issues. Fliers in demand for fall shows. Public buying dogs as outdoor companions and guards. KERRY BLUE

COMPLETE OFFICIAL BREED STANDARD FOR
KERRY BLUE TERRIER

Submitted by the parent club U.S. Kerry Blue Ter. Club to the AKC, the following completely revised standard was approved by the directors of the AKC and went into effect Feb. 1, 1949.

HEAD—Long, but not exaggerated and in good proportion to the rest of the body. Well balanced, with little apparent difference between the length of the skull and foreface. 20 points

SKULL—Flat, with very slight stop, of but moderate breadth between the ears, and narrowing very slightly to the eyes.

CHEEKS—Clean and level, free from bumpiness.

EARS—V-shaped, small but not out of proportion to the size of the dog, of moderate thickness, carried forward close to the cheeks with the top of the folded ear slightly above the level of the skull. A 'dead' ear houndlike in appearance is very undesirable.

FORE-FACE—Jaws deep, strong and muscular. Foreface full and well made up, not falling away appreciably below the eyes but moderately chiseled out to relieve the fore-face from wedginess.

NOSE—Black, nostrils large and wide.

TEETH—Strong, white and either level or with the upper (incisors) teeth slightly overlapping the lower teeth. An undershot mouth should be strictly penalized.

EYES—Dark, small, not prominent, well placed and with a keen Terrier expression. Anything approaching a yellow eye is very undesirable.

NECK—Clean and moderately long, gradually widening to the shoulders upon which it should be well set and carried proudly. 5 points

SHOULDERS AND CHEST—Shoulders fine, long and sloping, well laid back and well knit. Chest deep and of but moderate breadth. 10 points

LEGS AND FEET—Legs moderately long with plenty of bone and muscle. The forelegs should be straight from both front and side view, with the elbows hanging perpendicularly to the body and working clear of the sides in movement, the pasterns short, straight and hardly noticeable. Both fore and hind legs should move straight forward when traveling, the stifles turning neither in nor out. 10 points

Feet should be strong, compact, fairly round and moderately small, with good depth of pad free from cracks, the toes arched, turned neither in nor out, with black toenails.

BODY—Back short, strong and straight (i.e., level) with no appearance of slackness. Loin short and powerful with a slight tuck-up, the ribs fairly well sprung, deep rather than round. 10 points

HINDQUARTERS AND STERN — Hindquarters strong and muscular with full freedom of action, free from droop or crouch, the thighs long and powerful, stifles well bent and turned neither in nor out, hocks near the ground and, when viewed from behind, upright and parallel with each other, the dog standing well up on them. Tail should be set on high, of moderate length and carried gaily erect, the straighter the tail the better. 10 points

COLOR—The correct mature color is any shade of blue gray or gray blue from deep slate to light blue gray, of a fairly uniform color throughout except that distinctly darker to black parts may appear on the muzzle, head, ears, tail and feet. 10 points

Kerry color, in its process of "clearing" from an apparent black at birth to the mature gray blue or blue gray, passes through one or more transitions—involving a very dark blue (darker than deep slate), shades or tinges of brown, and mixtures of these, together with a progressive infiltration of the correct mature color.

Up to 18 months such deviations from the correct mature color are permissible without preference and without regard for uniformity. Thereafter, deviation from it to any significant extent must be severely penalized.

Solid black is never permissible in the show ring. Up to 18 months any doubt as to whether a dog is black or a very dark blue should be resolved in favor of the dog, particularly in the case of a puppy. Black on the muzzle, head, ears, tail and feet is permissible at any age.

COAT—Soft, dense and wavy. A harsh wire or bristle coat should be severely penalized. In show trim the body should be well covered but tidy, with the head (except for the whiskers), and the ears and cheeks clear. 15 points

GENERAL CONFORMATION AND CHARACTER—The typical Kerry Blue Terrier should be upstanding, well knit and in good balance, showing a well developed and muscular body with definite Terrier style and character throughout. A low-slung Kerry is not typical. 10 points HEIGHT—The ideal Kerry should be 18½" at the withers for a dog, slightly less for a bitch.

In judging Kerries a height of 18-19½" for a dog and 17½-19 in. for a bitch should be given primary preference. Only where the comparative superiority of a specimen outside of the ranges noted clearly justifies it, should greater latitude be taken. In no case should it extend to a dog over 20" or under 17½", or to a bitch over 19½" or under 17". The minimum limits do not apply to puppies.

WEIGHT—The most desirable weight for a fully developed dog is from 33-40 lbs., bitches weighing proportionately less.

DISQUALIFICATIONS

1) Solid black. 2) Faking or dyeing. 3) Dew-claws on hindlegs.

Tom Gately handles this kerry Ch. Blucote Blazon of Northway owned by James B. Northmay and Gladys S. Titcomb, Blucote K's, South Easton, Mass. on the Florida Circuit and then finished her for the title at Boston, the New England Kerry Blue Spec., 4 pts. She acquired 9 BB on the way. She is the 8th homebred Blucote to make the title. By Ch. Blucote Bawcock ex Blucote Peggy O'Neil.

Ch. Lady Daphne's Judy, homebred, wins the ter. group at St. Joseph under J. Vary; also best ter. Omaha; second Des Moines; 3rd Kans. City; BV Milwaukee; owned by V. H. Gilbert, 299—49th St., Des Moines 12 Ia.

Dog Training Club Has Annual Dinner

The Marshfield Dog Training Club held its fifth annual dinner recently. This group of dog lovers meets each Monday evening at Marshfield Town Hall to train their dogs under the direction of Al Phemister of Kingston. Dinner and dancing were enjoyed as well as vocal solos by Mrs. Walter Curley and several other guests. The climax of the party was the presentation by the club president, W. C. Wyre, Jr., of Duxbury, of the annual club trophies. These trophies are given to the owners of dogs who train at the club and who have won different American Kennel Club degrees for obedience.

The owners who were presented the trophies were W. C. Wyre, Jr., presented by Mrs. Wyre, for their fun-loving yet obedient sheepdog — and who now has his advanced CDX degree; to Walter Curley of Pembroke, whose Kerry blue terrier, although full of mischief, won his first degree in short time; to Hilliard Hopkins, of Harwichport, whose daughter showed their Schipperke and won such high scores; and to Mrs. Al Hayes of Bridgewater, whose collie won his CD degree with spectacular high scores also.

Members of the club are looking forward enthusiastically to their annual obedience trials held each year the first day of Marshfield Fair. This show offers the largest awards of all the summer obedience trials.

STORY OF THE KERRY WHICH WAS A SHOW SENSATION

The Editor of DW sat at the ringside at Ft. Worth and saw Mrs. Neall judge kerries. He noticed a rather imposing m. with plenty of substance, taking the judge's attention. He won the m. points and later, against an extremely good b., went up to BW—he was Kearnach Faltha.

Then came the dramatic moment, when Mrs. Neall reflected considerably, debating between this m. and the noted b. Candy Lamb, who has won several BiS allbreeds. The judge's nod finally went to this newcomer, owned by Horace J. Perry, Kearnach K's, RFD, Rockland, Mass.

The owner, who is just located in his new extensive boarding and breeding k's, writes:

'On the domestic side of the picture, I have bred a litter or two since I last talked with you and I understand that you did a fine job for me, when on the microphone at Fort Worth, it being our kerry m. that progressed from the classes to beat Amerbred.

'This young m. struck our fancy as a pup. We repeated the mating and altho it is a trifle early to so state, feel we got 'more of the same.'

'While corresponding with a fellow breeder in Tex., relative to the merits of a younger brother of Faltha, he in a rash moment stated that we should sell this youngster, as he was a bit loaded at the moment. We did so, and later he again expressed the desire to purchase him, but we replied that he had been sold.

'However, after some correspondence, he prevailed on us to send Faltha for a look-see and he would arrange enuf matings to pay his way back and forth. It was his idea entirely, to show him, whereupon we gave him permission, with the results you already know.

'This makes 17 pts., in three shows; so we are very happy over the entire event. As a result, we sold a b. puppy from the same litter, which we have hand picked and hope that she will mature as she now promises.

'We have never made oodles of money, but we have built up a fine reputation for giving full value on the dollar and have made many friends, which is one of the finer aspects of the dog game.'

Four Specific Reasons Why the Sales Prospect Should Buy a KERRY

1. NO SHEDDING—NO ODOR—First and foremost is the oft-told virtue of our 'blue Irishman'—he does not shed a hair of his handsome coat and is completely without 'doggy odors.' This is a great factor when the prospect wants a house pet or companion because the kerry can lie on the best living room rug, sharing your fire with you on a cold night or accompany his master on a long trip and never a trace of hair or odor betrays his presence. Even those people allergic to dog hair can own a kerry without fear of wheezing and coughing!

2. LOVE OF LIFE AND MANKIND—Only slightly less in importance is reason No. 2—the kerry's sincere, wholehearted love of life and humanity. You cannot be around a kerry for very long without absorbing his enthusiasm for each new day—new friends to make, new fields to explore, new people to greet with the ever-wagging tail and roguish eye.

Someone once said that a kerry is dedicated to the proposition that all mankind was made to adore, and never have we owned one or been around one that refuted that statement.

3. OBEDIENT—SILENT—TRACTABLE—In spit of their vivaciousness the kerry is not a bundle of nerves, nor do they ever bark or yelp without good cause.

Their eagerness to please and high intelligence make them quick to learn and easily trained. We entered a 6 mos. male puppy in obedience work and he is outstanding in a class that contains many of the working group.

Onlookers and participants in the class ask repeatedly, 'Does he ever bark?' Silence is a boon for apartment-dwellers and something that all buyers should consider—will your dog be a nuisance to your neighbors?

4. WATCHDOG — SHOWMAN — The kerry has an instinctive hunting and trailing ability and is without peer as a watchdog and destroyer of vermin, yet in the show ring he prances in such an aristocratic manner one would think he never growled at an intruder

KERRIES 19 YEARS AGO

Mme. L. Soreel of Oakcrest Kennels takes us to task for carrying at the head of our column a kerry in the rough; she adds that even a kerry must be shown trimmed to bring out the terrier points.

The truth is that the kerry, plucked and conditioned, is winning today and the handler's science takes the blues. For our part, we think that the handler's art improves upon nature, at least for the eye. We yield to the Lady of Oakcrest and the 'modern kerry' will adorn our column beginning next issue. —18 Apr. WHAT THREE THINGS WOULD I LIKE TO SEE CHANGED IN KERRIES?

1. Kerry breeders use greater care in selecting studs; to apply the laws of genetics in their breeding programs and to make intelligent use of close line and inbreeding.

I should like to see breeders spay before selling every bitch pup with a serious fault, lest it be perpetuated in the breed.

2. I should like to see the ambiguities in the new kerry standard corrected.

Whoever heard of a dog standing well up on its hocks? The new standards demands it.

It attempts to define color verbally, which leads to more and more wordage and greater confusion. How much darker a gray blue or a blue gray than deep slate is a very dark blue? The new standard bans very dark blue in a kerry over 18 months old.

I have always believed any shade of blue to be an acceptable color for an adult kerry, so long as it is blue. I still think it is, this new standard notwithstanding. No, I do not own a dark blue kerry.

3. I should like to see the growing number of serious kerry breeders enlarged. In their hands lies the future of the breed. The present general excellence of kerries is a tribute to the thoughtful breeders who have refined the breed since its introduction to this country. One has only to glance at a photograph of most any oldtime kerry to confirm that. Let's swell the ranks of those who really love this grand breed and who will foster and protect its future!—ARTHUR M. HILLERY, Erinblu Ks, Longmeadow Farm, Leominster, Mass.

WHEN A KERRY IS BLUE—AND WHEN IT'S BLACK!

It was very kind of you to ask us to send in a questionnaire on how to improve the kerry breed; however, we feel we are not qualified to answer as we have been in this breed for such a short time.

We hope we never get kennel blind and will always be willing to breed to any outstanding stud, no matter where it is and to whom it belongs.

Another observation we might make is that we feel throughout the country there are too many dark kerries going up.

You will recall the old saying that every dark-colored dog is dark blue to its owner and if it belongs to someone else, it is black. We have seen some very dark dogs go up but perhaps the judge could see a light hair here and there.

However, we believe the kerry judges have been very good. A little later we may be able to venture an opinion when we consider ourselves qualified to voice an opinion.—MELVIN SCHLESINGER, 5300 Foster Rd., Merriam, Kan.

WINNING BLUES

Buster has two best in shows all breeds—Terre Haute and Kankakee.

His latest major win was best terrier at Cincinnati.

Kerry Blue Terriers

The Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Southern California considered the classes at the Long Beach Show as its Specialty event. Forty-six was the entry judged by Thomas Keator. From a class of 12 Specials, Mr. Keator's choice for Best of Breed was Jos. Urmston's Ch. Conrad's Challenge, and he went on to head the Terrier group, also judged by Mr. Keator. Kerryland Kennels took Best Opposite with Ch. Kerryland Perfection, a half sister to Challenge, their sire being Ch. Michael of Som'set. The point winners were Eugene F. Sheridan's Maylew's Rattley Bang (also Best of Winners) and Kerryland Kennels' Kerryland's Hi Gorgeous.

The New England Kerry Blue Terrier Club held its Specialty show at Framingham, Mass. on June 4th with Theo. Hollander judging. There were 13 entries, Best of Breed honors going to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fox' Ch. Fox Hill's Thunderbolt. Best Opposite was John J. Sullivan's Ch. Gorm Countess. Blucote Kennels' puppy, Kilroy's Sally Blue, just a few days short of a year old, took the three points in bitches, and was Best of Winners. Kearnach Kennels' Kearnach Faltha was Winners Dog.

THREE THINGS I SHOULD LIKE TO SEE CHANGED IN KERRIES

1. Kerries were originally bred to be short, cobby dogs, which in turn depicted gameness. I believe the American breeders have lost sight of this in their attempts in producing a refined, stream-lined, fine-boned, sophisticated dog. Kerries should be cobby and well boned.

2. How many times have conscientious breeders had to give the embarrassing answer when a judge puts a black dog up, that their kerry will probably be blue.

The kerry is a blue dog and not a navy-blue dog, and the judges hurt our breed with every black dog that is put up.

3. Kerries were originally the utility game dog, and at one time the pet fighting dog, and if they did not meet that specification, they were not used as breeding stock. The breeders are hurting our dog with the continued use of such for progeny. Our first introduction was such but we were early to learn that this was wrong. Others may not be. Kerries should be game and well mannered. — DR. AND MRS. D. G. STROLE, El Bandido K's., RI, Abilene, Tex.

Topper of Belcrest has passed on. He died in March and would have been fifteen years old in June. By Ch. Ben Edar Bawcock out of Ch. Peggy O'Neil, he was bred by the late Mrs. N. T. Bellinger and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Hillery of Leominster, Massachusetts. Topper sired twenty-nine champion Kerry Blues.

George Proctor

The sudden death of George Proctor on February 25 was a shock and a loss to his many friends.

Mr. Proctor devoted much time to the interests of Kerries and the Kerry Blue Club and edited the club's column in the "Gazette". He was a member of the Board of Governors since 1945 but withdrew his name from re-election last May on account of a heart condition and general poor health.

He rests now at the Rye Cemetery, just a mile away from the place where he was to have judged Kerries at the Westchester show next September.

KERRY BLUE TERRIERS

UNITED STATES KERRY BLUE TERRIER CLUB, INC.

THE AWAITED story has materialized—or at least has jelled enough for publication. As we all know, this column has spent more than a year trying to get a nation-wide round-up on the effect of the amino acids in canine diet. The answer constitutes one of the most important stories which any dog owner can read.

The main trouble has been in getting answers from dog owners. There is one type of dog owner who feeds his dog too much of everything. He is greatly influenced by advertising and by his neighbor's say-so. It is practically impossible for that type to unscramble the dog's diet enough to find out whether this did the dog any good or that did him any harm. Then there is the type who will try anything once and will drop it when the supply on the shelf runs out. Then there is the uncommunicative type—or, maybe, they're just putter-offers. Anyway, they never answer letters unless they see some immediate, personal gain. So, I am fortunate in finding two people, one in Kerries and one in Collies, who have tried the amino acids for over a year and have reached a definite opinion.

The Kerry breeder is Mrs. Gladys Titcomb, South Easton, Mass. We have all seen her Blucote Kerries in the ring and realize that she always puts them down in the pink, with coats in bloom and full of fire. Mrs. Titcomb has bred a dozen or so champions and is always engrossed in the condition of her string. She says:

"I am having the usual good results in my kennel that aminos are credited for. Recently we had one of the older bitches have an open coat and I doubled her daily dosage of the aminos and her coat was tops again in less than a week's time. This bitch is eight years old.

"Everyone of a litter of five bitches (now ten months old) is a good clear blue and improving every day. Previous litters from the same dam changed color

CH. KERRY PROVES HERO

The Committee on Awards has issued Dog World's Award of Merit to Ch. Paddyhack Pinafore, Kerry owned by Miss Thelma L. Taylor, 326 W. 7th St., Owensboro, Ky. for the following outstanding act:

One early morning in Jan. '49, Miss Taylor was aroused from her sleep by Paddy's restless behavior. The dog led her to another bedroom where three members of the family were soundly sleeping. Upon opening the door, Miss Taylor found the air thick with smoke—a fire having originated in a bed, burning thru the mattress, the rugs, and nearly reaching the draperies. It would have been but a few minutes until the fire would have been out of control.

Miss Taylor states—"I believe Paddy prevented a real catastrophe and shall always feel that her loyalty and intelligence deserve our eternal gratitude."

To Handle Imported Dogs

Tom Gately, the professional handler of Wilton, Conn., will campaign for new American owners some of about a dozen dogs he purchased in the British Isles during a trip that began last June. One of these is an Airedale, Ch. Murose Replica, bought for a newcomer to the breed, John Butts of Wichita, Kan. Replica has taken eighteen challenge certificates and a number of best-in-show victories.

Also in the string is a white greyhound, Ch. Parc-an-Cady Lily, a newcomer to the famous Mardormere Kennels of Mrs. George Anderson. Lily is said to be the youngest greyhound to make her championship in England in twenty years. She is sixteen months old. Other new importations include two Welsh terriers, two young bullterriers, a colored and a white; a dachshund, Scottish terrier, Irish terrier and a whippet.

KERRY BLUE

The 'Triple' Need in Kerry Blues

Dear Captain Judy:—Thank you for the opportunity to give my answer to THREE THINGS I SHOULD LIKE TO SEE IMPROVED IN KERRIES.

DISPOSITION—The need for fighting kerry blue terriers no longer exists. Breeders may flatter themselves that they are breeding show stock, but in the last analysis, we are all breeding pets to fill the homes of the average householder.

Dog shows are an advertising medium and sport, the means to an end. The average owner cannot cope with a fighter. He is not an ideal pet. I would say that in five years of breeding (we are admittedly beginners), 75 percent of our sales have been to folks who previously owned a kerry but were dissatisfied with its disposition. This is a most unhealthy condition when we consider the number of owners who were fed up and changed breeds. Given the opportunity, kerries could become a great breed, but one rotten apple may spoil the barrel.

JUDGING—I would like to see more breeders judging and fewer professional judges. Too many of our judges today haven't been in dog breeding for many years and they are still looking for things that were wanted years go. Some steps have been made towards the improvement of the judging but it is not up to the AKC alone. Show-giving clubs must help by finding out under what judges the most people will show. A poor, biased or dishonest judge won't draw many entries as some clubs are finding out. We go far to show under a good kerry judge but won't go around the corner for some.

CONFORMATION—The attitude of a great many breeders (in all breeds) to emphasize or commercialize, certain points in the breed, is leading to dogs which are almost monstrosities. Physical characteristics are so changed as to lead to nervouseness, respiratory ailments, digestive malfunction, inability to whelp naturally, etc., etc.

Kerries being a going breed in this country, haven't yet reached this point but too much emphasis on any one thing can ruin our breed too. Breed, and ask for a dog that is pleasing to the eye (and the standard) from all angles, with no one point exaggerated. — S. Jack Cypress, DITTON PRIORS KS., R1. Washington 3, N. J.

Can Calif. breed good kerries? Here is one answer by J. Tom Keator at Long Beach, the Kerry Blue Ter. Club spec. as the kerry m. Maylew Rattley Bang took 5 pts. Owned and handled by Eugene Sherridan of Los Angeles. By Ch. Maylew Talus x Maylew Townshend Kate. Chandler photo.

Photografer Frasie gave us 3 pictures of the same dog—Blue Bluster of Melbee winning best ter. Louisville; best ter. Rock Island; and the one we're using—BiS Kankakee.

The judge is W. Ross Proctor, who will choose BiS Westminster next Feb. The always-serious looking handler is Doug McClain. Blue Bluster also was BiS Sandusky recently. Owned by the Kansas City petroleum equipment master salesman, Melvin A. Schlesinger.

TWO NOTED KERRIES ARE DEAD

Olive H. Steele, Dexter, N. Y., writes the following: 'One of the last, if not the last, of the champion sons of Ch. Terry Out of the Inkwell and Ch. Sylvia, passed to his reward July 22. He was Ch. Sir Livingston, a true gentleman, and a credit to his breed all his long 14 years of life.

'I would be very happy to know if any of his brothers or sisters are still alive. His most famous brother was Int. Ch. Blue King II of the Foxhill Ks. My mother, the late Lucy E. Horton, bred these dogs and their parents before them, and although he was shown unfrequently after earning his championship, Sir Livingston was a beautiful and near-perfect kerry.'

Ch. Michael of Somerset needs no identification. This top stud and show winner died recently.

Floyde Pierce is breeding some rattling good Kerries. The dog the W. T. Stevens are winning with is a Pierce-bred one.

Some indignant letters regarding judging—some far, some farther. Funny how much more often you'll take pen in hand when you are angry than when you were pleased. The old, and important, question of a Kerry's age came up again, and the judge was given the old runaround by the handler, who said, "About eighteen months", when actually the dog was over two years. The AKC has advised the United State Kerry Blue Terrier Club that a judge should ask the steward for this information, speaking in a tone clearly audible to the ringside and other exhibitors, and being sure he is not close enough to the steward to see the catalogue while the steward consults it.

Somewhere in the heart of Texas a visitor moans about the smallness of many of the Kerries, and the number of dark dogs. Well, all the dogs weren't from Texas, and the judge wasn't either, so you can't blame it all on Texas.

KERRY BLUE

DEFENDS REVISION OF KERRY STANDARD

Relative to the recent article DW published wherein the author decried the ambiguity of the revised kerry standard, I felt, after much consideration, that for the benefit of the 'growing number of serious kerry breeders' this article should be challenged.

The standard was revised after considerable work had been expended, several drafts having been submitted both to the board of directors and to the general membership who voted unanimously upon acceptance. In addition the AKC held hearings wherein non-members had the opportunity of voicing their opinions. The accepted revision therefore represents a clarification and some limitations of several items which heretofore had had far too elastic interpretations.

The author in an attempt at derision inquires 'Whoever heard of a dog standing well up on his hocks? The new standard demands it.' I might chide him a bit on this point for it is my belief that this passage to which he refers was lifted in toto from the fox terrier standard where it has stood since around 1876.

I should like to point out also that as some of the long-legged terriers are in build and action similar to the hunter, the descriptive terminology has been used to describe both, and the horse fanciers as well as dog fanciers have used such expressions as 'Well-ribbed up, knees and hocks close to the ground, standing well up on hocks, etc.' for longer than I can recall.

His query re color seems to be an effort to avoid a sensible interpretation of the wording in the standard and to create some doubt.

Color in kerries is something no one seems to know concisely what it is, and it behooves all veteran breeders to avoid any flippancy and to accord it a studious respect, for the black genes handed down by some otherwise outstanding studs have been the bane of the kerry breeder and have been the reason black has been called everything but.

Insofar as his remark on the present general excellence, possibly the club members felt the standard needed revising to keep abreast of the changes wrought in the breed. While I do not hold that the standard is yet a gem of perfection and that there are not some discrepancies, I believe it will limit some of the flagrant interpretations accorded in the old one. —HORACE J. PERRY, Kearnach K's, RD, Rockland, Mass.

TO THE KERRY!

As a side-kick, a kerry is delightful because he will climb the highest mountain and swim the longest river with you if you go in for that sort of thing.

On the other hand, if you are keen on good old-fashioned indoor sports, such as eating yourself out of shape, a kerry is the dog for you every time. He will guzzle his own food and most of yours, too, and even chew up your food-ration book, just for good measure, and to show you that he's with you all the way.

If there's any trouble going, you will find that your kerry has either started it or is all wrapped up in the middle of it.

Don't let that worry you, because your kerry, like "them thar Russians," is a tough customer, plenty tough and can meet and outsmart all comers and knows how to handle himself in any schemozelle.

There's never a dull moment with a kerry about to keep you on your toes and to keep you practically dizzy with antics and goings on.—OLGA NETHERSOLE.

• TENN. NEW OWNER OF A KERRY THINKS THE KERRY BREEDERS ARE SINCERELY ENTHUSIASTIC

We publish the following letter dated 31 July 1950 from Anker F. Hansen, architect, 212 Adams, Memphis, Tenn.

Since there were no kerries available locally, we turned to Dog World and the Kerry Blue Ass'n Handbook for a possible source. About twenty letters of inquiry were written, and here is the most startling development. We received 17 or 18 of the most enthusiastic, friendly and courteous replies imaginable.

We were astounded at the spirit and enthusiasm of the kerry breeders. A number wrote regretfully that no puppies were available; others described in detail their dogs, pedigrees, etc. We were hard put to make a decision but finally did select a 3-mos. female, the daughter of champions.

You may wonder why all this comment. Other people buy and sell dogs. Nothing unusual about that. For us it was a most human experience.

The happy enthusiastic spirit of the kerry has apparently become a part of their owners.

It was a very enlightening experience and one which we will always appreciate.

Kerry Blue Top Terrier . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

In the February issue of Popular Dogs our Kerry Blue, Ch. Blue Bluster of Melbee is credited with only eleven wins; Bluster has thirteen making him the top winning terrier of the year. We think that this is important and would appreciate your checking his wins.

We look forward to the arrival of Popular Dogs each month and feel that the articles, especially the ones on breeding, have been most helpful.

Melvin Schlesinger
Merriam, Kansas

As Popular Dogs' annual tabulations are made from the official AKC records, we found that the two misplaced wins had been credited to Ch. Blue Buster of Belbec. Checking with the AKC, Mr. Schlesinger was informed that Belbec was a typographical error and that Bluster was credited with thirteen group firsts. We therefore, are pleased to add Cincinnati (Proctor) and Illinois State Fair (Davis) to Ch. Blue Bluster of Melbee's record.—THE EDITOR.

SAYS THAT ENGLISH KERRIES ARE WEAK IN MUZZLE

Kerry Blueprints, edited by Donald F. Flavin, 461 Eighth Av., New York 1, is printed in blue on blue paper and indeed says much in few words.

We quote this about kerries in England, as written by Major W. E. Teager:

"Generally speaking type was not as varied as I have noticed at times.

'As regards common faults I consider that the a kerry can carry a fairly strong skull, it must also carry a powerful foreface to give balance. Too many are weak in this respect, compared with their skulls.

'Another fault that wants eradicating is that of straight stifles. A good stifle and low-set hocks will allow for that drive behind, which is so necessary. Where this conformation is not present, we get that horrible mincing gait."

● KERRY INTEREST IN SOUTHEAST
Elmer B. Elliott Jr., Mid-South K's, 5117 Georgia Rd., Birmingham 6, Ala. would like to hear from folks in the southeast section interested in forming a kerry club.

● BUYS A 4-FIGURE KERRY
Kerry Blueprints reports that Mrs. F. Veigh McEachren has purchased Ch. Michael of Somerset Jr. at a price in the 4-figure group.

● HARTLEY TO JUDGE N. Y. KERRIES
Heywood Hartley will judge the Feb. specialty of the U. S. Kerry Blue Ter. Club in N. Y. City.

DOGS 'GO BACK'

As domesticated as is the dog, he still clings to many of his ancestral instincts—and we prefer to have him do that. Often the dog, even on the rug in front of the fireplace or radiator (except that you should not permit your dog to sleep close to the radiator) turns around several times before he lies down; or he may paw the rug, papers or bedding into a high heap and then lie on it.

He is remembering his countless ancestors who never saw the inside of a human habitation. In the field, he trampled the rough grass down for a better bed; but more so in order that he could lie there hidden by the grass and yet be able to peer thru it or over it in all directions to observe what was approaching—perhaps a beast ready to eat him and ward off its own starvation, or some animal which would be the dog's supper.—DOG SCRAPBOOK.

Preparing the Kerry for the Show Ring

Preparation of the kerry should start well in advance of the show date from four to six weeks depending on the condition of the coat. Some coats condition more readily than others.

The kerry's coat should be well brushed and combed free of all snarls and mats. To do this, use a wire slicker, brushing the tips of the coat against the lay of the coat. This is done again and again penetrating, deeper each time to free the coat.

At the same time the leg hair is handled the same way, brushing

Owned by Blucote Kennels, Middleboro, Mass.

Ch. Blue Bluster of Melbee. Best of Winners also owned by Mr. Schlesinger was Melbee Trifler, a homebred by Ch. Michael of Somerset out of Melbee's Irish Lyric. In bitches, the points went to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Geis' Carnagael Cathy, she by Ch. Kee-Rea's Kilgallon ex Ch. Leading Lady. The Reserves were Gered Kennels' Sr. Puppy, Gered's Jim Dandy and the James Keoughs' Keough's Blue Velvet.

In the East, the Teaneck, N. J., show had a nice entry of 17, largest of any of the last few weeks' eastern shows. Marberlane Kennels' Ch. Marberlane's Masquerador was Best of Breed. Mrs. M. E. McEachiren's Ch. Blarney of Cognewaugh was Best Opposite. S. Jack Cypress' Ditton Priors' Rudraigme was Best of Winners and Mrs. McEachiren's Miss Show Off of Cognewaugh, Winners Bitch.

The breed has made a couple of recent group wins. At Durham, N. C., Mrs. Harry Loynd's Ch. Ace's Ace of Downpatrick topped an entry of 5 and then won the group, and at Springfield, Mo., Mrs. S. S. Webb's Ch. Baroness Blue Kathy was a lone entry but she placed Best Terrier.

Tulsa, Okla., on April 1st had 13 which was the largest entry in the Terrier group. Ch. Baroness Blue Kathy was Best of Breed and fourth in the group, and the V. H. Gilberts' Ch. Gilbert's Sir Robert was Best Opposite. Mr. Gilbert and T. Louis Wolf's Gil-Wolf's College Girl was Best of Winners and Blucote Kennels' Blucote Breeding Tells was Winners Dog.

against the lay of the leg coat. After this is done, a medium long tooth comb is used to comb their hair back into place. If the brushing has been done properly, the comb will go through the coat without effort.

In bathing the kerry, which should be done a day or two prior to the show, a spray should be used rather than just filling the tub so that the dirt is continuously washed out.

The secret of washing a kerry is in the rinsing.

Make sure that all soap has been rinsed out of the coat. A vinegar rinse assures that the soap will be cut out. When the kerry is almost dry, start combing again and keep combing until the coat is dry. This helps put the desired wave in the coat.

Now that the dog is thoroughly combed and dry, we are ready to start trimming. The end result is to have balance and symmetry and a mental picture of how you wish the dog to appear should be constantly kept in mind.

A clipper should be used on the head, ears, and throat. After the back skull has been done with the clippers, the whiskers should be combed forward.

The eye expression is now cut with a scissor from the outside corner of the eye to the tip of the nose.

Still using the scissors, the neck should be run well into the shoulders; the backline should be cut level and the body rounded to accentuate the spring of ribs and depth of brisket.

The quarters should be trimmed neatly to accentuate the bend of stifle and the freeness of movement. The front legs should be kept full but neat and smooth.

The tail should be trimmed leaving approximately ¼ to ½ inch of hair on it.

The kerry is now ready to be taken into the ring.—DOUG McLAIN, professional handler, P. O. Box 136, Libertyville, Ill.

Kerry Blue Terriers

The United States Kerry Blue Terrier Club considered the classes at the Westchester Show on September 10th as its Specialty. Stanley Halle judged and there was an entry of 28. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fox' Ch. Fox Hills Thunderbolt was Best of Breed and J. R. Beebe's Ch. Killarney Kandee Best Opposite. Alice Gratz' Blarney of Cognawaugh was Best of Winners over the dog, Exterminator of Delwin also owned by the Wm. Fox.

Out of a litter whelped last summer, Carl Ellmaker of Buffalo kept three puppies. The litter was sired by the Best in Show winner, Kenmare Lisnalea and was out of his Ch. Valdina Blue Shamrock. Valiant of Ell-Bix handled by Mac Bell has completed his title and at Port Colborne, Ont. Tippety-Witchet of Ell-Bix was Winners and also took points at Northumberland and Durham K. C. at Coburg, Ont., in August. At this latter show, Blue Gossoon of Ell-Bix was shown for the first time, sailing right through to Best of Breed and third in the group.

Miniature Schnauzers

The American Miniature Schnauzer Club held its Specialty Show in conjunction with the Westchester Show at Rye, N. Y., on September 10th. There were 46 dogs in an entry of 60 judged by Mrs. Priscilla S. Deaver. Best of Breed honors went to Dorothy Williams' Ch. Dorem Inspiration with the Best of Winners dog, Benrook Kennels' Benrook Benbow placing Best Opposite. Dorem Kennels' Dorem Dream was Winners Bitch.

Best opposite sex to Challenge in Kerries was the winners bitch, the Floyde Pierce's Kerryland's Hi Gorgeous. Best California-bred, the Park's Ch. Blue Crispin of Delwin, which was not entered in specials. Winners dog and best of winners to the Herbert Lasky's Bassing Thwaighte Blue. Reserve dog, Aletha Conner's Bluecote's Irish Lad. Breed Excerpts Popular Dogs appreciates receiving the many breed publications and club bulletins each month. We enjoy reading them and here present an interesting line, an unusual suggestion or a provoking thought that caught our eye.

Popularity . . .

On Whelping . . .

I give a vitamin K tablet three times a day to a bitch two weeks away from her whelping and follow same two weeks after whelping. There is never any bleeding during the whelping or after and the puppies seem to be delivered very clean. This is the vitamin they use in hospitals before births and after births. —Gladys Titcomb, Kerry Blueprints.

Where's That Cotton . . .

A small piece of cotton secured on the outside of screen windows or doors has a magical way of keeping flies away. I have tried it for more than a month and can vouch for this. No one seems to know why, but flies avoid it like DDT.—Gladys Titcomb, Kerry Blueprints.

And more show stars . . .

Mrs. Edward Sayres' Irish Terrier, Stately Lady, took best in show at the Montgomery County Kennel Club's sixteenth annual exhibit. Held at the estate of G. Harrison Frazier, Jr., near Plymouth Meeting, Pa., Stately Lady was chosen best in show by Joseph P. Sims over a field of 214.

DENLINGER'S BOOK ON KERRY BLUE TERRIER

Denlinger's, book publishers, Silver Spring, Md. present another among their many dog books. This is The Complete Kerry Blue Terrier, written by Dr. E. S. Montgomery, and beautifully done in binding and end sheets with many interesting illustrations.

There are 144 pages on the kerry, and 112 pages on general care and management of the dog. The book is complete on the history of the kerry in England and America, including Ireland. Chapter 8 should prove very helpful—how to judge a kerry blue terrier.

Price of the book is $2.75.

Why The Christmas Puppy Should Be Kerry Blue Terrier

My Dear Mr. Judy—

I had just returned from a dog show circuit when one of my friends, who knows all about dogs, came out to hear about the shows. When all pros and cons had been thoroughly discussed, I said, 'Dog World wants me to tell in less than 200 words why the Christmas puppy should be a kerry blue.

She replied—'I can tell you why it should not be.'

Me: 'Why?'

She: 'Kerry blue puppies make lakes on the linoleum and find boats to sail in them—usually your best slippers.'

Me: 'Highly intelligent. Only the best for a kerry.'

She: 'Kerry blue puppies leave muddy footprints on the rugs.'

Me: 'But kerrys, either young or old, never shed hair.'

She: 'Kerry blue puppies bark louder than grown dogs when people come to the door.'

Me: 'Kerrys have been trained for 200 years to be guard dogs. Even puppies know that instinctively.'

She: 'If they have a kerry the children won't go to bed unless the puppy goes with them.'

Me: 'Kerry pups love children who know how to treat them. Only the best children deserve kerrys.'

You are a judge. Who won the debate?—LUCY S. MORE, Box 1286, Santa Fe, N. M.

CH. BLUCOTE DEIRDRE

Crest is already dam of one champion (Ch. Embargo's First Lady, two firsts and one second in the groups and several BB). In her second litter we are showing Blucote Top at the Mornin'. Crest is grand dam of a point winner and future champion.

Still the only Kerry Blue to win the best in show award at Montgomery All-Terrier Show. Won B.I.S. at New England Specialty first time shown (1948) finishing within four months with B.I.S. Montgomery.

Hilarious produced but two litters. She is dam of 4 champions, grand dam of 9 champions, great grand dam of 4 champions. This past year her get have accounted for many impressive wins: Blucote Larkspur, a 4-pointer; Ch. Kearnach's Faltha, finished with 3 five point shows; his litter sister, Ch. Kearnach's Nena, going up twice to B.B. over famous champions Kenco Cloak and Dagger, 5 points and B.W. at Chicago K. B. T. specialty.

CH. HILARIOUS OF GAYTERRY
(February, 1939 — August, 1940)

Two litter brothers have their Canadian championships, Cha. Blue Cleanson of Ell-Bix (B.B. Can. & K. B. T. Spec.) and Valiant of Ell-Bix. Blucote Citation started on the way and Ker Rea's Stock Broker, Blucote Irish Lad, Blucote Brocrielle and Blucote Smart Alec accounting for themselves. In the West, Imperial Blue Wave is giving an excellent account of herself. Many more with points too numerous to mention in this space.

Kilroy's Sally Blue: shown 8 times in puppy class, won her two major shows and 5 reserve winners. Shown in midwest three straight shows, undefeated by her sex, accounting for more points, B.B. and a second in the group. Watch for her this spring. No Kerry alive surpasses her for showmanship and quality. A coming "great" one.

Dam of Ch. Blucote Quality who finished in 7 straight shows. Brocade has 9 Canadian points, three firsts in the terrier groups and one reserve best in show. Four puppies of her last litter have been undefeated in their classes.

Our Cover

THE West Highland White Terrier, English Champion Furzefield Preference of Clairedale, owned by Mrs. Claire E. Dixon's Clairedale Kennels of Hampton Bays, Long Island is pictured on our cover. She was imported this past summer by Mrs. Dixon shortly after she had completed her English Championship.

Preference was whelped in May, 1949, and is a daughter of Furzefield Piper out of Cassette of Eastfield. She was bred by Mrs. D. P. Allom and purchased from Miss Ella E. Wade who owned her and completed her English title.

Her career in England was most distinguished. Shown five times she won three Challenge Certificates completing her Championship at the important Blackpool show in June when only thirteen months old. She was twice Best of Breed and three times Best Puppy in the breed and one of her Certificates was won at the West Highland White Terrier Club's Show in April at which time she was but eleven months old.

Mrs. Granville Ellis who judged the Blackpool show had this to say in her critique: "A lovely looking bitch; quality all over; short back and tail; just that right expression; went on to win the C. C. and Best of Breed."

In this country Preference's career has scarcely begun though she has been shown several times and has already won Winners Bitch and Best of Breed.

Terrier Breeds

Manchester should suggest speed coupled with strength. The dogs are lightning-fast in movement and very intelligent. No other Terrier is said to equal him in the rat pit. He will weigh from 12 to 22 pounds.

Norwich Terrier—A comparative newcomer to our dog shows, the Norwich has had many friends in this country since the first world war. At that time some were brought over from England and were then called "Jones Terriers" after the name of the breeder. The Norwich is a game, sturdy little wirecoated Terrier weighing from 10 to 14 pounds with a reddish or grizzled color. He is cobby, keen and full of the old Nick. Will go to ground when the occasion offers and makes a good rabbit dog. Splendid little Terriers for the home.

DANDIE DINMONTS
Overhill Kennels, Kansas City, Mo., two Champions, Twinkle of Ruffcote and Overhill Eustace.

SKYE TERRIER

Miniature Schnauzer—One of the few Terrier breeds which have originated in Germany. A very robust, nearly square built dog resembling the larger Standard Schnauzer. Coat is very hard and wirey, "pepper and salt" (including red pepper), in color. Ideal size about 12½ inches in height.

IRISH TERRIER

Scottish Terriers—Another which everyone knows. Pictures on pages 18.

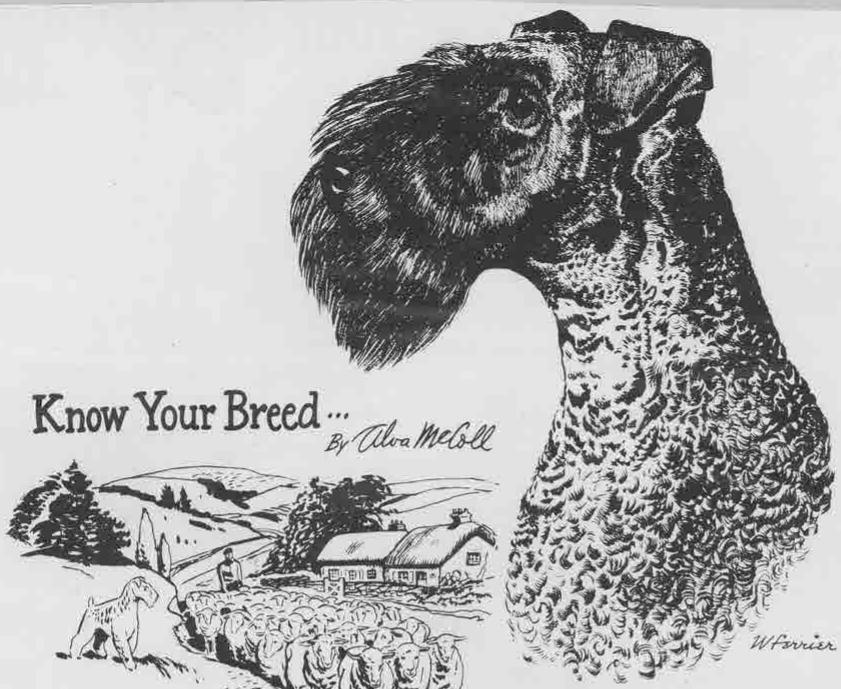
Know Your Breed...

By Alva McColl



THE KERRY BLUE

THE Kerry Blue Terrier originated in Ireland having been first noticed in the mountainous regions of the County Kerry, hence the name. They had been pure bred in this section for many years. Gentle, lovable and extremely intelligent, he is an allround working and utility terrier, used in Ireland and England for hunting all manner of small game and birds. Excellent retrievers, from both land and water. Are used quite successfully for herding sheep and cattle and are without a peer as a watchdog and companion for children. The Kerry first came into the public eye when they were adopted as The National Dog of the Irish Republic. The Kerry is endowed with a remarkable nose and has an instinctive trailing ability. He retrieves equally as well from water as from land and is tireless on the trail of his quarry. He has remarkable endurance and will fight unto death when in combat. The Kerry is adaptable to all manner of farm work, especially in the capacities of the average shepherd dog. He is a willing worker, is easily trained and enters into the spirit of his environs and his work in a whole-hearted manner. Game to the utmost degree, faithful to an unbelievable end, he is the most alert of all terriers. He has an instinctive air of watchful waiting and is quick to discern right from wrong. He is an indomitable foe, to wrong doers, and cannot be beaten as a watch dog and companion. In some instances he has been used in England for police work. Owing to their high degree of intelligence they are most easily trained for all the utility purposes for which they are used.

Weight—Dogs about 33 to 38 pounds. Bitches 32 to 36 pounds.

With 3 pts. for both sexes, Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Tex. on Nov. 5 had 42 dogs entered and V. H. Gilbert's Ch. Gilbert's Sir Robert pictured here with handler Hardin took BIS. BoS was the Webb entry Blue Kathy. Judge James V. Robinson awarded WM and BW to Mel and Virginia Groves' Michael O'Rourke, who finished for the title here; WB Mrs. R. M. Dawson's Distinction's Shady Lady. (Drum photo.)

THREE THINGS I SHOULD LIKE TO SEE CHANGED IN KERRIES

1. I would like to see more emphasis by judges for dark eyes in kerries. It would seem from the judging I've seen recently that the judge set a premium on light eyes, when just the opposite should be true. The standard calls for 'dark, small, not prominent, well placed and with a keen terrier expression,' but how many kerries have such eyes?

If the present judges have their way in disregarding the standard, then one of the most terrier like qualifications for a kerry will be entirely lost to the breed and moons will replace the small dark eyes that are the characteristic of a fine kerry.

2. Also, in the matter of color, there are too many dark coated kerries winning today. Judges are prone to forget that a kerry should be blue not black, tho the standard is most specific in its color designation. The standard also mentions that deviations from the correct blue color should be penalized, but obviously the judges usually have a standard of their own which permits dark kerries, and which should be severely criticized by breeders trying to better the kerry and maintain the standard.

3. I would also like to see more emphasis on movement. In recent shows that I have attended I was shocked at the sluggish movement in the ring. There was a lack of drive by the hind legs and many were far too close to permit easy and free movement. A kerry should move with a drive of power in its hind legs which is almost entirely lacking today. This feeling of power can be developed by road work to an astonishing degree and breeders should place more stress on movement if the kerry is to develop in this country as it has in England. — ROESSLE McKINNEY, Cloca Mora K's, Brooks Rd., New Canaan, Conn.

FEW people have enjoyed greater success with their first canine venture than Mr. Len White. His wonderful Kerry Blue bitch, Sequin of Glenkenny, shown here, has won up to the time of writing, more 1sts at championship shows during 1950 than any other Kerry. Whelped on 28th April 1949, by Ch. Shevaun Blueprint out of Ch. Queen of Kilkenny, Sequin has been shown fearlessly under all judges and has never been out of the money. She dominated the ring by her terrific controlled terrier character, wonderful head, neck, front and deportment.

She commenced qualifying for her Junior Warrant points under Mr. G. P. Ledeboer, who rightly predicted a brilliant future for her at the National Terrier show of 1949. A month later at Crufts, Mr. H. B. Fottrell made her best Kerry puppy over her young half brother, Shevaun Officer. She completed her Junior Warrant points under Mrs. Winnie Barber, who wrote of her, "Took my eye completely, built on lovely lines, real Kerry expression, just right for size sound in every department."

I'm a proud father . . .

"Danny"

"Do you remember me? My name in the catalogs is INT. CH. KENMARE MASTERPIECE, though all my friends know me as "Danny." If you'll excuse my boasting, I believe that I have won more awards than any dog of any breed in Canadian kennel history.

Last year, I was quite honored to win the James Strachan Memorial Plaque presented by the Canadian Kennel Club for the most "Best Canadian-bred dog in show" wins during 1949.

"Bambi"

"But now, meet my son. His name is INT. CH. DANNY'S MASTERPIECE OF TAILTEANN, and he certainly is my masterpiece. "Bambi," as we call him, has more than proved himself "like father, like son."

This young fellow not only had the most Canadian-bred wins in 1950, but also won more Best-in-Shows than any Canadian dog last year. He was top winner at five shows. Since the regulations of the Canadian Kennel Club limit annual awards to one to a breeder, our owner has chosen to accept the W. H. Pym Trophy for "Bambi." This trophy, presented by the Canadian Kennel Club in honor of Mr. Pym's 22 years of service, goes to the dog winning most Best-in-Shows in Canada.

So you see, we're quite a proud family to have had the "Dog of the Year" in Canada for two straight years.

"Bambi, like myself, is bred of a father and daughter combination. I believe that I can justifiably say that we are giving good proof of the sterling quality and selectiveness of the breeding at TAILTEANN.

Now here to our right is a newer kennel-mate . . . himself also an illustrious son of a great father. This is INT. CH. MICHAEL O' SOMERSET, JR., who we like to call "Champ."

Having newly won his International title, we believe you'll be seeing a lot more of "Champ." Look for him in New York this month," along with our grand lady, "Foxhill's Witch."

"Champ"

"It's been a good year for us at TAILTEANN KERRY BLUE KENNELS. But we're looking forward to even finer things ahead. We've some grand matings planned that we hope will give much to our favorite Kerry Blues. If you'd like to hear more about it, may I suggest that you write to our owner, Mrs. F. Y. McEachren, at 4448 Stone Crescent, Caulfeild, B. C., Canada. Or Phone: West 896-Y."

Ch. BEMEL BLUE BEETLE

WITH 23 post-war C.C.s and 2 Junior Warrants it is no exaggeration to dub the Bemel kennels the most successful in the country.

Bemel Calidore (retired from shows after an accident) has sired five English and one American champions and holds the Orr Mor stud cup for the third successive year. Bemel Procyon, son of the great Ch. Bemel Larrikin, is, at 2 years, making a name for himself as a sire. He holds a Junior Warrant and one C.C. with best of breed.

The bitches include Ch. Bemel Pixie's Allanagh, winner of five C.C.s and dam of Larrikin; Ch. Bemel Blue Beetle, winner of seven C.C.s and every available brood bitch cup, and dam of the famous "P" litter (Procyon, Pepper, Punchinello, Promrose, Petal, Picotee). Bemel Picotee, a smart little bitch that has been best bitch in show at her last three open Kerry shows. Bemel Ursula, the sensational 9 months old daughter of Underbridge Uppercut and Beetle, has been best puppy at four out of her five open and championship shows and is well on the way to her Warrant. There are several youngsters to make their debut shortly.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR THE KERRY

In the little more than twenty-five years that kerries have been bred in this country, great strides have been made in improving quality. But in the evolutionary process we must not lose sight of functional ability. While a perfectly put down dog is a thing of beauty, overemphasis can be given to how a kerry looks, rather than to how he could function as a working terrier. You cannot make a sound kerry with a pair of shears.

To improve working ability we must breed for rugged frames, good balance between front and rear assemblies, true color and temperament.

That a rugged frame is indispensable to the development of strength to stand rough going is obvious, yet often overlooked. Many winning kerries today have either a good front, or a good rear assembly, but not both. From a functional standpoint both are indispensable to soundness. If the rear cannot transmit sufficient power, what good an excellent front.

If the front is bad, what good a perfect rear, since the power is wasted. Without perfection at both ends we are better off with less perfect but more equal front and rear assemblies. Color is improving, but too many dark kerries are being shown. Temperament is likewise better, but examples who lack the desirable combination of fiery alertness and good-humored tolerance are still seen. Judges can help the breed by giving proper weight to the above points, and severely penalizing lack of them.

Sales of kerries are on the increase. But we cannot promote the breed by offering untypical specimens to the public. We must teach the novice that our beloved kerries are the best of all breeds, but we must give him only the best!—ROBERT L. WIEL, Kerryall K's, 2250 Broadway, San Francisco, Calif.

New Kerry Standard

Snipey Muzzles Not Wanted

The new head must not be exaggerated. The implication is that heads, particularly muzzles, have been getting too long. The standard, implies a heavier and shorter muzzle.

If anything, preference is to be given to narrow rather than extra-wide skulls.

Beware of Big Coarse Ears

The standard now specifically states that the ears must be V-shaped and small. In short, the standard reads: 'ears small and of medium size.' Presumably the preference is for small ears, carried high and forward.

The standard is a bit wobbly in the matter of fore-face. It wants a full fore-face, falling away below the eyes and yet it wants a fore-face moderately chiseled out to avoid wedginess.

In brief, the jaws, which make up much of the fore-face, should not run flush with the eyes but should fall away noticeably before the eyes.

Getting Away from Big Eyes

In eyes as in ears, the new standard definitely implies that smallness is to be preferred. The old standard reads: 'eyes small to medium size.' The new standard states: 'eyes small, not prominent.'

The darker the eye the better; any eye showing a tinge of yellow is a fault.

Bullneck Kerries Are Penalized

The new standard gives a little better statement on the neck than did the old one. It should be 'moderately long;' this puts a penalty on the short-necked kerries now seen in the show ring.

No more wide-chested kerries for the new standard especially asks for a deep chest 'of but moderate breadth.'

More Daylite Under Kerries

There is nothing particularly changed in the matter of legs except that the new standard states that they should be of goodly length—more than just long enuf to reach the ground. They remain heavy boned.

However, there is a tendency toward foxterrier fronts for the new standard asks for short pasterns hardly noticeable.

Round and Thick Feet

Feet now must not be big altho they must be round; they must be thick, 'good depth of pad.' The nails remain black.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR THE KERRY

To answer your request, I can only give you my personal opinion, for whatever it is worth—and I am not the oracle of kerrydom.

I propesy there is much good ahead for the kerry. There are a few obstacles to be surmounted first. There are many fine people interested in this grand breed; serious minded people who love the breed and have its welfare at heart. Experience will help them, and myself I hope, breed better kerries.

Happily, the breed has not suffered from a great surge of popularity, as too many breeds do. Because of the grooming and care a kerry requires, I do not think this will happen. Kerries have enjoyed a moderate but steady growth in popularity as more people become acquainted with the merits of the breed. This is a healthy sign.

Among the obstacles is the present insistence upon a light blue kerry. Copies of old English and Irish standards which I have do not demand this. Black was barred, and properly so; any shade of blue was acceptable. A recent kerry article in Dog World bemoans the prevalence of light eyes. When the insistence upon light colored kerries was first voiced a very famous handler said to me, 'Wait until they start mating these light colored kerries together and watch the blazing yellow eyes and washed-out, grayish-white coat color appear.' Apparently he knew whereof he spoke.

Too many breeds are having difficulty in defining how light is light as it applies to eye color. In our breed coat adds another color to be defined. Coat texture also is not always what it should be. I have seen winning dogs with something far from proper coat texture. Another improvement to be desired is in hindquarters. Too many move close behind. Too many are built with narrow hindquarters that do not permit them to do otherwise. This fault can be bred out by careful selection, after which plenty of exercise will develop power and drive and we will begin to see more and more kerries that really move. The foregoing are the major obstacles I see presently facing the breed.

They can be surmounted. And when they are, the breed will benefit greatly. Hail to the splendid kerries of the future!—ARTHUR M. HILLERY, Erinblu K's, Longmeadow Farm, Leominster, Mass.

IS THAT A KERRY BLUE?

That is the question which folks on the street may put to you when you walk down the street with your standard schnauzer. Bulletin No. 10 of the Schnauzer Club of Am. says on this point: Be grateful for the interest shown. This is your cue, your opportunity to tell people about the breed, to let them learn for themselves what a friendly, affectionate dog the schnauzer is

KERRIES LIVE LONG

One last point is the remarkably long, active life of the breed. A kerry remains youthful . . . a real companion . . . years longer than most breeds. Those who know from experience how attached one becomes to a good dog will realize how important a characteristic this is.—K. B. T. C. leaflet.

• KERRY SAVES HOME FROM FIRE BY WARNING BARK

Early on the morning of December 11, '50, Rev. Owen was awakened by the furious barking of Butch. Upon investigation he discovered that a fire had gathered headway in the basement and there was danger of the entire house being destroyed. Butch's timely warning made possible a call to the fire department just in time.

This again the dog, man's best friend, reveals his instinct of protection and adds to the many instances of where the dog saved human lives and avoided the destruction of property.

DON'T BORROW DOG WORLD SUBSCRIBE FOR YOUR OWN COPY

Why don't we all buy Dog World?
As soon as I get my Dog World, they all rush in with glee—
"Oh, I see you have your Dog World
There is something I'd love to see.
"You surely must have read it now,
Just what is the date?"
Then I try to tell them—it got in the news room late.
Can't I take it home tonite—
I'll bring it back tomorrow?"
Then I don't see it for several days
Much to my sorrow.
Then someone tears out a page,
They are sorry, but what can they do.
But it is just where that berzel
I wanted to see, should be looking out at you.
Then the next one borrows it and back it comes again.
"Gee, I'm awfully sorry, the pup got it again!"
away on the shelf?
Then I could have my Dog World

Beverly-Riviera Kennel Club

May 19 and 20, a two day show on the lovely grounds of the Miramar Hotel in Santa Monica. One day benching, which means three groups will be judged Saturday and three Sunday. There will be a Bullterrier and a Shepherd specialty, judged by Dr. E. S. Montgomery of Pennsylvania, and Arthur Zane of Honolulu respectively. The adjacent bungalows, and the excellent refreshments provided for by the hotel need no further description here. Dave Upright, Ernie Ferguson and Co., have made Beverly-Riviera one of the most picturesque and attractive shows to be found anywhere. On the Friday night there will be a judges dinner at the Miramar and all fanciers and exhibitors are welcome, $3.75 per plate, limited to 300. Those planning to stay at the Miramar are advised to reserve their bungalows now.

THE Grand Old Man in Kerries, Ch. Downsview Duellist, 15 years old on October 21, and the only surviving pre-war champion in the breed, is still enjoying life. He is by that great stud dog, Dunloe-Underbridge Uskinboy, ex Ben-Edar Belsinda, foundress of the Downsview kennel and from whom all are directly descended in tail female. Duellist's show career was cut short by the war, but he won about 150 awards including five c.c.s, five reserve c.c.s, ten times best puppy, 11 times best of breed, and a host of cups, most valued being the Orr-Mur stud dog cup awarded on progeny's wins. He sired a c.c. winner in his first litter, and the first Kerry to win a Junior Warrant; an international champion in his second litter, both in 1937; and in his last litter, in 1946, another champion. In spite of being very little used during the war years, at the time of writing (September, 1950), seven English dog champions and six English bitch champions are descended from him on one or both sides. Duellist's daughter, Ch. Downsview Drama, appeared at Witney after a year's rest from the ring, and won six firsts and best in show. At her only other outing this year she was reserve c.c. at Richmond. In her first litter she produced Ch. Downsview Dramatic (owned by Mr. Thomas) and Downsview Donah. Of her second litter, the only puppy shown so far is Mr. Ledeboer's Acquire Estrella, of whom Miss Bayuard, judging at Sandy, wrote, "one of the best puppies I have ever handled."

CH. DOWNSVIEW DUELLIST
K.C.S.B. 903 T.T.

Downsview Dividend, a half-brother of Drama's, by Ch. Carrona Blue Prince, won his first c.c. at Birmingham and best of breed. His first puppies out have been winning for their owners, and there are good ones to follow. He is a most reliable stud dog and on looks and breeding must be a valuable sire since the majority of bitches at present come from the Uskinboy line, while Dividend is g.-g.-g.-grandson of Ch. Princeton Hell-of-a-Fellow in direct tail male. At stud to accompanied bitches only, five guineas.

Downsview Damaskin is said to be one of the best of Ch. Bemel Larrkin's sons, ex Downsview Dawn, only daughter of the lovely wartime winner Downsview Damask. His first puppy out, Downsview Discretion, has been winning for Mrs. Bourne, and he shares with Ch. Acquire Best Blue, the paternity of the lovely puppy, Acquire Estrella. Opinion amongst breeders seems equally divided as to which dog is the sire! At stud to accompanied bitches only, four guineas.

Drama's dam, Downsview Denouement, said to be one of the best bitches in the country if she would have shown, won both the Brood Bitch cups in 1948, and is also the dam of Downsview Dividend, c.c. winner; Downsview Discretion (owner, Mr. and Mrs. Bourne), described by a judge as "a model"; Embee Downsview Doric; Downsview Dreenagh; and Downsview Dahlia. She is now retired to a dog's idea of Paradise in Scotland, with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, who also own the winning puppy Downsview Damson. Downsview Donah, litter sister to Ch. Downsview Dramatic, won three firsts at Cheltenham after a year's rest, followed by first and second and best of sex at Sandy, and reserve c.c. at Brighton to Dramatic. Incidentally, it was the Brighton judge, Mrs. Barber, who made their dam, Drama, best in show at Witney. In her first litter she bred Downsview Delightsome, who won on her debut for her new owners, Misses J. and J. Whewell; and in her second litter, also by Dividend, Downsview Dancing Girl (owner, Mr. Snowden).

CH. BLUCOTE CREST OF THE WAVE

Crest is already dam of one champion (Ch. Embargo's First Lady, two firsts and one second in the groups and several BB). In her second litter we are showing Blucote Top of the Mornin'. Creat is grand dam of a point winner and future champion.

CH. BLUCOTE DEIRDRE

Still the only Kerry Blue to win the best in show award at Montgomery All-Terrier Show. Was B.I.S. at New England Specialty first time shown (1948) finishing within four months with B.I.S. Montgomery.

CH. HILARIOUS OF GAYTERRY
(February, 1939 — August, 1940)

Hilarious produced but two litters. She is dam of 4 champions, grand dam of 9 champions, great grand dam of 4 champions. This past year her get have accounted for many impressive wins. Blucote Larkspur, a 4-pointer; Ch. Kearnach's Faithful, finished with 3 five-point shows. Als litter sister, Ch. Kearnach Neno, going up twice to B.B. over famous champions, Kerico Cloak and Dagger, 3 points and B.W. at Chicago K. B. T. specialty.

Two litter brothers have their Canadian championships, Ch. Blue Gassoon of Ell-Bix (B.B. Canadian K. B. T. Spec.) and Valiant of Ell-Bix. Blucote Citation started on the way and Ker Rea's Stock Broker, Blucote Irish Lad, Blucote Brocatelle and Blucote Smart Alec accounting for themselves. In the West, Imperial Blue Wave is giving an excellent account of herself. Many more with points too numerous to mention in this space.

Kilroy's Sally Blue (pictured at 9 months), was shown 8 times in puppy class, won her two major shows and 5 reserve winners. Shown in midwest three straight shows, undefeated by her sex, accounting for more points, B.B., and a second in the group. Watch for her this spring. No Kerry alive surpasses her for showmanship and quality. A coming "great" one.

Dam of Ch. Blucote Quality who finished in 7 straight shows. Brocade has 9 Canadian points, three firsts in the terrier groups and one reserve best in show. Four puppies of her last litter have been undefeated in their classes.

Kerry Blue Terriers

Two Kerry Blue Terriers have chalked up Best in Show wins at recent All Breed shows. The William Fox' Ch. Maureen of Delwin went clear through to the top at the Yuba City, California, show on April 29th. The Kerry entry was small here.

Melvin Schlesinger's well known Ch. Blue Bluster of Melbee placed Best in Show at the Lake Shore event held at Hammond, Ind., on April 22nd. They had a good breed entry of 19, tieing with Scotties for highest Terrier entry in the show. Best of Opposite Sex to Blue Bluster was the James Keogh's Keogh's Blue Velvet, and Best of Winners went to the Fred Anderson's Azure Blue of Paddywack, a son of Korocan of Kennare ex Ch. Dorinda of Delwin. Blue Velvet is by Ch. Ker-Rea's Kilgallon out of Keogh's Buttons 'n' Bows.

Best of Breed—Indianapolis
CH. KOKOMO

Owned by Ogden A. Geilfuss, Chicago, Ill. Judge Thomas H. Carruthers III; Doug McClain handling. This show completed Kokomo's title. He finished undefeated by winning four four-point shows.

The Old Dominion Show at Fort Hunt, Virginia, turned up with 17 entries and Harold Loynd's Ch. Ace's Ace of Downpatrick went through to a second spot in the group, with J. W. Mills' Ch. Kearnach Nemo, Best Opposite. Wa-Kerry Kennels' Minstrel man O'Wa-Kerry was Best of Winners, and the same owners' Deuces Wild O'Wa-Kerry took the points in bitches.

The entry went to 19 the next day at Baltimore County, Ace's Ace placing Best of Breed and third in the group, Mrs. Esther Keller's Boholo's Sharon of Cork was Best of Winners and Best Opposite, and Minstrel Man was Winners Dog.

Mrs. James M. Austin

Mrs. Madeline Horne Austin, wife of James M. Austin, died June 2nd at her home in Old Westbury, L. I. N. Y. Mrs. Austin, had been ill for some time. A member of numerous Dog Clubs, both her kennels and her stables were famous throughout the country. Her Pekingese, Ch. Che Le Matson's Catawba won thirty-one Best in Show awards, an all-time high for any Toy. Mrs. Austin was keenly interested in Field Trials and had done much to further this activity in this country. She was known on both sides of the Atlantic as a judge. Beside her husband, Mrs. Austin is survived by a son and three daughters by a former marriage.

THE Committee and Officials send Greetings to all members and friends at home and abroad.

The first club for the breed in England is continuing its excellent policy of popularising the breed, by running open benched shows, catering for every type of exhibitor.

It is fortunate that the committee members are drawn from all parts of the country, thus enabling the novice to obtain first-hand advice on any subject connected with the breed.

The club has an impressive list of cups and trophies which are regularly competed for, and which by an excellent system are able to be held, from show to show, by members who have won them.

The chairman or hon. sec. will be pleased to deal with all enquiries.

The Breezehurst

THE star of this old-established kennel is Sherwyn Strongbow, whose illustration appears. He has won six firsts at three ch. shows, and at Chester secured his first c.c. This grand young dog is placed at stud at a fee of 4 guineas. He is by Ch. Liffey of Lisdu, ex Oscar Calma Julia.

Many promising youngsters are being retained in this kennel, several have already made their presence felt in local variety classes.

Kerry Blue Kennels

Sales during the year have been excellent, stock being sold to old and new breeders, and some Kerries have been exported. Stock can be seen by appointment on application to:

LISNALEA
Kerry Blue Terriers

THIS kennel has had a very successful year, Ch. Lisnalea Enskipperella and her son, Lisnalea Enterprise, winning both c.c.s at Cruft's. The latter had the distinction of winning one of the strongest open dog classes since the war which included five champions and two other c.c. winners.

Other inmates of this kennel have also upheld the "Lisnalea" prefix, including L. Eaglet (now in Germany), best in show at Southend, L. Elanna on the few occasions shown has won well.

Four different dogs or bitches from this kennel have won every coat and colour special competed for during 1950.

Lisnalea Enterprise (two c.c.s, eight reserve c.c.s) is at stud to approved bitches, fee, 5 guineas plus return carriage. His progeny are winning at open and ch. shows.

Puppies by Enterprise and out of the winning bitches are occasionally for sale. All enquiries receive personal attention.

CLAREGATE, CLIFFORD STREET, WOLVERHAMPTON

THIS kennel has had a most successful year. The bitch, Ch. Downsview Dramatic, owner, Mr. F. F. Thomas, has gained her title and now holds five c.c.s. She has a long lean head, beautiful outline, and a really blue coat of the correct texture.

A promising youngster, Wulfreda Bemel Buttons and Bows has made her presence felt in the ring, being the winner of many prizes at open and ch. shows, including two firsts at Brighton ch. shows in September under Mrs. W. Barber. Both Dramatic and Buttons and Bows are shortly to be mated, and puppies will be available in 1951.

That great headed dog Ch. Grandee of Gandria, also a lovely blue is in great form and is placed at stud to approved bitches at a fee of £5 5s., plus return carriage.

The inmates of this kennel are always presented in immaculate condition—due to personal attention—and are bred from the cream of the Kerry bloodlines.

Enquiries for stud and stock for sale are attended to by Miss Finch personally.

DOWNSVIEW DIVIDEND

C.C. and Best of Breed, Birmingham, under Leo Wilson. Born 22/2/47. Half-brother to Ch. Downsview Drama. (See Christmas Review, Page 56.)

With great reluctance, I have decided to offer the above for sale to a country home or one not in the middle of a busy town, where he will live indoors and be treated as one of the family. He is very affectionate and obedient and full of life, but just cannot stand the very noisy conditions he is now living under. He is a very good stud dog and clever with different bitches and, as Mr. Wilson says in his report, should undoubtedly get his stride in the coming year. The right home being more important than the price, he is offered at the absurdly low figure of £50, provided I am satisfied he will be happy.

ALSO

DOWNSVIEW DONAH

Litter sister to Ch. D. Dramatic. Born 22/6/47. (By Underbridge United)

(also sire of U. Upperent, 2 c.c.s) ex Ch. D. DRAMA-DONAH, was res. c.c. at Brighton to her sister, Dramatic, under Mrs. Barber, and has been Best of Sex on other occasions. An excellent breeder of really typical puppies, due in season this month. She is ready for sale as she and her mother have started a long and under present conditions it is impossible to keep two bitches that cannot meet. A very sharp guard, Donah is obedient and devoted to those she knows. Can do even better yet in the ring and would be a marvellous foundation bitch for a new kennel. To a home where there are no children and she will be part of the family and not a kennel dog, will be sold for 30 gns a third of her value. See Christmas Review Number Page 56.

Phyllis Dabb of the Northern Kerry Club has completed the championship of her Kerry, Dabblu Dorney.

ACQUIRE Kerry Blue Terriers

THE amount of available space necessitates an accent on quality rather than quantity, so that no Kerry is kept here that does not come up to ch. show standards. Pride of place is held by Ch. Acquire Best Blue, whose record in the breed of winning every Kerry puppy and junior class he competed for he has fully confirmed by winning to date six c.c.s, although not yet three years old. His c.c.s were won under Mrs. Creasy, Mr. Gunning, Mr. Leo Wilson, Mrs. Barlow, Mr. Tom Scott, and Mr. Dempsey, as good a panel of specialist and all-round judges as could be named. At a recent show he received the award for best movement, and he is the only champion to win the Dragon head cup. Best Blue is bred from a winner producing line, and his first puppies are showing that he is carrying on the good work. His most recent triumph was to go best in show at Wimbledon open show in London, in an entry of more than 1,100, which contained 23 champions of various breeds, satisfying three judges.

Acquire Estrella has just commenced her show career and at three successive shows has been best puppy (Sandy open, and Birmingham ch.) and best junior (K.B.T.C. of E.). Two of the judges predicted that she would go to the top when full confidence had been gained.

Acquire Venus (K.C.S.B. 987 AG), litter sister to Best Blue, although overshadowed by her brother when a youngster, and since busy with maternal duties, has won 14 firsts at ch. and open shows and will continue to be shown and bred from.

Acquire Moonlight (K.C.S.B. 1651 A.G.) has won two reserve c.c.s and completes the present complement. At least two litters will be bred in early 1951, and puppies will be available which are fully expected to maintain the present standard.

Kerry, Ch. Conrad's Challenge Best in Show

It was the writer's privilege to send this great Kerry Blue from Terrier group to catch the eye of George Steadman Thomas for the final award. G.S.T. got a grand ovation from the gigantic crowd when he stepped into the ring to select the finalist, he was very distinguished looking, silvery hair and moustache, in formal attire, he looked the part, exuding assurance, and all judge, every dog had its opportunity to go through its paces, when he motioned the Kerry Blue to the coveted BIS marker on the red carpet the crowd gave judge and dog a tremendous ovation.

New Kerry Standard

Snipey Muzzles Not Wanted

The new head must not be exaggerated. The implication is that heads, particularly muzzles, have been getting too long. The standard, implies a heavier and shorter muzzle.

If anything, preference is to be given to narrow rather than extra-wide skulls.

Beware of Big Coarse Ears

The standard now specifically states that the ears must be V-shaped and small. In short, the standard reads: 'ears small and of medium size.' Presumably the preference is for small ears, carried high and forward.

The standard is a bit wobbly in the matter of fore-face. It wants a full fore-face, falling away below the eyes and yet it wants a fore-face moderately chiseled out to avoid wedginess.

In brief, the jaws, which make up much of the fore-face, should not run flush with the eyes but should fall away noticeably before the eyes.

Getting Away from Big Eyes

In eyes as in ears, the new standard definitely implies that smallness is to be preferred. The old standard reads: 'eyes small to medium size.' The new standard states: 'eyes small, not prominent.'

The darker the eye the better; any eye showing a tinge of yellow is a fault.

Bullneck Kerries Are Penalized

The new standard gives a little better statement on the neck than did the old one. It should be 'moderately long;' this puts a penalty on the short-necked kerries now seen in the show ring.

No more wide-chested kerries for the new standard especially asks for a deep chest 'of but moderate breadth.'

More Daylite Under Kerries

There is nothing particularly changed in the matter of legs except that the new standard states that they should be of goodly length—more than just long enuf to reach the ground. They remain heavy boned.

However, there is a tendency toward foxterrier fronts for the new standard asks for short pasterns hardly noticeable.

Round and Thick Feet

Feet now must not be big altho they must be round; they must be thick, 'good depth of pad.' Toe nails remain black.

Wm. F. Fox of Calif. handles his kerry Ch. Fox Hill's Thunderbolt to BIS at annual show of U. S. Kerry Blue Ter. Club in N. Y. City Feb. 11; J. Heywood R. Hartley, right. Man on left not identified.

The modern staf differs from the modern bulldog primarily because the staf's bull-baiting ancestors differed from the modern bulldog, and not because of any heavy terrier influence.

I agree with Mr. Williams that a low-stationed staf is wrong just as I believe a staf with an extremely wide chest is wrong. In my opinion the answer to all such questions is in the following—the conformation of a staf is that which produces the maximum strength and agility with neither sacrifice for the other.—W. M. DOGS TEACH KINDNESS

Kindness is man-made; it is not inherited; this noble quality must be instilled anew into each and every child as a separate, individual project.

We remarked early in our volume on the presence of a kind heart, of consideration for the other person, be he strong or weak, as an index of true civilization. Therefore, that the presence of dogs and other pets, in the home tends to instill kindness and regard for other living things, is an important consideration.—D.S.

We own two sisters that are 12 years old, in perfect physical condition with the exception of failing eyesight. One is more affected than the other and is responding more slowly, but in the five weeks I have faithfully adhered to the prescription I can see marked improvement in the one not so far gone. My only regret is not knowing of this treatment sooner.

In hopes of helping others when you see the first signs of age affecting their eyesight in the form of a film, here's what you do. Give: Squibb-B Complex Vitamin Tablets (2 daily); Squibb-Ascorbic Acid 100 mg (1 daily); Squibb-Vitamin A, 25,000 U.S.P. Units (1 daily).

Give the above faithfully every day and make life pleasanter, longer for our faithful friends.—MRS. ANTHONY NEARY, 465 Lake Avenue, Greenwich, Conn.

One of the professional handlers who has always had a special love for Kerries, was grumbling about the light-colored coats. "Let's change the name," says he, "to Kerry Terrier, and forget all this blue nonsense!" He proceeded to cuss the light ones, the printable parts of the dialogue running something like this, "The cotton-coated, flat-footed, long bodied, light-eyed buggers!" In fact, he swears those faults are tied together, and as for him, for twenty years he's liked the darker dogs with the keen expression, and says he still does. I'm an optimist, but I still think we can breed dark-eyed dogs with beautiful blue-gray coats with no shade of white; turning by a year or 18 months, without getting them too light in coat color or texture or eye.

• "I had a most pleasant talk with Mrs. Mary Ryan, late of Dublin, Ireland. She had her Irish Ch. Oscur Calma entered for exhibition only so that the Eng. breeders could see the type desired in Ireland today. Calma is a litter brother to W. L. Days' Ch. My Luck.

Charles G. Hopton

Charles G. Hopton, one of America's best known and most colorful judges died June 9th at the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn. Scheduled to judge at this year's Morris and Essex, Mr. Hopton was unable to fulfill the assignment because of illness and it was feared then that he might not recover. He was past eighty years years of age.

CHARLES G

Mr. Hopton who styled himself "The Old Fossil" first came to this country in 1893 to visit the World's Fair. He intended to return to England in six weeks, but stated he became so infatuated with the famous "Little Egypt" side show, he proceeded to embark in the oriental rug business with Lord and Taylor. He brought his first dogs over that same year, establishing his Rodney Kennels at East Orange, N. J. It was at this Kennel that Charlie bred his famous Bulldog, L'Ambassaduer, the first American-bred of its breed to win the title and the first to compete in England. Importer, breeder, exhibitor and judge are the roles which Charlie Hopton played during the many years he was with us.

He imported some of the country's most famous dogs and his name became known on both sides of the Atlantic. He was the first man to go from America to Britain to judge a dog show. This was in 1899 when he judged in Dublin. In later years he judged at practically all of the country's most important shows, and some years ago, one of the English publications listed who they considered the ten greatest judges of all times, and Charles Hopton's name was included.

Mr. Hopton's many activities included writing and a keen interest in art. He was at one time part owner of the Southern Fancier, which later became Field and Fancy and in 1901, he served as Editor of the Kennel Club Gazette. For many years he was an Associate Editor of several well known class publications.

I doubt if anyone living really knew more about dogs than Charles Hopton and this knowledge was coupled with a keen and sometimes fighting wit. His interest in dogs, in fact all animals, was deep seated and he frequently wrote letters to newspapers decrying the careless disregard of animals often exhibited in large cities. Mr. Hopton is survived by a brother and nephew in England. His funeral was held in Brooklyn on June 11th.

WHY I PREFER THE KERRY

HAVE YOU ever seen a bounding, bouncing ball of blue lightning? Then you will understand why I prefer the kerry?

HAVE YOU ever seen a kerry puppy's expression or the greeting in his tail when he is first introduced to a child?

HAVE YOU ever noticed his spontaneous love for people, or his delight when he is allowed to be with them?

HAVE YOU found out that he is an ideal pet for home or country? He is equally adept outdoors, hunting on land or water; or in the home, where he leaves no doggy odor nor telltale hairs on the floor and furniture.

HAVE YOU ever seen how quick he is to learn, how anxious he is to please his master?

HAVE YOU ever noticed his courage? He will not look for a fight but once drawn into one, he will not hold back, and you can lay long odds on him to win.

HAVE YOU ever enjoyed the privilege of his undying loyalty and devotion? Brother, if you have, you KNOW why I prefer the kerry!—MRS. ROBERT CUMMING.

KERRY EARS

The commonest fault right now (this written in '49) is too high an ear-set. Owners and handlers should be more careful about this. The standard reads: 'Ears—small to medium size, of moderate thickness, carried forward close to cheeks.'

Ears that comply with the 'close to cheek' qualification are set not more than a fraction of an inch above the top-line of the head. Sticking-up ears are really wrong, and should not be encouraged.

Other common faults are the 'dead meat' or hound ear, the 'rose' or greyhound ear, tulip ears and even worse, prick ears.—GEO. D. PROCTOR.

● WHO WAS THE GENTLEMAN?

Pres. Botho Lilienthal of the U.S. Kerry Blue Ter. Club identifies the man in picture on page 103 of March DW. He says:

'The 'Man on left' was the Hon. Garth Healy, Consul General of Ireland who, on behalf of the Irish Embassy, Washington, presented the impressive trophy shown in the picture, donated from Ireland— thus bringing about one of the very few international trophy events in dogdom.'

WHY 72 IS AN IMPORTANT NUMBER

DW is attracting national and international attention because of the outstanding record it has made in advertising. Of the 7,600 magazines in America, only one other (Popular Mechanics) carries more paid classified advertising.

There is not another magazine in any field which has as many yearly contracts as DW has.

Of the 2,604 paid average per issue, 1,421 are on yearly contracts signed in advance. Most advertising men would consider this the 'dream of their lives.' It has been an actuality in DW's office for several yrs.

This month, beginning with the Aug. issue, we present 72 new or renewed display ad contracts for a yr signed in advance. Here is the list lead by the Toledo printer CHARLES QUETSCHKE, CASWELL WIRES starting the 17th yr. (that is a mistake for in reality Charlie has been with us about 20 yrs).

VITALITY MILLS of which sales mgr. A. C. Adams is now vice pres. begins the 14th yr for Vitality foods.

We are happy to start the 'lucky 13th' yr of advertising for the oldtime airedaler A. L. ZECKENDORF.

MARIE STONE has made her scotties world famous; KINCLAVEN K'S begins the 12th yr with this issue.

Starting the 11th yr are the ELLENDALE DOBES, DACHS and TRG. in Ia. VALLEY CITY starts the 11th yr for ROWENA FOODS. Up in Mass. are the HAMPTON HILL SEALIES of MRS. JOSTEN.

There are 4 in the 9th yr 'class'—MR. & MRS. ROCKEFELLER, ROCK RIDGE BEDLINGTONS in Conn. GLADYS TITCOMB in Mass., home of kerry chs. In Chicago the CONSOLIDATED CHEMICALS, DOG-TEX. And our old friend DR. McINNES (both MD & veterinarian) in Charleston, SCOTTIES and COCKERS.

The BLACK BEAUTY K'S, one of the oldest BELGIAN SHEEPDOG K'S in America, start the 8th yr along with DENLINGER BOOKS; STOCKDAL DALS in Ga.; BLACK FOREST SHEPHERDS (Mrs. Zingler) in Wis.; and the MacKINNEY MINSCHNAUZ and SPRINGERS in Ill.

'Lucky 7' presents the STEWART BOXERS in Tex. 'LOWER CASE' KILBURN DOBES in Pa. SKARDA SHEPHERDS in N. M. And NEVJOY TOYMANS in Ky.

STEPHEN FIELD has made his COLLIES nationally famous; he begins the 6th yr along with GEIS KERRIES in Pa. and McKELVY SPRINGERS in Pittsburgh.

Carrying on the OORANG AIREDALES in Ohio are the SPORTSMEN'S SERVICE. JUDGE O'CONNER SMOOTHS in Rochester, N. Y. NUNNALLY DANES in Ga. TRAINER SCHWARZ in N. J. All 4 start the 5th yr.

Sales on a national basis in America today require good merchandising. These advertisers 'look ahead' for 12 mos.—they plan with long-range vision. DW will give their sales message a wide circulation in all states and 37 foreign countries. May the coming 12 mos. be their best yr in business.—O. DAKAN, Adv. Mgr., 3323 Michigan, Chicago 16.

CHAS. G. HOPTON DIES

Charles G. Hopton 78, one of the world's foremost dog judges for 50 years died Sunday, June 10, in New York. He was the first American judge to officiate in Europe and is credited with introducing French Bulldogs and Airedale Terriers to the United States. Mr. Hopton's knowledge of dogs was tremendous. A good sportsman, and a fine judge. We shall miss him.

A typical "Irishman" from the County Kerry—the Kerry Blue Terrier.

This is the same Kerry that took best of breed at recent Morris & Essex event.

A GREAT KERRY IS DEAD

We are publishing the following letter verbatim from Arthur M. Hillery, Erinblu Ks, Leominster, Mass., because it has historical importance in the kerry breed:

Topper of Belcrest has gone to his reward. He died March 3 of natural causes brought on by his advanced age. He would have been 15 years old in June.

Topper was by Ch. Ben Edar Bawcock out of Ch. Peggy O'Neil. He was whelped June 19, 1936. His breeder was the late Mrs. N. T. Bellinger.

Topper was shown only once or twice as a puppy, I believe. His great value to the breed was as a prepotent stud. He was the sire of the following notable kerries (26 chs.):

Michael of Somerset. Sirarno's Sophisticated Lady. Erinblu's Delwin Delight. E. Delwin Debutante. E. Breezy Lady.

E. Sudden Squall. E. Typhoon. Escondido Rennaissance. Esc. Swanky. Esc. Surprise.

Esc. Clown. Bluecote Deirdre o'Kerr-Wel-Aire. Bluecote Crest of the Wave. Topman. Toplady.

Blue Baron II. That's That of Delwin. Dorenda of Delwin. Masterkey of Mersdale. Kerrypatch Top Hat.

King Bee of Whiskerry. Dabster of Delwin. Dollar Dictator of Delwin. Sirarno's Notorious Lady. Sirarno's Instigator. K Blu T's Irish Rebellion.

Someone may know of others, in which case I should be glad to hear. I know of no kerry in the history of the breed that has sired as many champions as are listed above. Old Topper was a great old boy—and a gentleman.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN PICKING PUPPIES FOR TYPE IN A KERRY LITTER

Picking the 'best' puppy in the litter at an early age is not at all difficult, provided you have some sound knowledge of the sire and the dam of the puppy. There usually are two or even three puppies that are 'best' at an early age. I will stick out my neck and even say I can pick the best puppy at 24 hours of age. The skeleton of a new born puppy tells a great deal. You can see the bone structure, the shape of the bone (should be more round than flat). There is also the length of neck, the length of the stifle showing and the shape of ribs.

At three months you can tell how the ears are placed on the skull. Size is not definitely established until later, for in my kennel small ears at three months can grow a lot more, while well placed larger ear can actually end up the smallest in size. Color of eye is still not definite at three months but a light eye shows up early.

Coat develops and is at its best at eight months, if one wants to pick for profuse coat. You get early promise of texture of coat and also can note on legs the thickness (as length of coat isn't always established on the legs very early). I like my puppies to be a rusty shade of black at birth. I do not like color too early.

A bright or light colored puppy at three months can mature a rusty silver blue which is neither pretty or clear when matured. You can also tell definitely the set of the shoulders at three months. You can tell if the stifle is going to be straight or too long. Tail set is easy to spot.

The keynote to picking and breeding the best puppies comes from study of parents. In fact, if you have three or four generations of breeding in your own stock you know what to improve by choosing a sire to complement your dam's fault. You can breed out light eye in one generation if it comes from the sire. You can improve on color by selecting the right sire and that doesn't mean it has to be a best in show winner to produce.

In three generations you can set certain things in your stock that an experienced breeder can recognize later on without asking who bred the dog. You can set correctly placed small ears, perfect mouths, well let down stifles and profuse soft wavy coats by line breeding and knowing your own stock.—GLADYS S. TITCOMB, Bluecote K's, Fireglow Farm, 77 Cherry St., Middleboro, Mass.

Dogs in Chile

by Louis de la Carrera

OF all South American countries Chile has the best dogs, mostly descendants of English, American, and French imports. Britishers, when they came to the country, brought with them Pointers, Setters, Terriers and Collies. They taught the Chilians sports and the love for dogs.

Amongst the pioneers, I must render homage to my father, don Eduardo de la Carrera who imported through Negretti and Zambra of London the best Setters, Pointers and Terriers. Thanks to him, I learned how to care for dogs. This personal fact I must mention in order to explain my enthusiasm for organizing early in 1936 the first kennel club in Chile. Admiral T. C. Domvile, B.N., and Messrs. Alberto Torres Reyes, Severiano Passos, Alfredo Leon Bequedano and Mack Walker cooperated with me.

Dog jealousy and intrigues, characteristic of dog clubs in every part of the world, caused the moving of the new club to Vina del Mar where an American James Coleman, retired from the copper industry and with plenty of time to develop pedigrees and to organize, produced the flourishing Kennel Club de Chile that progressed under his enthusiastic and dynamic hand until his death.

During 1950 Santiago dog lovers being in great majority over Valparaiso created the Santiago Kennel Club, Inc. under the Chilian law and organized the best shows we ever had in Chile. We wanted to secure American judges for our meetings but because of the many exhibitors in the U.S.A., it was hard to induce them to take such a long and expensive trip. Besides our money being $80 to a dollar created quite a problem as regards remuneration customary in the U.S.A. I might say a word of appreciation to Botho Lilienthal who despite his illness did his best last year to help us.

Our 1950 show being early in October, the writer had to secure the cooperation from two British gentlemen in Buenos Aires, Thomas Burgin and Dr. Spencer Talbois, who kindly flew over and judged some 400 dogs of all breeds, from Chihuahuas to Afghans. We were pleased with their decisions, neutral but severe.

The Santiago Kennel Club is thus firmly established and members are very enthusiastic. Gerald Smith, Secretary, U.S. Embassy in Santiago and Col. James Wray, Jr., U.S. air mission, have been the soul of the new organization. Francisco Marty is a devoted amateur and started a new stud book for Santiago with great accuracy.

At the last show the BIS was an American import Setter of Gerald Smith. The Cockers of Francisco Marty from the Pentown Kennels of New Jersey out of Ch. Try Cobs Success received much attention and also Ch. Deirdre of Kel Wel Ayr, the loan of Mrs. Gladys Titcomb of Blucote Kennels to Dr. L. de la Carrera created great enthusiasm. This breed is new in Chile and not well understood. Former exhibits have been "tar black," instead of blue, and long-legged, and yet one foreign judge prized one of these specimens against all the rules of the Kerry Blue Assoc. of the U.S. This incident will show how important is the cooperation of the AKC for Latin America.

We have a good deal to learn. My friend James W. Austen of Catawba fame, told me one day as I was admiring Saddler: "Americans beat the record as to dog lovers, keepers and breeders." And he is right.

So here comes our work with the Santiago Kennel Club. We invite established kennels and breeders to contact the writer for selling their products or shipping to Chile stud dogs on loan. Top studs could get a minimum of $100, thus improving the breeds in Chile. Terriers, specially Smooth, have degenerated due to few importations—also Pointers, Boxers and Airedales.

The author holding Ch. Nornay Saddler, snapped shortly before Saddler's death.

To the Editor:

As you may imagine, we have not a big public to maintain a dog magazine, but my efforts are untiring in order to spread Popular Dogs magazine amongst dog enthusiasts. The great majority, being cultured, master the English language, ready for any hints on dogs and, at worst, they can have a good look at the pictures.

Kerry Blue Terriers

by Edith Izant

THE first National Specialty in the West, with sixty-five dogs entered, and it was challenge all the way! The U. S. Kerry Blue Terrier Club's summer specialty with the KBTC of Southern California as host saw Joe Urmston's seven-year-old Ch. Conrad's Challenge start form a gorgeous class of specials, eight of them group or best-in-show winners, win a strong terrier group, and finally take best in show with over two thousand dogs entered.

BOS was the Bob Wells' Ch. Gered's Candy Lamb, with W. T. Steven's Kerryland's Indispensable, WD and BOW. WB over an excellent open bitch class, and winner of the futurity, was the Floyde Pierces' Kerryland's Delight, a 6 to 9 month-old puppy. Both the WD and WB were by Ch. Ker-Rea's Castlebar Michael. The dog's dam was Michael's half-sister, both being by Michael of Som'set. The bitch's dam was out of Ch. Erinblu Delwin Delight by Ch. Ker-Rea's Headman. Reserve dog to Gordon Rogers' Bit O'Blarney's Tinker, and reserve bitch to Eileen McEachren's Can. Ch. Fox Hill's Witch.

KERRY BLUE

ANNUAL MEETING IN MAY

The Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Am will hold its annual meeting in May. A new board of governors will be elected.

The club will present to each local kerry club, holding a specialty show of its own, a $25 BB trophy.

At the annual meeting, also, the matter of eliminating the Associate Membership provision will be voted on.

Also, there will be a vote on the proposition of reducing the fees of members where both husband and wife are members.

This kerry blue is an Am. and Can. Ch. Michael of Somerset Jr., owned by Mrs. M. Eileen MacEachern, Caufield, B. C. Long is handling to BIS allbreeds Bremerton, Wash., Mar 18, Peninsula Dog Fanciers Club.

Four Specific Reasons Why the Sales Prospect Should Buy a KERRY

1. NO SHEDDING—NO ODOR—First and foremost in the oft-told virtue of our 'blue Irishman'—he does not shed a hair of his handsome coat and is completely without 'doggy odors.' This is a great factor when the prospect wants a house pet or companion because the kerry can lie on the best living room rug, sharing your fire with you on a cold night or accompany his master on a long trip and never a trace of hair or odor betrays his presence. Even those people allergic to dog hair can own a kerry without fear of wheezing and coughing!

2. LOVE OF LIFE AND MANKIND—Only slightly less in importance is reason No. 2—the kerry's sincere, wholehearted love of life and humanity. You cannot be around a kerry for very long without absorbing his enthusiasm for each new day—new friends to make, new fields to explore, new people to greet with the ever-wagging tail and roguish eye.

Someone once said that a kerry is dedicated to the proposition that all mankind was made to adore, and never have we owned one or been around one that refuted that statement.

3. OBEDIENT — SILENT — TRACTABLE—In spite of their vivaciousness the kerry is not a bundle of nerves, nor do they ever bark or yelp without good cause.

Their eagerness to please and high intelligence make them quick to learn and easily trained. We entered a 6 mos. male puppy in obedience work and he is outstanding in a class that contains many of the working group.

Onlookers and participants in the class ask repeatedly, 'Does he ever bark?' Silence is a boon for apartment-dwellers and something that all buyers should consider—will your dog be a nuisance to your neighbors?

4. WATCHDOG — SHOWMAN — The kerry has an instinctive hunting and trailing ability and is without peer as a watchdog and destroyer of vermin, yet in the show ring he prances in such an aristocratic manner one would think he never growled at an intruder or chased a rat.—MRS. COMER D. CHRISTY, Rt. 11, Box 504, Jacksonville, Fla.

'SMILING KERRIES'

You don't think any dog can smile . . . laugh? Just watch a kerry for a few minutes. He's more than a dog . . . he's got the Irish sense of humor that poets write about.

A sense of curiosity? Well, he has one! He wants to know what you are doing every minute . . . and why.

I've seen a kerry sit on a window seat by the hour, watching the people that passed by outside. You can't help wondering what's going on inside that shaggy head of his.—K. B. T. Club leaflet.

• • Summertime is puppy time. Fall shows create demand for 'fliers.' Newcomers seek foundation breeding stock. Reach ALL markets for dogs in America and Canada thru ad columns of Dog World. See p. 2 for RATES (lowest cost per thousand of all dog papers). JULY ISSUE closes June 1. If it's about dogs, write to — DOG WORLD, Judy Bldg., 3323 Michigan Blvd., Chicago 16.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN PICKING PUPPIES FOR TYPE IN A LITTER OF KERRIES

When I select a kerry puppy, which I am called upon to do many times, I let the puppies run around and play for a while to watch for temperament and movement. Then I select the puppy with the shortest body and shortest topline, also tall set on where it belongs. Then look for shortest hocks with the best bend of stiffle. It is hard to find good movement in kerry puppies, the only way you can be sure is by knowing your bloodlines and what they produce.

We also look for neck to fit into well layed back shoulders. This gives us good fronts. Head and expression are also important. Look for balance, not great long heads, as you usually get long slap sided bodies to go with it. I want balance with small ears, not foxterrier ear, but well placed on head to give that keen expression. Also well placed dark eyes, not 'light eyes.'

You usually get large round eyes like stop lights. This is not a kerry blue expression. In the old days usually good light blues had larger eyes. Today we have good blue coats and dark small eyes placed well in the head.

All kerry puppies are born black and must turn at 18 months. We don't have too many black ones today. The breed has improved so much in the last few years. We kerry folks are very proud.

P.S. Sometimes we get rid of the whole litter.—DOROTHY KENNEDY, Paddywhack Kennels, 3510 N. Harlem Ave., Chicago, Ill.

DOGS TEACH KINDNESS

Kindness is man-made; it is not inherited; this noble quality must be instilled anew into each and every child as a separate, individual project.

We remarked early in our volume on the presence of a kind heart, of consideration for the other person, be he strong or weak, as an index of true civilization. Therefore, that the presence of dogs and other pets in the home tends to instill kindness and regard for other living things, is an important consideration.—D.S.

Odessa Dog Goes To Puerto Rico

An Odessa-bred Kerry Blue terrier will be the first dog of this breed ever to enter Puerto Rico, it was learned here this week.

Connor Kennels, establishing a world-wide record for breeds received an air mail registered letter Friday from Oscar A. bel Valle, San Juan, Puerto Rico, asking that they ship him a Kerry Blue terrier.

The buyer, manager of the Puerto Rico Glass Co., will receive his dog shortly. It is to be shipped from Odessa Monday.

Kerry Blue Terriers

THE United States Kerry Blue Terrier Club, Inc., in conjunction with the Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Southern California considered the classes at the Long Beach show as its Specialty Show. There was an entry of 65 with Mrs. Marie Meyer Nolan judging the Futurity and Col. Edw. McQuown the regular classes. A fitting climax to the show was the fact that the Best of Breed winner, Jos. Urmston's Ch. Conrad's Challenge went through to Best in Show All Breeds, topping the entry of over 2,000 dogs. Alfred LePine judged the Group and George S. Thomas Best in Show.

There was a terrific class of 17 Specials and the Best of Opposite Sex also from this class, was Kerryall Kennels' Ch. Gered's Candy Lamb, a half sister to Challenge, their sire being Ch. Michael of Som'set. A half brother and sister accounted for the points. Mr. and Mrs.

AUGUST, 1951, DOG NEWS

Kerry Blue Terriers

by Edith Izant

THIS being the directory number I thought perhaps readers might like to know more about Kerries. They are wonderful companions and house dogs, being unusually sympathetic and affectionate and being non-shedding. They are larger than Fox Terriers, but quieter, soft coated, with no doggy odor, and seldom suffer from skin trouble. Why not see a Kerry breeder before buying your next dog?

Near the end of July Frederick Schweppe had a birthday, so twenty Kerry fanciers met at the Lake Mohawk Dog Show to hold a picnic in his honor. Among the guests were the Douglas Porteouses, the Jack Cypresses, the Roy Holloways, the Reeds and Ruth Williams. Mrs. Porteous wrote a clever sonnet for the occasion. Back in the good old days, not so long ago either, about 1936, Mr. Schweppe owned Ch. Princeton Fellow M'Lad, famous among other reasons as the sire of Bumblebee's four champions, and Frederic is now the proud owner of Ch. Seamus of Cobh, Ch. Gulf Raider and Ch. Topman.

Westchester had a three-point show with twenty-seven entered for General McKinley to judge. Melvin Schlessinger's excellent moving Ch. Blue Buster of Melbee was BB and third in the group with Ed Sayres' Ch. New Look of Delwin BOS. WB and BOW to another good mover, Madelein Beudoin's Sally of Cognewaugh. With the great number of Kerries today which paddle, knit, weave or rub so badly it is good to hear of some which can really go. WD to Donald Flavin's stylish young Bruree Bounce, a dark-eyed one with light blue coat. The Carl Geises won the puppy class with Carnagael Jimminy Cricket, second to his brother, Jimminy Christmas. We hear raves over both of them. Sire is Ch. Dawn Patricks Rory O'More.

Yonkers the day before saw Bill Fox's Ch. Foxhill's Thunderbolt take BB, Sally of Cognewaugh WB and BOS. O. J. Kersting's Chukker of Thornwood was WD and BOW.

In writing a column such as this one of the constant worries is how to cover the whole country. We are glad to see that the Midwest won't be too hard as breeders from there such as Otto Kersting and Melvin Schlessinger go about making news with their wins east and west. We would like to invite any of you who have a specialty or some other event in your neighborhood, or just something on your mind, to write a column, or half a column, or even just a paragraph! Glad to hear from you.

Skipping to the other Coast, we find seventeen Kerries entered at Beverly-Riviera, LePine judging, a two-point show. Coming from a class of blue specials, Joe Urmston's Ch. Kearnach Faltha was BB and third in the group. BOS to the Floyde Pierces' Ch. Kerryland Perfection. WB and BOW to the Pierces' Kerryland's Delight. WD to Peggy Smith's American-bred entry, Patrick O'Shaughnessy.

Probably you have combed and brushed your Kerries today, but I wonder how long it has been since you cleaned their ears? This is one of the small things which can cause real trouble, yet just a few minutes on your part can take care of it. A good sniff is one of the best ways I know to check ears as any trouble shows up with a pungent odor. Under a year Kerries should have their ears cleaned every month, with particular attention while the ears are pasted up.

First reach in with the thumb and forefinger and pull out hair in small bunches. Dirt and grease will usually come out with the hair. If there is one large plug of hair and dirt you may have to cut around it. In a very greasy ear you should put six drops of a drying liquid. Your veterinarian will furnish you with a liquid to use, usually containing alcohol, menthol, etc. A few days later you can clean out the dry flakes of dirt. One of the best ways to avoid ear trouble is always to stuff the ear with non-absorbent quilting cotton when bathing your dog.

Preparing the Kerry for the Show Ring

Preparation of the kerry should start well in advance of the show date, from four to six weeks depending on the condition of the coat. Some coats condition more readily than others.

The kerry's coat should be well brushed and combed free of all snarls and mats. To do this, use a wire slicker, brushing the tips of the coat against the lay of the coat. This is done again and again penetrating deeper each time to free the coat.

At the same time the leg hair is handled the same way, brushing against the lay of the leg coat. After this is done, a medium long tooth comb is used to comb their hair back into place. If the brushing has been done properly, the comb will go through the coat without effort.

In bathing the kerry, which should be done a day or two prior to the show, a spray should be used rather than just filling the tub so that the dirt is continuously washed out.

The secret of washing a kerry is in the rinsing.

Make sure that all soap has been rinsed out of the coat. A vinegar rinse assures that the soap will be cut out. When the kerry is almost dry, start combing again and keep combing until the coat is dry. This helps put the desired wave in the coat.

Now that the dog is thoroughly combed and dry, we are ready to start trimming. The end result is to have balance and symmetry and a mental picture of how you wish the dog to appear should be constantly kept in mind.

A clipper should be used on the head, ears, and throat. After the back skull has been done with the clippers, the whiskers should be combed forward.

The eye expression is now cut with a scissor from the outside corner of the eye to the tip of the nose.

Still using the scissors, the neck should be run well into the shoulders; the backline should be cut level and the body rounded to accentuate the spring of ribs and depth of brisket.

The quarters should be trimmed neatly to accentuate the bend of stifle and the freeness of movement. The front legs should be kept full but neat and smooth.

The tail should be trimmed leaving approximately ¼ to ½ inch of hair on it.

The kerry is now ready to be taken into the ring.—DOUG McLAIN, professional handler, P. O. Box 138, Libertyville, Ill.

A MD. READER ASKS SOME QUESTIONS

W. B. Tingle, 208 Maple St., Pocomoke, Md., would like to have answers to these questions:

1. Where can we get the standards for a kerry? Standards that won't contradict themselves?

2. Why is it that the judges are not judging dogs any more? Just casually glancing over them?

3. If a judge makes a mistake and doesn't call a dog to the ring for judging, can the handler ask to be called in? We were told by a judge he 'couldn't change his book.'

4. Is the dog being judged or the handler (who he is)?

5. Why the rule of a vet examining all dogs before they are shown, is not enforced?

HOW OFTEN TO USE STUD

The next consideration is how often a stud dog should be used. A famous stud of the wire foxterrier breed in England, it was learned after his death, had been used on about 100 bitches a year for at least four years and there were few misses.

If a stud is in the best condition and is not to be shown in the immediate future, in our opinion he can be used twice weekly throut the year without harm or strain. This is not necessarily desirable but we can say on the average the use of a stud once a week is entirely safe without the least tendency to harm the male.

A stud loses some weight by a mating and if on the show circuit, he pays the penalty in the show ring.

At the Beverly-Riviera show we got the distinct impression that Jack Bradshaw had lost weight. However, perhaps that was only an illusion we picked up after getting an eyeful of the colorful Terrier man from Pennsylvania, Dr. E. S. Montgomery, who did best in

It was this writer's good fortune to meet Mrs. Montgomery and to learn from her of Dr. Montgomery's years of study and the practical background from which he has acquired his knowledge of dogs. He maintains at this time a kennel of no less than sixteen different breeds for first-hand observation. An amusing comment was heard to the effect that "He is the first man I have ever seen who makes Jack Bradshaw and Ben Brown look small."

We all admire Beverly-Riviera, but perhaps we are getting blase, so let's listen to a visitor, Dr. Montgomery, judge at the recent show, "The setting puts most of our eastern dog shows in the shade, and moreover, it even has more shade with the tall eucalyptus, rubber and palm trees spreading over most of the handsome exhibition rings. Each and every exhibition ring was adequate for freedom of movement for the guidogs, the working dogs, and the large Terriers. I have always believed that ring space is a very important item at an all-breed show, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brahshaw deserve ever so much plaudits for their careful planning for ample room in all the exhibition rings. The venue, the palatial grounds of the Miramar Hotel, was just about perfect."

Fifty Bullterriers turned out, a wonderful specialty with their own specialist judge, Dr. Montgomery.

DOGS SET EXAMPLE

In the absence of ability to read and write books, to express ideas and communicate thots thru the alfabetic code of words, the dog has built up a workable system of communication with humans; has made his five senses do full duty, has developt his nose into a marvelous means of acquiring knowledge—and with the limitations nature imposed upon him, has lived up to his physical and mental possibilities far nearer the 100% of maximum potentiality than has alibi-ing, slothful, negligent man.

If you and ourselves were as good humans as dogs are good dogs, if you and ourselves lived up to the opportunities and possibilities the Creator has given us as well as the dog does to his, most of us would be farther on the way to heaven and eternal glory than we actually are.—DOG SCRAPBOOK.

The Kerry exhibitors also were particularly interested in Dr. Montgomery's placings as he has just authored a book on the breed. Turning out 17 for him, an excellent entry compared to recent shows, Kerryites saw an 11 month old puppy, Ann Blyth's Kerryland Cavalier, take winners dog and best of winners. The doctor had this to say, "a nice type of Kerry—clean head—keen expression—poorly trimmed—lovely reach of neck—fair mover both ends—used ears well." The winners bitch was Mrs. R. W. Keene's Tandy of Kilkraney, on which the doctor commented, "Useful bitch—good color—soft coat—somewhat thick in head—eyes light. Nicely put down. Close behind. Too fat. Used ears fair." "The dog went up, excelling in head, neck and shoulder placement; a real Terrier." Best of breed to Sherridan's Ch. Maylew's Rattley Bang, "Well put down. Beautiful coat and color. Ears heavy, nice expression. Close behind. Best balance of any." Best of opposite sex, I believe was Pierce's Ch. Kerryland's Hi Gorgeous, "Lacked balance of 889. Better neck. Not so sound in front. Just as good behind." "The open bitch class was strong throughout, with several different types. Coat, color, and ears were the chief objections to the unplaced ones. Movement in both sexes needs much improvement."

Interesting to note the best of breed dog and winners bitch are cousins, being from a litter brother and sister, and the winners dog and best opposite are half-brother and sister.

FOUR SPECIFIC REASONS WHY THE SALES PROSPECT SHOULD BUY A KERRY

1. NO SHEDDING—NO ODOR—First and foremost is the oft-told virtue of our 'blue Irishman'—he does not shed a hair of his handsome coat and is completely without 'doggy odors.' This is a great factor when the prospect wants a house pet or companion because the kerry can lie on the best living room rug, sharing your fire with you on a cold night or accompany his master on a long trip and never a trace of hair or odor betrays his presence. Even those people allergic to dog hair can own a kerry without fear of wheezing and coughing!

2. LOVE OF LIFE AND MANKIND—Only slightly less in importance is reason No. 2—the kerry's sincere, wholehearted love of life and humanity. You cannot be around a kerry for very long without absorbing his enthusiasm for each new day—new friends to make, new fields to explore, new people to greet with the ever-wagging tail and roguish eye.

Someone once said that a kerry is dedicated to the proposition that all mankind was made to adore, and never have we owned one or been around one that refuted that statement.

3. OBEDIENT — SILENT — TRACTABLE—In spite of their vivaciousness the kerry is not a bundle of nerves, nor do they ever bark or yelp without good cause.

Their eagerness to please and high intelligence makes them quick to learn and easily trained. We entered a 6 mo. male puppy in obedience work and he is outstanding in a class that contains many of the working group.

Onlookers and participants in the class ask repeatedly, 'Does he ever bark?' Silence is a boon for apartment-dwellers and something that all buyers should consider—will your dog be a nuisance to your neighbors?

4. WATCHDOG — SHOWMAN — The kerry has an instinctive hunting and trailing ability and is without peer as a watchdog and destroyer of vermin, yet in the show ring he prances in such an aristocratic manner one would think he never growled at an intruder or chased a rat—MRS. COMER D. CHRISTY, R11, B594, Jacksonville, Fla.

WHY I PREFER THE KERRY BLUE

In answer to your request relative to why I chose the kerry, I sum up the following points.

Although my folks had always owned shepherds and collies, I always admired the terriers but it took a kerry blue to crystallize the desire to own one.

The outstanding eye appeal which they possess lies in their gorgeous coat and coloring, their cocky and graceful air of self assurance, the sturdy construction of their body and the discerning look with which they regard the world.

After owning one for a short time, I became completely won over to them. They are fierce in a fight but gentle in fun. They are stable in temperament and rather quiet as a terrier yet they rouse the household when anything is amiss, without tearing the house down.

Extremely sensitive to the moods of their masters, they are readily trained.

The fact that they have no appreciable dog odor and do not shed endears them to Milady.—HORACE J. PERRY.

3 Suggested Changes

1. BREED CLUBS: Local kerry club thinking must be reoriented and directed towards the breeding of better specimens. Our local clubs can become the backbone of the fancy, and a powerful force for good if the individual members will cast aside blind prejudices and breeding systems which have proven failures, in favor of serious study of successful bloodlines, and what has made them successful.

But this is not enough. Having recognized the bloodlines which are producing better kerries, we must use them wherever we find them. If necessary for financial reasons, why couldn't breed club members pool their resources and buy a good brood bitch or two, breed them to good studs, on a share expense, and share-the-litter basis? This would certainly be more

2. SALES PRICES: Of course these are definitely tied to general economic

DOG NEWS FROM MEXICO

OBNOXIOUS

Our reader, Mr. José Alatorre S. writes us requesting that we should clear a mistake we made in our past number, commenting on the April dog shows held in Mexico City and Cuernavaca, that turned into a mess.—

We stated that, "A monorchid Poodle, that was a gift from a California breeder to a Mexican friend was placed Best in Show, being judged by some friends of this California poodle breeder".

After investigation made by MEXICO CANINO we found our past information turned to be untrue, and we want to make things clear.— Following is a photograph of the moment the Poodle was placed B. In S. at the Cuernavaca Show:—

Left to rigt, Judge E. E. Ferguson who judge at Cuernavaca his own dog, ESTID CRISPIN, that was sent by him as a gift to Mr. & Mrs. Ignacio de Landa, of Cuernavaca.— Handling the Poodle, Mrs. de Landa.—

Therefore the explanation is that, the Breeder, —donator was judging his own dog, handled in the ring by his Mexican friend.— They were not "his friends" who judged the dog, it was Mr. Ferguson himself.—

Last year this same dog was placed as best in Show at Mexico City the judge being at that time, Mr. Russel Zimmerman, who came to Mexico invited by Mr. Ferguson, and who happens to be at the same time Mr. Ferguson's handler, in United States.—

Joe Urmston paid a top price for another Kerry, Ch. Kearnach Faltna, and now is so fond of the dog he can't even spare him from his house and office long enough to go to a show! That's a lot of money for a house pet, but Joe's happy. So's Faltha.

Staff Park of the Park Crest Kerry Kennels has started a new east meets west deal which should be of benefit to everyone. Staff and Jack Cypress of the Ditton Prior Kennel in New Jersey are exchanging bitch puppies. Staff has already shipped a nice one, Charm of Park Crest, from his group winner, Ch. Ballerina of Park Crest — Ch. Bassing Thwaight Blue litter, and will soon receive one from a Ch. Topman-Ditton Prior's Cydaria litter, a repeat of the breeding which produced the Morris & Essex winner, Ditton Prior's Rudraigme. There's an idea for you all. It does away with the risks and double expense that a bitch shipped across the country to be bred might miss and have to be shipped again.

conditions, which right now leave much to be desired. But it all comes down to what we are offering buyers by way of quality. Top puppies can still be sold at top prices, but poor ones can't be given away. For better prices, the answer is breeding better puppies.

Specifically, I don't believe we ought to sell a three months old kerry puppy who has had his inoculations, for less than $100. If he isn't worth that, then he should be given away as a pet, or sold without papers.

3. JUDGING IN THE SHOW RING: I'd like to see the kerry fancy take a really active part in developing better stock by giving whole-hearted support with their entries to those judges who are putting up rue-to-type kerries. Too often we see certain judges consistently put up untypical specimens. These are in the public eye, are used for breeding, producing more untypical kerries, ad infinitem. Fortunately these judges are well in the minority, but let's not allow them to control the future of our breed.—ROBERT L. WIEL, Kerryall K's, 2550 Broadway, San Francisco, Calif.

TWO GROUPS SAME DAY

There are kennels who have had the high honor of winning best in group in two groups at the same show, but to win BIG on the same day at two different shows is another achievement. Melvin Schlesinger, Melbee Kerrie Ks, 5800 Foster Rd., Merriam, Kans., writes:

'We had the good fortune to win two terrier groups on the same day—one at Lima with Ch. Blue Bluster, under Frank Downing; the other at Rock Island with Melbee's Mostly Malarky under James Trullinger. This we think is 'kinda' unusual and are happy to pass it on.'

NEW KERRY OFFICERS

The U. S. Kerry Blue Ter. Club thru its board of governors elected Mrs. James E. Hanning as sec. to succeed Roessle McKinney, who held the office for 10 years. He continues as treas. Pres. Botho Lilienthal was elected AKC delegate.

The memorial fund for the late George Proctor now totals $125.

There were 38 new names accepted into the membership of the club.

The club had $976.08 on hand as of Apr. 30, '51.

Mrs. Hanning's address is B108, Washington, Conn. After Sept. 1 it will be RD 2, Woodbury, Conn.

RUGGED KERRIES

To improve working ability we must breed for rugged frames, good balance between front and rear assemblies, true color and temperament.

That a rugged frame is indispensable to the development of strength to stand rough going is obvious, yet often overlooked. Many winning kerries today have either a good front, or a good rear assembly, but not both. From a functional standpoint both are indispensable to soundness. If the rear cannot transmit sufficient power, what good an excellent front.—ROBERT L. WIEL.

LIGHT-EYED KERRIES

Among the obstacles is the present insistence upon a light blue kerry. Copies of old English and Irish standards which I have do not demand this.

Black was barred, and properly so; any shade of blue was acceptable.

A recent kerry article in Dog World bemoans the prevalence of light eyes. When the insistence upon light colored kerries was first voiced a very famous handler said to me, 'Wait until they start mating these light colored kerries together and watch the blazing yellow eyes and washed-out, grayish-white coat color appear.' Apparently he knew whereof he spoke.—ARTHUR M. HILLERY.

SELECTING A CRATE

This is important—whether you buy a readymade crate or create your own, make it durable but light so that transportation charges will be mostly for dog and not crate.

If you must choose between lightness and strength, pay the extra transportation charge. Traveling may be rough, other boxes may be thrown on top the dog crate in the hurry and bustle of loading and unloading, and the poor dog unable to protect himself, must lie within his box, in troubled mind.

It is well to have a half- to one-inch strip along the sides, either about the middle or near the top so that there will always be "breathing space" regardless of what is piled against the crate.

▲ BUY A DOG for companionship, burglary insurance, child's playmate, automobile guard, defender of home, a fire alarm, and for devotion to death.

BULL TERRIERS

By Gad Root
1611 So. Elm St., Alhambra, California

WITHOUT APOLOGY, but with very great pride and pleasure, I break a rule and devote most of this month's column to the SECOND MOST IMPORTANT Bullterrier Specialty Show of the United States—the Golden State Club's Specialty at Beverly-Riviera (Santa Monica) on May 20, 1951, judged by our Honorary and honored Member, Dr. E. S. Montgomery of Tarentum, Pennsylvania, whose placings were sure and masterly. He was consistent and I could follow him all the way except in one placement (and who am I to question that one award?)

—So I now give you Dr. Montgomery's critique. What follows is precisely as he wrote it and will be most interesting to all Bull Terrierites in whatsoever section of the country they reside. Doctor Montgomery says:

The Imported Champion
NIGHTRIDERS RASTEAU
Best of Variety at the Golden State Bull Terrier Club's Specialty, May 20, 1951, at the Beverly-Riviera K. C. Show, Santa Monica, Calif.
Lt. Col. James K. Marr, owner, handling; Dr. E. S. Montgomery, judge.

"Beverly-Riviera Kennel Club Show—the setting puts most of our Eastern dog shows in the shade and, moreover, it even has more shade with the tall eucalyptus and palm trees spreading over most of the handsome exhbition rings. Each and every exhibition ring was adequate for freedom of movement for the Gundogs, the Working Dogs, and the large Terriers. I have always believed that ring space is a very important item at an all-breed dog show, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradshaw deserve ever so much plaudits for their careful planning for ample room in all the exhibition rings.

"A very fine entry of fifty Bull Terriers was received for the Golden State Bull Terrier Specialty Show at the Beverly-Riviera Spring Show on May 20th, 1951. The venue, the palatial grounds of the Miramer Hotel, was just about perfect. It was a great pleasure for me to judge this Specialty Show. I wish sincerely to thank my steward, Mr. "Buzz" Brown and the young lady at the microphone for the efficient way in which they assisted me.

"In judging such a large entry of Bull Terriers, I painstakingly endeavor, in my selections, to adhere to a type of Bull Terrier of powerful, lithely muscled structure; strong, clean skull with a long foreface filled well beneath and before the eye, with a deep punishing underjaw with the maximum of biting and gripping power; dark, triangular, well-placed eyes; strong, clean neck placed at a pleasing angle in well-laid back shoulders, with a well sprung rib cage and a compactly knit body; strong short back; chest and thoracic cage deep and wide to the back ribs; heavy round bone; true athletic action front and rear; a sturdy majestic stance. In a few words, I was seeking "multum in parvo"—the most powerful, cleanly fashioned dog of about fifty to fifty-five pounds in existence, to ideally exemplify the "Gladiator of the Canine Race," the "White Cavalier," with the ability and the desire, if fostered to whip any dog of any breed should the necessity arise. In short, I judged the dogs on their balance construction, which means all the parts fitting together in the correct relationship to each other; this was my first consideration; my second was breed type; and my third was Terrier character.

"In general, this entry of Bull Terriers of such outstanding quality serves notice on Eastern breeders that in the future the West will ask no quarter—indeed, they may have to give odds to the East."

Puppy Dog—6 months and under 9 months:

"1st to Miss Hayden's Seers Pugilist—a stylish one, clipped ears, compactly built, well filled foreface, nicely placed eyes, beautiful white coat, a good mover fore and aft, a comer.

"2nd to Lt. Cherbak's Caesar of Hiddenhollow—good bone, moves well, nice expression, ticks mar his whiteness.

"3rd to Mr. and Mrs. Percy R. Davis' Cyclone—fair bone, showed poorly and moved with forefeet close, ticked coat handicapped him. No. 2 and No. 3 very similar in type.

"4th to Mrs. Bernice Hampson's General William—his eye was marked with a black patch and he was temporarily lame with an injured left rear leg but had a sturdy body, good bone."

Novice Dogs:

"Mr. Joe Calderon, Jr.'s, Royal Ace—quite a nice one standing alone."

Bred-by-Exhibitor Dogs:

"1st to Mr. W. R. Koehler's Cadence Kim—a marked eye, good bone, nice station, moves well in front but throws his hocks behind.

"2nd to Mr. Frank Blahnik's Williwaw—well-boned, moved poorly today. Large, poorly used ears spoiled his alertness."

American-Bred Dogs:

"1st to Miss Sally Parr's Argent Abaddon—a good all-around one; fair fillup; could have been shown in better condition.

"2nd to Miss Katherine Ickis' Count Cadence of Helix, C. D.—good station, lacks fillup, very close to No. 1."

Open Dogs:

"1st to Mr. and Mrs. Bryant's Gay Cavalier—here is a Bull Terrier, lovely-filled foreface, well-placed, triangular dark eye, used his ears as the notion suited him, a positively wonderful underjaw, real feet and bone, deep brisket, powerful spring of rib, good movement front, maturity and training will improve looseness behind. A group contender all the way.

"2nd to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pennisi's Bit-o'-Royalty—nice expression, good bone, very nice type and balance less powerful over all than No. 1 but a good one.

"3rd to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dolch's Whitefire Crown Prince—a good big one, a good mover, just a shade behind No. 2 in overall quality, No. 2 and No. 3 very similar in type.

"4th to Mr. Howard Chin's Cadence Ben Trovato—a sound one, different in type than the three above him but quite a useful dog if bred right. Heavily marked (ticked) ears.

"The other dogs in this class were markedly above average and they will have their day."

Winners:

"1st, Gay Cavalier; reserve, Bit-o'-Royalty. The winner scored a shade in expression and movement, and chiefly in filled foreface and balance. Both are good size, well-proportioned, and exemplify the "Canine Gladiator" in all respects except for several minor faults."

Puppy Bitches (6 months and under 9 months):

"1st to Nancy Ince's Cadence Corcorico—a very useful bitch puppy; good bone, nice headpiece, moved well.

"2nd to Mr. and Mrs. Isham Constable's Cadence Barbarita—very close to first and very similar in type to first, slightly less sound in rear movement.

"3rd to Mrs. Bernice Hampson's Earmarked Dynamite—marked right ear, very close to No. 1 and No. 2, used ears less well.

"4th to Mr. Ed Heany's Girl of Romance—heavily ticked, not quite the same type as the three above but a nice one.

"N. B.—Here, I must mention a heavy ticked puppy with patched right eye showed by a very nice young man. She has a phenomenal head, tiny dark eye, but her lower jaw is a little too far forward; a little princess, otherwise."

Puppy Bitch (9 months and under 12 months):

"1st to Cadence Kennels, Cadence Sooki—an attractive one, alone in her class."

Bred-by-Exhibitor Bitches:

"1st to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dolch's Hardot's Linda Mae—a marked ear, good expression, good stance but moved sloppily in rear, a stronger left arm might have improved her rear movement."

American-Bred Bitches:

"1st to Miss Bernice Hampson's Cadence Socatra, C. D.—a nice bitch with good all over quality, and if bred right should be a real producer."

Open Bitches:

"This class teemed with terrier character and breed type that is a pleasure to see in bitches.

"1st to Brig. Gen. Maurice G. Holmes' Kathmar's Maid Marian—a beautiful expression, penalized for poor ring manners, but over all balance gave her first; will do much winning when she is taught to fire a little more.

"2nd to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore's Jacor's Femme Fatale—and never did a name fit a female better; a classical head filled right up to the eye, the smallest, dark eyes placed just where the artist wants them, ears that leave nothing to be desired, feet and front that are the best, beautiful coat and backline; off in rear movement—she threw her hocks very badly and just would not parallel her rear feet. I went back to her so many times but "good rear movement" is a must.

"3rd to Miss Olive Shanahan's Silverdale Frolic—a very good bitch, good head, good bone, but lacking the balance of the two before her.

"4th to Mrs. Marion Coe's Abraxas Astrid—plain head, nicely coupled with real barrel, heavy bone. Should be a great brood bitch.

Winners Bitch:

"1st, Kathmar's Maid Marian; reserve, Jacor's Femme Fatale. The winner scored in "I round quality and proportion but s. ed poorly, while the reserve bitch with classical head and beautiful showmanship failed behind. Very, very close."

Best of Winners:

"Gay Cavalier scored in showmanship, head, eye, substances and expression over Kathmar's MaidMarian, but they made a fine beautiful pair of ideal size, type, and quality."

Best of Variety:

"Col. James Marr's Ch. Nightrider's Rasteau—nice long head, well filled foreface, deep underjaw, dark triangular eye, powerful body, true front, action slightly pacing and stiff in forequarters, throws hocks when not held in check, heavy bone, good feet, lovely white coat. A grand Bull Terrier marred only by low set ears which he can use beautifully when fired."

Best of Opposite Sex to Winners Bitch:

"A small sentence on several of the other "Specials Only."

"Ch. Seer's Cover Girl—a beautiful white coat, good stance, just recovering from motherhood.

"Ch. King of Knaves—a fine, big, well stationed dog with nice balance, similar in type to reserve winner's dog but higher on leg.

"Ch. Chita's Pal of Dodenart—quite a useful stud if bred right, showed softly, good expression and nice bone.

"Ch. Sally's Lady in Ermine—a showing firebrand, nice expression, ears up all the time, her coat was not ermine but sack-cloth today (a human fault).

Best Stud Dog: Cadence Ben Trovato.

Best Brood Bitch: Mrs. Bernice Hampson's Cadence Socatra, C. D.

"This was my first visit to California in nearly twelve years and my first attendance at a West Coast Dog Show. Mrs. Montgomery and I shall always retain the most pleasant memories of our visit because we consider it one of the best dog shows we have ever attended from every point of view.

"I liked West Coast Bull Terriers. There is room for improvement—much improvement, but when anyone can say there is no room for improvement, that day I hope to see. The West Coast breeders have served notice they are well on their way.

"I did not study a catalogue, in fact, we came home without one, so the names in my critique were filled in by Colonel Ferguson.

"To the Golden State Bull Terrier Club; to its affable, excellent president, Lt. Col. James K. Marr; to its charming first and second vice-presidents and its fine treasurer; to Gad B. Root, its truly capable and great secretary; and to all of its wonderful members, I bow in humility for the wonderful, pleasurable time they showed Mrs. Montgomery and me. From the "after the Bull Terrier judging" buffet and cocktails, comprising every conceivable hors d'oeuvres, canapes, and delicious cool short ones or tall ones (which the judge, because he had nearly two hundred dogs to judge, could not enjoy), until climaxed by one of the most pleasant evenings we have ever spent—a meeting of the Golden State Bull Terrier Club at "Jim" Marr's ranch on Monday, with food, drink, and stimulating conversation to satiate the mind, soul, and body—every moment of our stay was delightful, with never a harsh, unkind word about my sincere effort at judging. We found the Golden State Bull Terrier Club to be the epitome of the finest in companionship, gayety, and great fellowship."

Sincerely,
E. S. MONTGOMERY, M. D.

Bull Terrier Standard

The Board of Directors of The American Kennel Club at its meeting on May 8, 1951, approved the following addition to the standard, to become effective June 15, 1951, this addition having been submitted by the Bull Terrier Club of America:

ADDITION of the following sentence to the first paragraph, "Full of Fire, but of sweet disposition, amendable to training,"—so that the paragraph will read:

GENERAL APPEARANCE is that of a symmetrical animal, an embodiment of agility, grace, strength and determination, and in whose formation there should be an entire absence of exaggeration of any kind. Full of fire, but of sweet disposition, amendable to training.

THE GOLDEN STATE BULL TERRIER CLUB

Thanks

DOCTOR E. S. MONTGOMERY

who so ably judged its Specialty Show on May 20, 1951

And Salutes

the charming and gracious Mrs. Montgomery, who accompanied him on his western trip.

It also thanks the entire Beverly-Riviera Club, especially Col. E. E. Ferguson and David Upright, and those most capable Superintendents, Mr. & Mrs. Jack Bradshaw, for having so meticulously cooperated in making our show the success that it was.

KERRY GOES TO CHAMPIONSHIP FROM PUPPY CLASSES

Melvin Schlesinger, Melbee K's, 5800 Foster Rd., Merriam, Kans. writes: 'Last but not least, subject to AKC confirmation, we finished Melbee's Mostly Malarky. One of the things that pleased us the most about finishing this dog was the fact, that he was only once in the open class where he won.

'This dog finished at 13 mos., and we feel it is quite a compliment to him. His parentage is Ch. Fox Hill's Marauder and Melbee's Irish Lyric.

'Incidentally, this is the 2nd champion by this dam. We finished Ch. Melbee's Trifler at the Internat'l as you know.'

'THOSE WERE THE DAYS FOR THE KERRY BLUE'

Kerry Blueprints, monthly magazine of the U. S. Kerry Blue Terrier Club, lists an entry in kerries at M&E, as 106 dogs actually present in 1938, with Henry Fottrell, pres. Irish KC, as judge.

We remember this day very well—a beautiful sunny day in New Jersey. Mr. Fottrell also judged airedales. Later we met him and was a guest in his home in Dublin, when we judged the annual show of the Irish KC in '48.

In '39, another notable Dublinite, Hon. Justice Hanna judged the breed, with 113 kerries actually present.—WJ

STUD DOGS' FEES, 3 to 5 GNS.

THE impression a discerning visitor gets on looking over the Scotties in the Ryeland kennel is that Mrs. Collins has quite definitely established small ears, dark eyes, fearless character and temperament. She has a very large kennel and it is therefore impossible to mention all the dogs here. I would advise, therefore, writing to Mrs. Collins for an appointment to see the dogs or for any further information. Mrs. Collins' stock is in constant demand abroad. A dog and bitch exported to South Africa are now both champions.

Ryeland Radical, who has won over 100 firsts, several best in shows, beating champions, is to go to Canada. He is a great showman and should do credit to all concerned, as he is the sire of an extremely promising litter ex R. Isabelle.

Ryeland Ringman, by Ch. Westpark Masterpiece ex R. Rewoven is making a great stud dog. I saw a grand litter by him out of a Wayfarer bitch.

Ryeland Ringlad brought glory to the kennel at Bournemouth, 1950, when he got the c.c. and was best of breed. Ryeland Rosecroix, a very sound, beautifully balanced dog by Ch. Rosehall Edward and his sister, R. Rosegirl, are both above the ordinary. Rosegirl could go to the top. Now that she has added her quota to the nursery, R. Relaird, an extremely short-backed little dog with enormous bone for a little one has won very well and I saw a lovely dog and bitch by him out of R. Rainbird, which will keep the Ryelands on top at next year's shows. Other good ones by him also, stamp him as a dog not to overlook when planning breeding.

Amongst the bitches are R. Rewoven, now rising seven, who has been mated to Niddbank Blue Print, and this may be one of her last litters. R. Isabelle, a beautiful brindle and a best in show winner is breeding winners in every litter. R. Ringwin has done extremely well in Mr. George Barr's hands and should eventually get through when she has reared her litter.

R. Ringbelle, all quality, young R. Risa, who has been best puppy in show several times and a good winner in the lower classes, and the 7½ months R. Runaway, who absolutely fills the eye are just a few of the grand collection of bitches.

The Kerry Blue section was very interesting. R. Reminder is at stud at £4 4s and always sires good stock. R. Reina, by Ch. Bemel Larrikin ex Ch. Duncruin Colleen is very attractive. One of her grand litter by Acquire Best Blue, R. Reine Blue, I thought looked a certain champion.

Mrs. Collins had just bought the Wire Fox-terrier, Burtona Banner by Ch. Crackley Sallaway, from Mr. Barton and was taking it over for Mr. Lodieu of Pernes, in N. France, where he will make his debut at the special Terrier show in Paris.

PROVES THAT KERRY CAN BE FARM DOG AND GOOD HUNTER

I don't think the general public realizes the value of the kerry blue Terrier as a working terrier and would like to pass along a few experiences we have had with the breed as an all-round farm dog.

We have a small Jersey farm, about 90 acres and keep chickens, ducks, guineas, geese and milking goats.

We have found it is next to impossible to bring in an outside city-bred kerry and expect him to adapt himself to a farm environment. Whether this is our fault in not being experienced trainers, or due to the background of the dog, I cannot say.

Kerry Likes Farm Work

However, we do know that kerry pups from weaning age to four months are easily trained to stay on the farm, drive off strange dogs, give warning of visitors. They do not bite, but bark with enough vigor to command the respect of anyone.

To our delight we have found they can be used for herding the geese in the coop at night, bringing in the goats at milking time and other simple jobs. This comes automatically as we never dreamed a kerry would do this.

Our seven months old pup Christopher, will hold the geese while the gate is being opened, then ease them thru. He can bunch them at will and brings up the strays as if he had been doing it from way back. I do think one dog works better than two, as when two kerries get together, that's a time for play and they are loathe to put themselves to any hard work.

Kerries as Hunters

Perhaps even more valuable than the companionship, guarding and herding qualities is the fact that they hunt.

We haven't had a rat in five years. I recently sold a bitch pup to a chicken ranch to get rid of the rats in the hen houses and hunt the surrounding area. They are extremely pleased with her as a house pet and companion and are more than satisfied with her working qualities.

I recently took a young bitch out to the pastures with me and inside of 15 minutes she had caught and killed two groundhogs. I have others that will do this too. About twilight is the best time, and the dogs will run the fence rows with noses to the ground. They are very good on scent hunting. We have never had a chance to use them on fox. When other farmers are loosing birds to the foxes, we never even get a good look at one.

I believe any kerry blue Terrier with a good steady temperament and the right early conditioning can be made into a first-class all round farm dog.—JACK AND NANCY CYPRESS, Ditton Priors Ks, RD 1, Washington, N. J.

CALIF. HANDLER MAKES COLORFUL COMMENT ON KERRY COLOR

One of the professional handlers who has always had a special love for kerries, was grumbling about the light-colored coats. 'Let's change the name,' says he, 'to Kerry terrier, and forget all this blue nonsense!'

He proceeded to cuss the light ones, the printable parts of the dialogue running something like this: 'The cotton-coated, flat-footed, long bodied, light-eyed buggers!' In fact, he swears those faults are tied together, and as for him, for twenty years he's liked the darker dogs with the keen expression, and says he still does. I'm an optimist, but still think we can breed dark-eyed dogs with beautiful blue-gray coats with no shade of white, turning by a year or 18 months, without getting them too light in coat color or texture or eye.—Kennel Review.

▲ Your club show ad in DW will bring national publicity and additional entries. Advertised shows listed in bold face.

'If it's about dogs, write to Dog World.'

● TEXAS BREEDER INQUIRES WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE KERRY BLUE STANDARD

I note in DW where a number of breeders are bemoaning light-colored, light-eyed kerry blues. I for one would rather bemoan those light-eyed dark kerry blues. The standard was specifically changed, so that the kerry would be blue.

If so many of the breeders object to blue, which includes light blue, why not start a new variety, calling them kerry blacks and if that doesn't satisfy everyone, then we could have a particolored kerry?

Also I wonder why the standard calls for a certain height and weight. In the years of attending dog shows, I have yet to see a dog measured or weighed in the ring, tho I have seen big ones or little ones, according to the judge's whim, put up. What is a standard for?—CAPT. J. L KOSOWSKY, B915, Ellington AFB, Houston, Tex.

● MIXING THE BLUES

Correction—on p. 102, July DW, we switched captions. The picture on the right with judge Downing should refer to the Lima, Ohio, show where Melvin Schlessinger's Ch. Blue Bluster of Melbee took best terrier.

The second picture from the right is that of McClain handling Ogden A. Gellfuss' Ch. Kokomo under Onstott.

TEXAS BREEDER WANTS MORE KERRY NEWS; ALSO TELLS ABOUT KERRY BLUE FLEECE

Having finished reading the latest edition of DW from cover to cover, I am once again wondering why you don't have more space devoted to kerry blue terriers. Perhaps you don't realize the recent interest evidenced in this breed in the Southwest—even by those who are not in the dog game. Only three weeks ago our leading fashion store, Neiman Marcus, featured a half page ad in the Dallas Morning News on kerry blue fleece, part of their promotion of textured fabrics for fall.

Also at the last meeting of the Dallas Kerry Club, a half dozen owners of pet kerries came just to see how the 'pros' were getting along.

Sales of kerries are better now than in years—though most breeders prefer a 'puppy clause' to insure keeping in touch with their carefully planned progeny.

Perhaps in the near future you will be able to get someone to write a Kerry Clinic page like Dr. Gordon's excellent Boxer Clinic series—which I have enjoyed even though not a boxer fan.

In the meantime, please suggest who I can contact to consult about my own breeding plans, someone who has more experience than I—for I'm strictly a novice and very new to the fancy—and also someone who has the opportunity of seeing the leading kerries.

Thank you for your attention to this matter, and also for a most excellent magazine on dogs.—MRS. L. V. SHEAIN, JR., 6552 Sondra Dr., Dallas, Texas.

GOOD INVESTMENT?

A Wis. subscriber writes: 'Can you tell me whether the kerry blue is a good investment? Do you need to strip and trim them like they do wirehaired foxterrier? We live in town and they do not seem too big for our small yard.

'I hope the kerry blues are profitable because I could not get them off my mind since I saw them at a show last year.'

YES—kerries are a good investment. This breed is not over-produced. There is little likelihood it will have the popularity which is the 'kiss of death.'

The coat is silky and therefore not stripped or trimmed as is the wiry coat of the foxterrier, siredale and scottie.

Most of the trimming of coat, including feathering can be done by an ordinary scissors or barber-trimming shears. What is known as a stripping knife can be used a bit on the neck and skull, altho some prefer a clipper for this.

In brief, trimming the kerry is not a difficult job altho at present there is a tendency in the American show ring to overdo the trimming of this breed.

The kerry is an active dog with plenty of stamina. He minds his own business, is very loyal to his master, is an excellent watchdog, and in general, is a distinctive dog for distinctive people.

The Kerry Blue

by Edith Izant

IF you want a companion, you could choose no better one than the Kerry Blue. The aim of every Kerry is to find someone to love, and to be with him from then on. He does not even seem to miss the companionship of other dogs. They go on trains and planes from New York to California, on yachts, live in apartments, hotels and resorts; whether it is special or everyday living, they adapt themselves. Kerries are very intelligent and easily trained for a house dog and guardian, for a retriever for hunting, or for a high scorer in the obedience trials.

Everywhere you go with your Kerry you will find that he attracts attention and admiration. The first comment is always, "How does he see?" referring to the long whiskers over the keen eyes, but the second is "What a beautiful dog!" Blue is a most unusual color in dogs, and whether the silken coat is light gray blue, or ranges to deep slate, it is very beautiful. The coat is single, like a human's hair, but it does not shed or have any odor. It is easy to care for so that any owner may keep his pet in tidy and eye-pleasing condition, even if he does not attempt the perfection of the show trim.

If the excitement of the shows attracts you, you could not choose a better breed than the Kerry Blue. The breed produces many top-quality dogs which are able to win the terrier group and go on to best in show.

Kerries are also well-known in England and in Ireland. They originated in County Kerry, and are known as the Irish Blue Terriers as they are the national dog of Ireland. There they must win a field trial certificate as well as show ring certificates before they become a champion. It is too bad that here in the United States no field trial has been developed for a Kerry, although we know of many used in hunting.

Kerries are quick to pick up the obedience work and love to do it. They seldom have the perfection of some of the working breeds, and grow bored if you practice too much. We find they work better if trained quickly, and have prepared an adult Kerry for the novice class in four weeks with two fifteen-minute periods each day and an hour's class once a week. Originally in Ireland the dogs were used not only for hunting, but as fighting dogs. Kerry temperament is much more gentle today; indeed it has changed even in the last ten years. Our Kerries run free on our property greeting all visitors and dogs! Today the ideal Kerry is ready to finish a fight if really attacked, but most do not start them. Every Kerry who attends an obedience training class is not only better prepared to adjust to our modern life, but is a good advertisement for the breed.

Ch. Downpatrick's Rory O'More, Kerry Blue owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. Loynd, Sarver, Pa.

Another way to learn how to know your Kerry is to attend to his grooming yourself. He should be made to stand or sit quietly on a table while you comb him thoroughly at least once a week. Have a pair of scissors handy to snip off a few stray ends so a complete trim will not be necessary so often. He will need an all-over trim about every month or six weeks and should be bathed a day or two before. Show dogs are bathed with a lanolin shampoo as often as once a week, while a housedog may be bathed once a month or go for two or three months in winter.

There is so much to say about the Kerry Blue Terrier that a short article could not hope to cover it all. The U. S. Kerry Blue Terrier Club, Inc. publishes a yearbook, and there is a new book, Dr. Montgomery's "Complete Kerry Blue Terrier". Among the books published in England, two of the best are by Violet Handy and Clarke.

The breed became active in the United States about 1922, and a few of the famous dogs in your pedigrees written about in the histories are still alive. At first, you will notice they were all imported: Ch. Ben Edar Blaise, which by best-in-show wins made the premier place for the breed which it still occupies; Int. Ch. Lisnalea Enbuska, one of the top sires; Chs. Black Prince of the Chevin; Kingdom Hero of Cheriton; Leinstar Leader, Ben Edar Bawcock, Ben Edar Brigid, Blue Leader's Helter Skelter; Prince Blue Steel of the Chevin; Princeton Fellow M'Lad and others.

By 1935 a great change had come over the Kerries and mainly for the better. The ears were now set during puppyhood giving a more keen expression, something most Canadian and English breeders still do not do. Coats were much better, especially furnishings, although to achieve this, color was sacrificed, and too many dogs were dark. With the rewriting of the standard in 1948 the correct color was more definitely defined as any shade of gray blue from deep slate to light gray. Since that time many judges have heeded this and breeders are being forced to breed not only for color, but for earlier color, definitely cleared by eighteen months.

Those who are serious about breeding should look for pictures of all the great dogs, remembering pictures are sometimes touched up, and learn as much as possible about them, their sire and dam, show career, and get. And yet all these statistics will not really show you the Kerry, so you must go to the shows, visit the kennels, and train your eyes to good and bad, learning to see the good and bad in your own dogs and in prospective studs. At the show, remember that your view from the ringside is not as complete as the one the judge gets. Particularly you cannot see eyes or mouths, and other faults which can be hidden by the coat. Try to sit so that you can see the dogs move to and from you as the judge does, for a good view of a dog's gait will often explain an otherwise doubtful placing.

In recent years the United States has bred its own beautiful Kerries, and especially since the last war, with its deprivations abroad, no good English or Irish Kerries have been imported. Among the modern winners have been Ch. Michael of Som'set (ranking with Topper of Belcrest as one of the top sires); Champions Bumblebee of Delwin, Rackety Packety Kilmenskeg, Sirarno's Sophisticated Lady, Sirarno's Impertinent Lady, Kenmore Brian Boru, Ker-Rea's Headman, Ker-Rea's Kilroy, Michael of Som'set Jr., Conrad's Challenge, Carefree Colleen of Kenmare, Gulf Stream, Royal Son of Rob-Ett, Blue Sensation of Delwin, Blue Crispin of Delwin, Foxhill's Marauder, Erinblo Delwin Delight, Erinblo Delwin Debutante, Deed's Show Off, Killarney Kandee, Bric-a-Brac Burlesque, Gered's Candy, Gered's Candy Lamb, Montezuma of Maeveen, Foxhill's Thunderbolt, Kerryland's Perfection, Kerryland's Hi Gorgeous, Escondido Renaissance, Kearnach Faltha, Thorndale Blue Bombshell, Thorndale Blue Buddy, Maylew's Rattley Bang and Int. Ch. Kenmarc Masterpiece. These names were put down at random, but look at the number of them—as I remember, every one a group or best-in-show winner!

So that's our breed, and I hope your breed, Irish as they come, all blarney and love.

Edward Campbell

Edward J. Campbell, president of the Boston Terrier Club of Philadelphia and director of the Professional Handlers' Association of America died in Philadelphia in Lankenau Hospital August 12. Active for more than thirty years as an outstanding breeder, exhibitor and handler, Mr. Campbell finished at least sixty champions and many international champions. His favorite breed was the Boston Terrier.

● DEATH OF FAMOUS BOSTON TERRIER HANDLER

Mary McNaull sends us a wire which we received on Sat. Aug. 11 stating: 'Ed Campbell died at 7 am this morning.'

Ed and his flaming red hair were a familiar sight at dog shows not only in the East but thruout all parts of America during the last 25 yrs. He specialized in bostons and piloted a goodly number of dogs to their title.

A major operation about 4 yrs ago did not seem to affect him greatly and his sudden death is indeed a shock. He always had a smile for everybody, used the fairest kind of tactics in the show ring, and in general, was a distinctive, constructive personality in behalf of the boston terrier.—W.I.

Kerry Blue Terriers . . .

Since the revision of or classification of the standard regarding color there is a marked improvement in this respect. However, there are some judges who ignore the standard as to color and texture of coat. Various colors other than blue-grey or grey-blue or other shades of blue have been winning top places in the show ring. This form of judging is entirely unorthodox to the standard and its interpretations. If a specimen has not definitely cleared in color it should be made to pay the penalty and should not be allowed to win.

I have heard arguments in the case of dogs with muddy color or showing a bronze cast to the coat. "Well, it is not black." The fact is: it is not blue by any stretch of the imagination.

The standard allows twenty-five points for coat and color which shows these are major factors in the making of a first-class show dog. The question of the right size for a Kerry is also debatable. My personal opinion is that eighteen to nineteen inches should be correct for a male and seventeen to eighteen for a female; weight for males, thirty-four to thirty-six pounds and thirty-two to thirty-four pounds for a bitch. When a Kerry goes over the nineteen-inch mark he looses correct type and resembles a blue Airedale.

New Faces bringing New Wins to TAILTEANN

Sensational Int. Ch. MICHAEL OF SOMERSET, Jr. with trophies won in just five months of showing.

The Kerry Blue tradition established at Tailteann through the great records of such winners as Int. Ch. Kenmare Masterpiece and Int. Ch. Danny's Masterpiece of Tailteann, is currently being raised to even loftier heights through the winnings of Int. Ch. Michael of Somerset, Jr.

In the seven months he has been shown under Tailteann banner, "Champ"—as Michael, Jr. is appropriately nicknamed—has won: 11 Bests in Show (5 in the USA); 5 Reserve Bests in Show; 16 Firsts in Group; 4 Seconds in Group; and dozens of Bests of Breed.

These wins came on top of the fine record compiled by "Champ" before Tailteann acquired him. It included: 3 Bests in Show; 14 Firsts in Group, 6 Seconds in Group, and 31 Bests of Breed. He had been top senior Puppy at the U. S. Kerry Blue Terrier Specialty, and at Westminster.

His recent winning reads like a Believe-it-or-not item. Four Best-in-Show in four showings, and all within five days! And then, to top it off, three more Bests in Show within the next three weeks.

Moreover, "Champ" has proven himself a fine sire. A mating with famous Int. Ch. Tailteann's Molly Ranee has produced a litter that Mrs. McEachren believes to be the finest she has ever seen.

Sharing stud duties with "Champ" at Tailteann is the immortal Int. Ch. Kenmare Masterpiece ("Danny"). His record is unequalled in Canadian dog history.

Kerry Blue Terrier

The Kerry Blue Terrier originated in the neighborhood of County Kerry Ireland, and it is from this that the name was derived. In its native section the breed is well over one hundred year sold and from its early days the Kerry Blue in Ireland was used in hunting small game and birds. The Kerry is an excellent retriever, either on land or water, and many sheep and cattle people report they make wonderful herders.

The Kerry Blue Terrier's advent into the show world came about after the breed was adopted as the National Dog of the Irish Republic. A few came out at the Dublin show and the breed was quickly taken up by English fanciers. Their rise to popularity in Great Britain was almost meteoric. The breed was first exhibited in this country in the early twenties and there was an entry at the Westminster show in 1922. Two years later Kerry Blue Terriers were officially admitted by the American Kennel Club as a recognized breed. The Parent Club was organized in 1926. The Standard as adopted in this country is almost identical with the English Standard.

Kerry Blue Terriers

Kerries made some nice wins at recent shows. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Fox, well-known Piedmont, Calif., breeders, have been showing several of their champions in the East with considerable success. At the Amsterdam, N. Y., show, their Ch. Exterminator of Delwin topped the group, and at Hamilton, Danbury and Great Barrington their Ch. Foxhill's Thunderbold placed Best Terrier—three mighty nice wins in a row.

In the Midwest, Melvin Schlesinger's Ch. Blue Bluster of Melbee won groups on successive days at Grand Rapids and Lansing. At Decatur, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Gilbert's Ch. Lady Daphne's Judy was Best Terrier, and at Aurora, Perry Chadwick's Ch. Killarney's Crusader took group honors.

Getting back to one of our favorite subjects "California-breds," a dog who perhaps many westerners do not hear too much of, but is doing a terrific amount of winning in the east, and is a great dog, is the homebred Kerry Blue of Bill Fox, Ch. Foxhill's Thunderbolt. In the last seven shows his record has been: Burlington Kennel Club, second, Terrier group; best American-bred Staten Island; same, North Shore Kennel Club; first Terrier group South Shore Kennel Club; third Terrier group Danbury, Connecticut; first Terrier group Great Barrington, Massachusetts, August 26; first Terrier group, and may I add, the Terrier group in the east today is plenty hot. Congratulations Bill.

AMERICAN IRISH SETTER WINS CHILEAN DOG SHOW

With 250 dogs and 4,000 spectators, the newly organized Kennel Club of Santiago (Chile) held its show in that city on Nov. 18-19 with Thomas W. Burgin and Dr. Spencer Talbois as judges.

American ambassador Claude G. Bowers presented the trophy to the BIS which was owned by the Irish setter Ballyknock Red Kerry imported from the U. S. by his breeder H. Gerald Smith, who is with the American Embassy in Santiago. Our report reads:

'Best Chilean-bred in show went to an engsel Ranquico, owned and shown by Sra. Ines K. de Souques. Best puppy in show, a special class, was taken by a collie White Wings Messenger, bred and shown by Lt. Col. J. L. Wray Jr., the U. S. Air Mission in Chile.

'A feature of the show was a style and beauty contest in which about 25 of Santiago's fairest ladies paraded with their dogs—the winners being judged on the combination of the lady and her costume and the dog. For the first time in Chile, an exhibition of obedience training was put on under the direction of Lt. Col. Wray.'

club and working with it many years in all its problems, we feel we know a little of the aims and scope of such a club. So we rise, not exactly in defense, but more in explanation, as to why one of our local Kerry clubs congratulates itself, and rightly so, on having all of its members show at its specialty, even though some were single dog pet owners.

Many of our future serious breeders and constant exhibitors will come from such pet owners. Even those who are not converted have seen their Kerrics looking nice, and will try to keep them that way. Some who saw their dogs lose, have realized they could be better, and, enjoying the excitement and competition, are planning to buy or breed a better Kerry.

The KBTC of Southern California has changed its puppy futurity dates from January and July to an annual futurity, held after this January show, in each October. Puppies will be from six to eighteen months old on the date of the show. A futurity is always helpful in gauging the potency of studs and an early test of a puppy's quality. With a larger annual show there will be even better breeder and owner trophies and a larger cash prize. All entry fees received go to the prize fund. Write for details to Mrs. Tony Mahon, 435 East Mountain Street, Glendale, Calif.

One of the professional handlers who has had a special interest in Kerries is grumbling about the light-colored coats. "Let's change the name", says he, "to Kerry Terrier, and forget all this blue nonsense!" He proceeded to cuss the light ones, the printable parts of the dialogue running something like this, "The cotton-coated, flat-footed, long-bodied, light-eyed buggers!" In fact, he swears those faults are tied together, and as for him, for twenty years he's liked the darker dogs with the keen expression, and says he still does. His principal worry is that we will breed light to light in order to avoid any black ones and wind up with a washed-out dog looking something like a pair of "faded blues" after a long summer. I still think we can breed dark-eyed dogs with beautiful blue-gray coats with no shade of white, turning by a year or eighteen months, without getting them too light in coat color or texture or eye.

Jack Beebe of Chicago has sent a young male out to Art Creaney in California to be conditioned and shown.

Deed's Show Off has a litter brother on the Coast in Herbert Laskie's Ch. Bassing Thwaight Blue. (BB over a small but quality entry and fourth in group at Silver Bay). With three Show Off litters near San Francisco, Fox, Weil and Keene, interest is running high to compare Blue's first three litters. I just saw three females ex the Parks' Ch. Ballerina of Park-Crest, any one of which I'd really like to have. We hope some of them meet at the January futurity.

San Mateo with eighteen Kerries entered is one of the largest summer shows in the West. Bill Fox showed his nine-year-old, Ch. Foxhill's Marauder to BB and second in the group. BOW to Frank Segurson's Kerryland's Headman and WB to Jo Keene's Tandy of Kilkraney.

Tandy is Jo's second champion this year, the other being Keene's Shawnee O'Shea, C.D., reserve at the New York specialty. Already the Keenes have brought out another, Keene's Michael O'Shea, for BOW at two shows. At home are two promising litters, both ex champion bitches, and by Show Off and Foxhill's Rocket. Sangsters are her handlers.

The Floyde Pierces are still congratulating themselves over their record at the June national specialty. Out of six dogs owned or bred by them, four won their classes, and accounted for WB and WD.

3 REASONS WHY THE SALES PROSPECT SHOULD BUY A KERRY BLUE TERRIER

1. Haven't you often heard the expression, 'He (or she) has everything—personality, beauty and brains.' The kerry blue abounds in all three and any owner will concur: 'The kerry has everything.'

THE PERSONALITY of a kerry can best be described as typically Irish—lovable, irascible, affectionate, zealous, part saint, part Satan, part leprechaun and greatly exposed to the touch of the Blarney Stone. This national dog of the Emerald Isle goes thru life loving everything and everybody with an ardor that never cools with age and he manages to wrap 'himself' around your heart in such a way that he's part of it forever.

2. THE BEAUTY of a kerry is never denied by any. On a stroll your kerry gets more attention than the Easter Parade and he loves every minute of it (the stroll and the attention). One word describes his coat—miracle. Imagine the texture of velvet, the color of autumn sky and the fact that every hair stays where Nature put it until it is cut off—no hair on your best suit or the new rug. As if this wasn't enough adornment, the kerry was given a sturdy, heavily muscled body, a keen dark eye, a cocky head with silky bangs and beard and a gay tail which he wags constantly.

3. After many years of being with kerries, their INTELLECT still amazes us. They are so eager to please that training them is a pleasure. Housebreaking is no chore at all and they are quick to distinguish right from wrong, friend from foe. They are versatile to the point of fitting their mood with yours. If you'd like to rest, they can snore louder than anybody; if it's a romp, they can wear out two teen-agers; if you'd like a midnight snack, the kerry is right at the icebox to share whatever is available; or if you'd like TV they're ardent fans (of course they want the chair with the best view.)

You see—the kerry does have everything—PERSONALITY, BEAUTY AND BRAINS.—Mrs. Comer D. Christy, 232 No. Knollwood Dr., Wheaton, Ill.

• FOX TO JUDGE TEXAS BLUES

William F. Fox will come from Calif. to judge the kerry blues at the Nov. 11 show of The Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Tex. in Dallas, as part of the combined specialty show on that date.

Kerry Blue Terriers

by Edith Izant
8311 La Sierra, Whittier, Calif.

WATCHING two puppies playing together recently, it came to me what a bet we breeders are overlooking in not encouraging more buyers to take two pups instead of one. Two puppies are at least three times as much fun; they are company for each other, and it doesn't take any more fencing to fence in a yard for two than for one. Puppy sales are slow now and may continue to be for some years while taxes an necessities remain high. For the breeder who wishes only to have a litter to obtain a show puppy to keep, the problem of the remaining pups is not how much he will make, but how much they will cost him. If one puppy were sold at $100, with the second at $50 to $75 to the same owner it might move the pups more quickly. And let's be fair, after you have kept one or two of the best, not all the rest are worth selling at a higher price to be shown.

Stafford Park of the Park Crest Kennels in California has started a new East meets West deal which should be of benefit to everyone. Staff and Jack Cypress of the Ditton Prior Kennel in New Jersey are exchanging bitch puppies. Staff has already shipped a nice one, Charm of Park Crest, from his group winner, Ch. Ballerina of Park Crest-Ch. Bassing Thwaight Blue litter, and will soon receive one from a Ch. Topman Ditton Prior's Cydaria litter, a repeat of the breeding which produced the Morris & Essex winner, Ditton Prior's Rudraigme. Both pedigrees are strong in Rackety Packety-Bawcock bloodlines.

A pleasant talk with Mrs. McEachren of Vancouver who was thrilled by two bests in show for her new Ch. Blarney of Cognewaugh, the same weekend the youngster, Miss Show Off of Cognewaugh, won two groups. In the last four years Eileen McEachren's dogs, mainly handled by herself, have won forty-eight bests in show. Ch. Michael of Som'set Jr. has won eighteen of them in the last six months, seven in the United States.

Our friend, Captain Kosowsky, late of Texas and now in Sacramento, put a chip on his shoulder and rushed into print stating he worried less over light-eyed, light-colored dogs than he did over light-eyed, dark-coated ones. Reading our standard, it does cover blue ones, even light blues, but not the dark ones, so he has something there and we enjoyed his suggestion that, like Cockers, we should have a separate variety for "Kerry Blacks."

If you are in the process of setting ears, you may find that several puppies playing together will tear the ears down, or that one puppy just does not like his up. A strip of adhesive tape about one inch wide completely around the head and over the ear tips will help to keep the ears up.

Answering a letter, may we say that the bumpiness referred to in the paragraph in our standard on cheeks refers to the muscle and bone formation of the cheek. The small bumps near the cheek, mouth and chin are the bases of stiff whiskers, and are not referred to.

The Portland Club ran into time trouble on their specialty and had to postpone their show until next year. Further down the Coast the Northern California Club is preparing for its first specialty to be held January 27 at the Golden Gate Kennel Club with a top Eastern terrier man judging. Their usual wonderful Golden Gate Kerry party will be held Saturday evening for all Kerry exhibitors. Bill Fox is offering the beautiful silver Ch. Rackety Packety Kilmenskeg memorial trophy for BB. It must be won three times to be kept, but there are smaller replicas for the winner each year. All silver trophies are offered to fourth place in all classes.

The Bob Wiels' Kerryall dogs were busy as bees in October with Ch. Foxhill's Topper taking best in show at Eden, Ch. Gered's Candy Lamb winning a group in the deep South, and Marauder's Model of Delwin taking WB at Lehigh and Devon.

Jo Keene phones from Stockton to gloat over Keene's Michael O'Shea which has placed eight times in the group, winning once, out of eight shows on the Texas Circuit. That's nice work starting from open dogs. He finished his championship with a second in the group at Modesto. His litter sister is Ch. Shawnee O'Shea.

A member of one of the local clubs comments on the difficulty of getting members to do club work. One thing the Southern California Club can recommend is to put new members to work as soon as possible. Elections are held in February but many chairmanships change in other months, so that, within a month or two of joining, the new member will find himself digging up trophies, hunting for puppies for the futurity or planning programs for the monthly meetings.

Riverside—BB, Urmston's Ch. Kearnach Faitha (and first in group); WB and BOS, Capt. Kosowsky's Sea Breeze Gael of Delwin; WD and BOS, Mrs. Charles Mansaugh's Townshend's Ding Dong Daffy.

Pasadena—BB, Wm. Steven's Ch. Kerryland's Indispensable (fourth in group); WB and BOS, Pierce's Kerryland's Delight; WD and BOW, Mrs. C. W. Hamilton's Keene's Michael O'Shea.

I had the pleasure of judging at the Hemet show and was interested to see two of Ch. Bassing Thwaight Blue's first show-age pups, one of which I put reserve. They possess the same characteristics I have seen in other younger pups by him, excellent hindquarters, very dark eyes, nice heads. As you know, this is Ch. Deed's Show Off's litter brother. Both pups were definitely turning.

Here is the kerry Ch. Ace's Ace of Downpatrick shown winning best terrier Williamsport, Pa., July 22 handled by Lenfestey. Ace has won 22 BB's, is just 2 yrs. old. Owned by Mrs. Harry Loynd, Downpatrick K's, Sarver, Pa.

TO BE BLUE OR NOT TO BE BLUE?

At every show there is the same old war-cry, 'that dog is too dark.'

The kerry should be blue but if anything is to be sacrificed for color, then there is something wrong somewhere. There are not too many dark (and by dark we mean dark) kerries. True, when a dark blue dog is next to a bright blue dog, he will look black.

It was very interesting to note at the Westchester show that few dogs could have been excused for being too dark. If you were judging, would you put up a sound dog with few faults or a bright blue dog with one or two major faults?

It all ends up with our standard and the way each individual judge interprets it. Color, like everything else, can be over rated. There are some faults that have crept in of late (i.e. some of the present show dogs have withers that are lower than their croup) that are far more important to avoid than dark blue dogs.

Then too, with the bright blue dogs, the color of the eyes must be watched very closely.—KERRY BLUEPRINTS.

THE IDEAL KERRY

There are two distinct interpretations of what constitutes the ideal kerry blue terrier. Those who visualize the kerry blue terrier of their childhood days two decades ago think of a shaggy, sturdy terrier with a coat unkept but still of a silky and attractive nature. However, styles in dogs change like the styles in women's apparel and what was proper a few years ago is considered passé today.

Various Hues of Blue

The ideal champion kerry of the present day must have all of the qualities of courage, must have a beautiful coat of a silky nature varying in color from a blue black to the lighter shades, almost gray, preferably a coat that has a bluish tinge and is of a lustrous nature.

Avoid Floppy Ears

In carriage it must be typical terrier. The cheeks must be smooth and the ears small and well set and were one standing in front of the dog looking straight back to the shoulders, they should be in direct line with the contour of the ears.

The muzzle should be long, the shoulders should taper in a smooth curvature to the top of the shoulder blades and the shoulder blades should be close together at the top. The neck should be graceful and sturdy enough to give the appearance of strength yet not of thickness.

The back should be short and the length from the base of the neck to the base of the tail should not exceed by more than two inches the circumference of the neck. The height should be 18½ in. to 19 in. at the shoulders; the front legs straight, the back legs and hips, where the propelling power of the dog lies, should be strong and in no case should the back legs have a stilty appearance.

The legs should be covered with a thick coat of hair, not however allowed to remain in a shaggy condition.

Nothing Lighter Than Hazel

One of the principal points of the kerry is the eye which should be dark in color, the hazel eye being as light as permissible. The weight should preferably be between 32 and 38 pounds.—the late Orrin H. Baker.

DO DARK OR LIGHT KERRIES HAVE MORE OF THE BAD COLOR EYES?

Specifically one of the most controversial points of change in the breed standard was the emphasis placed on the need of color other than black.

By and large most of the breeders have adjusted their breeding schedules to introduce this factor more strongly and have in the main been successful. Most of the gripes comes from those who either cannot or will not make the adjustment and they set forth loud cries about the dire effects which lighter coats will bring.

One breeder holding to the theory that somehow coat and eye color are linked and we can look forward to a great many light-eyed Kerries from now on. The writer has carefully noted eyes during the last two years and curiously the lightest eyes have been seen on the darkest dogs whereas the desired lighter coated dogs have had eyes ranging from the ideal brown eye to a real black eye, which incidentally is not a typical kerry eye.—HORACE J. PERRY in Kerry Blueprints.

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the other excerpt from the Sep.-Oct. issue of the Kerry Blue Ter. Club of Amer.'s Blueprints, note that the statement is made that eye color tends to be a greater problem in the light-coated than the dark-coated.

LUCK OF THE IRISH Breeding good Kerry Blue terriers isn't all luck, says Katharine Lovette, owner of the pups above. Miller's helps a lot, too. In 1946 Miss Lovette bred the first litter of Kerry Blues in Atlanta, Ga. and she reports Miller's supplies everything necessary for a "perfect, happy, healthy dog."

She buys Kibbles, Dog Meal, Puppy Meal, and Biscuits from the H. C. Hastings Co.

Kerry Blue Makes Top Score In Tulsa D.T.C. Trial

The Tulsa Dog Training Club held its fourth annual obedience trial Sunday, Oct. 28, at the Grandstand at the Fairgrounds. There were many states represented, including Kansas, Texas, Colorado, Missouri, Arkansas, and Oklahoma. High score in the trial was made by Mandy's Blue Lady, a Kerry Blue Terrier, owned and shown by R. N. Miller of Tulsa. Her score was 198. She tied for first place with her son, O'Downes Sonny Boy, owned by Miss Pat Felton, also of Tulsa, but in the run-off the "old lady won out." Sonny seems to be a chip off the old block.

Judges for the show were William G. Worley, Summitville, Ind., and James C. Falkner, Dallas, Tex. This is the first time in the history of the Club that it has been necessary to have two judges but with 79 entries it would have been an all-day session for only one.

First place honors in the different classes were given to Mandy's Blue Lady, Novice A, O'Downes Sonny Boy, Novice B, Quirin's Golden Fluff, open A, Ch. McClendon's Lady Jet CD, Open B, and Pamela of Dal Downes CDX, Utility. Pam is owned and shown by Robert L. Sullivan of Tulsa and not only placed first but finished her required third leg to obtain her degree. She is the only dog in the state of Oklahoma to have a Utility Dog degree.
